Wonderful Effect. 2

St. Louis, Mo., June, 1893.

I was treated by the best doctors of this and other cities without any relief for ten years' suffering, but since I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I have not had a single nervous attack; its effect was wonderful.

CAROLINE FARRELLY.

Finished His Studies.

Bangemont, Conn., August, 1893.

It is about three years since I had the first attack of epilepsy, for which several physicians treated me unsuccessfully, but advised me to discontinue my theological studies. I was not disappointed by Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, as after using it I finished my studies and am now assistant. I know also that a member of my congregation was cured by it.

A Doctor Who Cures

TO STAY CURED.

His Success No Longer a Subject of Doubt.

By the honorable manner in which he has conducted his practice, and the large number of remarkable cures he has performed in Rochester he has overcome the prejudice that existed against a physician who advertised in the daily papers, and to-day, after a fair trial in this city, his offices are crowded daily. Time is the best test for all things, and it has proven that a regular graduate of the leading medical colleges of Europe and this country can advertise, practice Medicine and Surgery in a legitimate manner and produce results that many who do not advertise fail to attain.

Free During October.

DR. GRADY will give consultation and advice FREE during October. After this month the usual consultation fee of $5 will be charged to all new cases.

HOME TESTIMONIALS

are coming in from patients, and may be seen at the doctor's office. Dr. Grady has proved beyond a doubt that the many so-called incurable chronic and incurable diseases can be cured by using proper remedies in time.

Read the following and be convinced:

Mrs. Burkhard leaves the hospital ward pronounced incurable. Suffered with catarrh, bronchitis and Bright's disease four years, only six weeks under treatment and is almost well.

Miss Lucy Hill has been sick eight years; five doctors failed to cure. Dr. Grady gave her medicine and she passed a tapeworm fifty-three feet long. May be seen at doctor's office.

Henry Cross, tumor, also Mrs. Kennedy, superfluous hair all over face, both removed in one week by electricity without pain.

Miss Lizzie Hart, scrofulous humor, sore eyes and running ears from birth, and confined to her bed for the last nine months, had in consultation with family physician seven doctors from New York, all gave her up to die; after taking three bottles of medicine her eyes looked bright and her ears stopped discharging. Only four weeks under treatment and she is now up and about the house, gaining in flesh and strength and on the rapid road to recovery.

Thos. Burns. Fistula cured after suffering eleven years.

Mrs. Mary Kearny had a large cancer removed from the breast, after paying out over $500 in New York.

Mary Joyce, moles and superfluous hairs all over face; removed in one week.

Edward Lyons, indigestion and flatulence for years; cured with two bottles of medicine.

Joseph Fleming, chronic rheumatism and old ulcers for ten years; cured by two bottles of medicine and two boxes of ointment.

Allen Merrill, catarrh, dyspepsia and chronic skin disease, also nervous headaches; cured.

Dr. Grady will not publish any more cases unless requested to do so by patients.

Catarrh Cured or no Charge.

Ladies will find Dr. Grady their benefactor in all the troubles peculiar to their sex.

Visits made to patients after office hours.

Patients at a distance successfully treated by mail; all letters promptly answered; inclose stamp.

Consult the European Specialist on all sexual, nervous and chronic diseases. Remember, consultation, advice, services and surgical treatment absolutely free until cured.

BUSINESS BEFORE ALL THINGS.

An old woman, a seller of marine stores, lived in a little village on the outskirts of Paris; she was held in no small repute amongst her neighbors, owing to the proverbial merriment, her facetious remarks, and her candor upon all subjects. Now this good woman possessed some very striking qualities; to begin with, she had never killed any one, she had never helped herself to money out of her neighbor's pockets, she loved a joke, and was, besides, particularly successful in her own little business. It is true that she never stepped foot in a church, but she made a little bow to "Monsieur le Cure," every time that he passed her shop; she respected religion so much that once, even, in an excess of zeal, she had formally bestowed a vigorous box on the ear of a Mason who had been disputing with a certain shopkeeper on the subject of theology, and who had gone so far as to proclaim that there was no God.

She was, therefore, an incomparable old woman; she believed herself to be a most spotless character, and had, she said, nothing to reproach herself for absolutely nothing during the whole sixty-four years of her life.

Her favorite motto was, "Business before all things!" This was a plea she invariably used if any one attempted to reason with her, and point out that, at her age, it would be surely more prudent to think of eternity. "Ah, that is all very fine," she would say in a tone of hopeless obstinacy, "I am not rich enough to do nothing, and go to church. I must gain my living; and then, business before all things! That is all I know." "Business is all very well," she was answered one day by a respectable woman who had come to see her, and who was very much liked in the village because of her many good qualities. "When people are as poor as we are, they must work and gain a living. But whilst they are gaining their living, they must take care that they do not lose heaven; that has to be gained also, and it can not be won just by being a worthy, honest woman; you have to be a good Christian, and fulfill your religious duties. Mark my words, your duties."

"Oh, I understand what you are saying; but, to fulfill religious duties, one must have time, and that is just what I have not. I've no time to spare—business before all things."

"Ah, but you could find time if you wished; it takes little time and no trouble to say a prayer or two, morning and evening."

"Oh, as to that, I'm not so bad as you make out. I never forget to make the sign of the cross when I'm going to bed. My good man used to say to me that that was all nonsense, poor dear old man. God rest his soul! But no, I have always held firm, I have always served the good God."

"But that is not enough, you can not serve God just by making the sign of the cross when you go to bed; it is not even enough to say your prayers, you must, besides, go to hear Mass every Sunday."

"But I tell you I've no time! business—"

"Nonsense! you're not going to make me believe that you can't do what I can do, who keep a shop as well as you, and can only just make two ends meet. When we try to do anything for God, he is always ready to help the poor. I never sell on Sundays when I am not obliged, and then it isn't a sin. But generally my shop is closed; I go to Mass, like all good Catholics, and I take a little turn after church; I rest from my six days' work, and you see I'm none the worse for it. We have always been good friends and neighbors, and I wish I could get you to follow my example."

"But my business—"

"Why, your business would get on just the same, and even supposing you did make sixpence or a shilling a week less, what would that matter, compared to the service of God. Don't you see that we are not on earth to live just like dogs? Dogs don't go to Mass, not they; they can't confess, or think of God, or heaven, or hell. Now, come, listen to me, neighbor, next Sunday we will shut shop, and go to Mass together. Will we not?"

I can not inform you whether the good woman was finally successful concerning her old friend, or whether by the following Sunday she had returned to her ancient refrain: "Business before all things." We believe, however, that the kind neighbor gained the day. She is dead now, and the poor old woman also; if the latter could return to earth, she would say no longer, "Business before all things," but rather, "Before all, religion."

WONDERLAND MUSEE THEATRE

Admission, Evening

10, 20 and 30 Cents.

Afternoon, 10, 15 and 20c.

Bicycles cared for free of charge.

Cook Opera House

"Hoss and Hoss" will be the attraction at Cook Opera House for three nights and two matinees commencing Monday. This successful farce-comedy is a vehicle for side-splitting mirth from all reports. N. S. Burnham and Joseph Conyers, who assume the parts of "Hoss and Hoss" are given wide scope wherein to display their abilities, as these two comedians are prime favorites with theatre goers, being clever dancers and excellent singers, endowed with that natural ease and magnetism which makes them popular with all. Miss Montrose, the charming soubrette is bewitching in everything she does and sings artistically, dances gracefully and her lovely features complete the fascination. The balance of the company are very clever and far above the average.

"Nancy" is an operatic comedy of a fine type, bubbling over with fun and humor and full of lively music. It is being presented by the little queen of mirth provokers, Fanny Rice. Anyone who has seen her knows that her songs are always rendered with chic and piquancy, which stamp her as an artist of the highest order. She is surrounded by a company that is fully adequate and, with such a play and such a star and such a company, a pleasant evening's entertainment is certain. She will be at the Opera House on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

Academy.

Flynn and Sheridan's Big Sensation Double show, will be seen for the week of Oct. 14th, at the Academy with twenty white artists and fifteen Creoles in their ranks. The idea of the performance is a most novel one, and is the first of its kind ever produced, and has proven a big success where ever presented. There are two distinct performances given, one by the white and one by the Creole company, making it in fact a double show. It is composed of Spectacular, Comedy, Vaudeville and Burlesque, and introduces quite an array of talent. As an additional attraction with the regular programme, Senorita Julietta Nelson, the celebrated high-wire walker, fresh from European triumphs, has been engaged and will make her first appearance in this country on Monday evening next. The organization is well named, as it will no doubt cause a "Big Sensation" next week.

Wonderland Theater

The list of specialty artists booked at this house for the coming week is headed by the greatest artist in his line in this or any other country, A. O. Duncan, premier ventriloquist of the world. The actual salary paid to this artist is $150 per week.

Another attraction booked for the coming week is the versatile trio, Calbert, Williams & Tucker, singers, dancers and comedians. In addition to these two great features the following will appear: Stewart & Morton, a character sketch duo, Fern Melrose, dramatic soprano, The Zarros, in their unrivalled production Decapitation and soiree magique artistique. Ned Monroe, the laughable monologuist and comedian, Miss Mone Flynn in her artistic dancing specialty, and Conwell & Swan, America's greatest buck and wing dancers. This is a good bill and will crowd the pretty theatre all next week.

The performance is continuous afternoon and evening.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
