VISITED THE CELLS.

Elmira Investigating Committee at the Reformatory.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The committee of the state board of charities, which is investigating the administration of affairs at the Elmira reformatory, spent the entire day at the institution. No session was held, but the committee was present at all of the exercises in which the prisoners take part on Sunday. In the morning the religious services were held, at which 500 of the inmates were voluntarily present. In the afternoon the first of this term of Professor Monks' exercises in ethical culture, which are to continue throughout the winter, was given. The discussions which took place were instructive, and the committee complimented the officers of the institution on the good results which attain therefrom. Mr. Brockway and Acting Superintendent Rathbone were present. At the conclusion of the exercises, which lasted for an hour and a half, the committee, accompanied by Superintendent Rathbone, alone inspected the mess hall while the inmates were at supper.

The seclusion cells were then visited. There were five inmates confined. The first one was a young fellow who had been there for three days on the charge of giving wood alcohol, used for varnishing purposes, to two other convicts, as he said. He protested that he was unjustly incarcerated there, as the two men who it was claimed he had given the alcohol to would swear that it was not so. He also complained that he had had no hearing and should not be put there until the charge was proven.

Mr. Rathbone said the matter was now being inquired into. The next man visited was standing up to the cell door with his wrists handcuffed to the bars of the door so as to raise his arms above his shoulders with but six inches play. He had been in that position for 10 hours. Men handcuffed in this manner are kept in that position from 7 in the morning until bed time. Then they are handcuffed to the iron bar attached to the back wall of the cell directly above the mattress which rests on the sheet iron floor. He was asked what he had done to cause his confinement there. He said he had refused to work.

Of the other men in the solitary cells but one was handcuffed to the floor. He had also refused to work. He complained of the absence of meat in the hash. Those confined in the "rest cure" and solitary cells are given two meals a day—hash and water in the morning and bread and water at night. The reception cells were then visited. Two newcomers were confined there and were asleep. They had not yet changed their street for prison garb. The committe then left the institution. Chairman Craig expects to finish at the reformatory tomorrow night.

ELMIRA, Oct. 10.—The investigation was continued and a large number of witnesses called, principally keepers, who testified to punishment of prisoners.

Mr. White of the New York World, Mr. Stanchfield, representing the board of managers of the institution, and Deputy Attorney General Gilbert, were authorized to review the 1,000 letters written by the prisoners a couple of weeks ago and pick out 20 each on behalf of the prosecution and defense, the writers of which would be given a private conference with the committee and afterward be sworn in open session if either side desired their evidence. The reformatory officials will be excluded from the sessions of the committee while the convicts are testifying. The committee inspected the work of the manual training classes in the workshops, which Superintendent Brockway considers another great feature of the institution.

Endeavorers at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 11.—The evening session at the Alhambra attracted a vast audience, all the standing room in the big auditorium being occupied and many hundreds being turned away. These were accommodated, however, at an overflow meeting at the First Baptist church. The first address of the evening was delivered by Rev. A. E. Kittredge of New York on "The Secret of Paul's Success." Rev. P. S. Henson of Chicago followed with a talk on the subject of "Power." At the overflow meeting, which was attended by 1,500 people, the speaker was Rev. Maltby D. Babcock of Baltimore. H. W. Frost of Toronto conducted consecration services at both meetings. The convention will conclude its work today.

SPEEDY VIGILANT.

SHOWS THE VALKYRIE A CLEAN PAIR OF HEELS.

The First of the International Races Won by Some 45sec. Both Yachts Well Handled — Fine Weather and a Good Breeze Favored the Sport—The First Race a Failure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Lack of wind made the first of the international yacht races a failure. Thousands of enthusiastic citizens had a delightful day's outing on the water and saw Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, the pride of Great Britain, sail past our cup defender Vigilant, but it was while the Vigilant was becalmed, and saw the Vigilant creep up on the British boat whenever the wind held steady.

They saw the Valkyrie gain a big advantage by being better handled and they saw both boats, after sailing 20 miles out of the 30 in five hours and a half, give up the race as it was impossible to finish inside of six hours the limit set by the cup committee.

It was more of a drifting match than a race. The wind at no time reached the dignity of a sailing breeze.

The Vigilant was the first to announce her intention of giving up the unsatisfactory contest, which she did by hauling down her jib topsail and taking a line from the tug Commander. The Valkyrie did likewise, being taken in tow by the tug Luckenbach.

At this time the Englishman was leading the American by a mile, which, added to the allowance of 1m 48s, gave the Valkyrie really a lead of a mile and a half. Had the boats continued to the starting point there is no doubt that the Valkyrie would have held her advantage, barring flukes and shifts of wind, and the race resulted in a victory for Lord Dunraven's cutter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The evening sun today shone on a victorious Vigilant and a defeated Valkyrie. Lord Dunraven's racing flag followed that of C. O. Iselin across the finish line, and the name of Herreshoff is still great all over the world. The race was the first of the series for the possession of the America's cup.

They started promptly on time and both boats were well handled. The Vigilant was the winner by 5m. and 48s. At the outer mark she was 8m. and 6s. ahead of the Valkyrie.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Yesterday was Great Britain's day so far as weather for a yacht race was concerned, and Lord Dunraven and all the crew of the rakish black cutter were happy when they went down the bay in the morning.

C. Oliver Iselin and the gallant crew of the white defender were the happy ones when the yachts came back in the afternoon. They led a triumphal procession of yachts and excursion craft up the harbor, for the Vigilant had added another victory to her score. She had walked away from the Valkyrie in a wind that topped the seas with foam and drove clouds of spray over her weather bow.

REV. H. M. BOOTH'S INAUGURATION.

Installed as First President of Auburn Theological Seminary.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The inauguration of Rev. Henry Matthias Booth, D. D., as the first president of the Auburn Theological seminary and to the professorship of practical theology, marks an important epoch in the history of this old and conservative school of theology, which has long been an important factor in the Presbyterian church of America. The inauguration ceremonies took place at the First Presbyterian church this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and attracted one of the largest assemblages ever gathered in a church in this city. They were representative Presbyterians from all over the state.

TERRORIZED BY REGULATORS.

Louisiana Overrun by Whitecaps—The Governor Appealed To.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—Louisiana is again terrorized by regulators, and in many parts of the state the people are calling for a special meeting of the legislature to cope with them unless Governor Foster takes immediate steps to suppress the outrages.

The Jefferson investigation ended in a farce, and none of those implicated in the lynching of the Juliens have been indicted.

J. H. Ringgold of Catahoula parish and editor of the Louisiana Democrat, has reached the city bringing news of the appearance of whitecapism in Catahoula parish, a part of Caldwell and the eastern part of Grant. Gin houses throughout that section have been plastered with notices by regulators directing planters not to gin their cotton until cotton had reached 10 cents, and threatening to burn the gin house of every planter who dares to disobey the midnight orders of the regulators.

Insurance representatives who had gone into North Louisiana for the purpose of writing policies on gins and other property, upon learning of the spread of the whitecap movement to the parishes mentioned concluded to make no effort to get business in that section.

Weeks May Not Be Returned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Assistant District Attorney Lindsay had a conference with Solicitor Dabney at the state department regarding the extradition of the absconder, Weeks. Neither Mr. Lindsay nor Mr. Dabney would discuss the subject of their conference further than to say that the news that the government of Costa Rica would render its decision regarding Week's extradition today was satisfactory. The department and the attorney general's office are working hard to secure the embezzler's return, but in the absence of an extradition treaty with Costa Rica some doubt is felt as to whether the attempt to bring him back to the United States will be successful.

Killed His Wife and Mother-In-Law.

WAVERLY, O., Oct. 7.—Some time ago W. K. Hill and his wife, who lived in Bumtown, this county, separated. He retained possession of their only child, a girl, but during his absence her mother took her away. Hill returned and going to his wife's home tried to get her to live with him again. She refused and a quarrel resulted, in which his mother-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Blake, took part. He finally drew a revolver and shot her, killing her instantly, and then turned the weapon on his wife, the bullet entering her left ear. She fell fatally wounded. The murderer escaped.

Harvard Man's Awful Death.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Joseph L. Cornelius, one of the brightest students of the Harvard divinity school, died at the Massachusetts general hospital, Sept. 25. The fact was withheld by the authorities of the hospital and the university. Cornelius became insane through typhoid fever and crawled into the furnace by which the hospital was heated. He was partially cremated before the attendants could rescue him and died in a few minutes.

He then went into the town and told what he had done and where to find the body.

All inquirers were referred to the notice on the door, and no official statement will be made by Examiner Clark for a week or 10 days.

Death List on the Gulf Coast.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—The news from every section stricken by the storm makes it safe to estimate the loss of life at fully 2,000, while millions of dollars' worth of property was destroyed.
