Rabun Gap-Nacoochee

On Highway No. 23 inside the border of Georgia but very near the North Carolina side, is a Junior College giving two years of Agricultural training. The school is near a mountain (Rabun Bald) with an elevation of 4,700 feet. It is in Rabun County; Clayton is the county seat.

There is a 1,400-acre school farm, located at the head of the Little Tennessee River. Red brick buildings are set upon a hill. Two hundred acres are used for a boarding school for young men and women, paying for their education by farming and domestic work.

The outer circle of 1,400 acres is a farm settlement where whole families receive both agricultural instruction and a living in return for their labor. Fourteen families, in rotating groups, with 40 acres of land, a model six-room cottage, a barn and outhouses, farm the land under approved methods of agriculture. The farm is operated on a share-crop basis, and the farmers assist in marketing the produce, purchasing the supplies and keeping accounts.

Adjacent to the boarding school farm is the day school where vocational education is extended to the children of the surrounding district. This was the original school, begun in 1920 by the consolidation of two country schools. The institutions is supported by appropriations of state and Federal funds and by private donations.

The school was founded under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church.

Is it a sin to teach Agriculture in our Catholic Schools and Colleges?

A Tribute To The Holy Family

We knelt in breathless awe
Beside the cradled Infant King—
We came with lowly shepherds
Our humble gifts to bring.

We saw St. Joseph kneeling there
With Mary, Mother dear,
And Baby Jesus smiled at us
And bade us to draw near.

Again we knelt beside the Crib
With Kings who traveled far,
To where the Infant Jesus lay
Beneath a guiding star.

They brought the very richest
Of the treasures they had stored,
To offer to the King of Kings,
As they reverently adored.

And once again, we kneel today,
Beside those lowly three,
On this, a very special Feast
Of the Holy Family.

And with loving hearts united
With our dear ones far from home,
We'll seek a peace earth cannot give
At the Eucharistic Throne.

—Mary E. Fennessy

A Bereaved War Mother Prays

By Miss Charlotte Grady

My Lady of Sorrows, thou too hadst a Son
Who died to atone for man's sin.
Please help me and tell me, wast thou truly brave
That day when they crucified Him?

Or didst thou too feel in thy holy breast
Quick pain and unbearable grief?
And wake up at night and remember His face?
And know that thy courage was brief?

O Mother of Sorrows
Please help me to bear
This frightening loss
Thou, with me, dost share.
