MONROE DOCTRINE DEFINED

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations Adopts a Resolution Enunciating In Clear, Broad and Strong Terms America's Position.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The resolution drawn by Senator Davis and adopted by the senate committee on foreign relations will prove to be a clear and strong enunciation of the Monroe doctrine when its text is made public.

It is a more forcible declaration than any that has been introduced in congress on this subject, and its terms are so explicit that they cannot be misunderstood. The maintenance of the Monroe doctrine as set forth in the resolution is held to be vital to the welfare of this country and the countries of the American continent. The doctrine, it is asserted, is now in force and has been in force ever since it was established by President Monroe.

The resolution declares it to be that the acquisition by purchase, aggression or otherwise of any territory on the American continent by a foreign power is an unfriendly act and such acquisition will not be permitted by the United States.

The most important feature is that which touches upon a new phase of the Venezuelan question, the report that England and Venezuela may reach an agreement, and that English money will settle the boundary dispute. The resolution declares that in case boundary disputes on the American continent between foreign governments and American governments are decided by arbitration, agreement, purchase or in any manner whatever, the United States shall be the sole judge as to whether the Monroe doctrine has been violated in such arbitration or agreement.

In fact it means that arbitration or agreement between foreign governments and governments on the American continent as to boundary disputes cannot become binding or effective unless sanctioned by the United States, and that this government is satisfied that no part of the American continent has been ceded to a foreign power by such arbitration or agreement.

This practically makes the United States the arbitrator between foreign governments and those of the American continent in all boundary disputes.

This portion of the resolution is considered most important and farreaching in its effects. It caused misapprehension among some members of the committee, and it is claimed it may lead to many entanglements. On the other hand, the supporters of the resolution say that it leaves everything in the hands of the United States, where the final decision should be, and that the United States will interfere only when the Monroe doctrine has been violated.

Davis' Resolution Criticised.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—The Temps, referring to Senator Davis' Monroe doctrine resolution, says: "Does Senator Davis imagine that Europe will admit without protest this overweening innovation of the Monroe doctrine, on that the American states will consent to submit themselves to all the annoyances of slavery without a single advantage of protection?"

INGALLS FOR PRESIDENT.

Melville W. the Candidate Presented by Ohio Democrats.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—Since this city did not get the Democratic national convention there is now a movement to get the nomination. It is argued that no effort was made to secure the Republican national convention as Ohio had a candidate in McKinley, and if the Democratic convention had been held here no local candidate could have been consistently presented. The Cincinnati delegation that went to Washington last week to present the claims of this city to the national Democratic committee was headed by Melville W. Ingalls, president of the Big Four system, the Chesapeake and Ohio and other railways, and he is the man that a combination of business men and politicians are considering as a candidate who would command the confidence of business interests in these stringent times.

M. W. INGALLS.

The failure of James E. Campbell again to be governor, and of Calvin S. Brice to be returned to the senate at the election, is cited as clearing the way for the Ingalls men to get a solid Ohio delegation and then the support of others.

FORGED HIS FATHER'S NAME.

John Smith of Lyons Leaves Much Bad Paper Behind Him.

LYONS, N. Y., Jan. 21.—John Smith, formerly the senior partner of the beer bottling firm of Smith Bros., left this place 10 days ago. Complaints have been lodged in court charging him with forging his father's indorsement on two promissory notes, one in favor of Jacob Strauss, clothier, for $52; one on Charles M. Baltzel, clothier, for $68.

In addition, James V. D. Westfall, banker, holds a $25 note, purporting to be made by Henry Smith, indorsed by Colonel William Kreutzer, chairman of the Republican county committee, which was discounted for John Smith. The father pronounces his signature a forgery. Banker Saxon B. Gavit holds a note of $70 made by John Smith, indorsed by Henry Smith, which the father pronounces a forgery. Colonel Richard F. Forgham, wholesale beer dealer, has a $50 note, with the alleged signature of the father.

Smith, it is stated, recently confessed to forging his father's indorsements to the extent of $312. On New Year's day he was married at Newark. The forgeries were prior to that date, Smith paying bills with the notes except at the banks and getting cash in part. Henry Smith, the father, swears in the complaint that his signatures are forgeries.

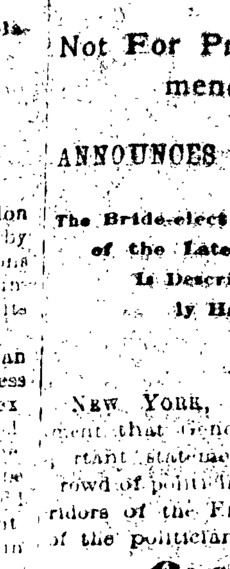
HARRISON A CANDIDATE.

Not For Presidential, but Hymeneal Honors.

ANNOUNCES HIS ENGAGEMENT.

The Bride-elect Is Mrs. Dimmick, a Niece of the Late Mrs. Harrison, and Is Described as a Strikingly Handsome Brunette.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The announcement that General Harrison had an important statement to make drew a large crowd of politicians and others to the corridors of the Fifth Avenue hotel. Many of the politicians expected that General Harrison would make a declaration as to his candidacy for president and were disappointed when they heard that the general had talked of matrimony instead of politics, as was expected. At 7:30 o'clock last night Mr Harrison's secretary, Mr. Tibbits, sent word to the office of the hotel that General Harrison would make a statement to the representatives of the press at 8:15 p. m. At that time Mr. Tibbits made the following statement in his room, where he received the members of the press:



MRS DIMMICK.

"General Harrison authorizes the announcement that he and Mrs. Dimmick are engaged to be married and that the marriage will not take place until after Lent."

Mrs. Dimmick, to whom the general is engaged, is better known in Indianapolis and Washington than in New York. During the life of Mrs. Harrison, who was her aunt, Mrs. Dimmick practically governed Mr. Harrison's household in Indianapolis and directed the household affairs of the White House during the period that Mrs. Harrison was ill. Mrs. Dimmick was a great favorite with the president in Washington. At all state functions she received with Mrs. Harrison, when alive, and acted in her place when she was sick.

Mrs. McKee and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison are greatly pleased that the general is about to be married, but it is understood that the step was not taken by General Harrison without consulting his children, of whom he is very fond.

Mrs. Dimmick is 40 years old, tall and a strikingly handsome brunette.

NO REPLY FROM ENGLAND.

Venezuela Boundary Commission Now Ready For Business.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—At the meeting of the Venezuelan commission the fact was made known that a letter had been directed to the secretary of state by the commission requesting him to call upon the governments of Great Britain and Venezuela for evidence in support of their respective positions in the boundary dispute.

Secretary Olney acknowledged the receipt of this letter and stated that he had carried out the wishes of the commission, but up to this meeting no answer had been received from either of the governments addressed.

This meeting took place for the first time in the new quarters of the commission in the Baltimore Sun building on F street. The first business was the selection of officers, and the first of these chosen was S. Mallet Prevost, who has earned a high reputation at the New York bar and also in Washington. Mr. Mallet Prevost was named as secretary of the commission and will be in daily attendance at the rooms.

Mr. Whit[illegible] of Ithaca, N. Y., was selected as one of the stenographers who will be employed, and Walter Moulthrop of the District of Columbia was appointed a messenger. A few other appointments will be made hereafter as the need for further help appears.

It was ordered that the rooms of the commission be kept open every weekday from 9 till 5 o'clock, and any person who has any suggestions to make to the work will be accorded an opportunity to be heard for at least one of the commission will undertake to be present besides the secretary. Every Friday there will be a meeting of the full commission in order to transact the business requiring the action of all the members.
