OUR LADY OF VICTORY.

Miss Eva Taylor, organist of the Church of Our Lady of Victory, and Thomas J. McDonough of Brooklyn were married last Saturday morning by Rev. Dr. Breen. Mr. and Mrs. McDonough will reside in Brooklyn after returning from their wedding trip.

SS. PETER AND PAUL'S

On Sunday, July 12, in the chapel of Notre Dame, Baltimore, fifty-one sisters of the order made perpetual vows. Of these fifteen were from Rochester, seven being from SS. Peter and Paul's church, as follows: Sisters M. Alberta Bilger, M. Xavier Schoenweitz, M. Eulalia Yeck, M. Bilhildis Fleckenstein, M. Charitas Ertl, M. Felix Adelman, M. Hildegarde Muller.

Dr. Sinclair, under whose guidance they entered, and who received an invitation to be present at the solemn services, feels justly proud in their perseverance.

ST BRIDGET'S

James J. Willis, aged 36 years, died on Tuesday at his home, No. 16 Stephany park. Deceased was a member of Branch 87, C. M. B. A. The funeral took place Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock from his late residence, and at 9 o'clock from the church.

HOLY ROSARY.

Rev. John G. Van Ness, the permanent pastor, has taken possession of the handsome new parochial residence adjoining the church, and last week Thursday evening the parishioners formally welcomed him. The ladies of the congregation took charge of the reception from 4 to 10 p. m., and all who came were warmly welcomed by Father VanNess. The new pastor received many handsome tokens of esteem from friends in and outside Holy Rosary parish. Hereafter there will be a low mass every Sunday at 8 a. m. and high mass at 10 a. m. The choir is under the able leadership of J. P. M. MacSweeney. On week days there is a mass at 7 a. m, and on holidays at 6 and 8 a. m.

CORPUS CHRISTI.

Members of the various Catholic benevolent organizations of Corpus Christi parish turned out generally in an outing at the Newport Thursday. Many of the members gathered at the church at 9 o'clock and took a special car to Glen Haven, whence they were transported to Newport by the steamer "Island Queen." Others came down by later cars or drove down or rode down on their wheels, and by noon there was a crowd of about three hundred persons there.

No programme of sports had been prepared with the exception of two ball games between members of the different societies, and those who did not take part in that amusement either strolled around or went out on the water and tried to lure unsuspecting members of the finny tribe up to their hooks.

The ball games were exciting and were closely contested. Two games were played, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The morning game was between members of the C. M. B. A. and C. R. & B. A. The C. M. B. A. team won by a score of 7 to 5. The batteries were Cleary and Dixon for the C. R. & B. A. and Carberry and Murray for the C. M. B. A. The second game was between the Guards of the Sacred Heart and the C. M. B. A., and the latter also won this game, the score being 8 to 6. The batteries were McFarlan and Dixon for the C. M. B. A., and Hall, Slattery and Murray for the Guards.

Minges' orchestra furnished music for the dancing, and a large number of the picnickers enjoyed that amusement, especially in the evening.

The committee from the different societies which contributed to the success of the occasion consisted of Mrs. Legler, Mrs Charles Crowley, Mrs. John McParlin and Miss Brodie from the L. C. B. A.; Henry Hebing, jr., Frank Carbery, Charles Crowley and Stephen Brodie from the C. M. B. A.; Mrs. Legler, Henry Gallagher, Mrs. Managh and Mrs. Cherbonean from the C. R. & B. A. Mr. McFarlan, assisted by James Keeler and Mr. Hall arranged the ball games.

HOLY REDEEMER

Miss Mary Herbst and Joseph Sippel were married on Tuesday morning by Rev. F. Oberholzer, assisted by Rev Fathers Miller and Netzel. During the celebration of the mass a solo for an offertory was sung by Mrs. Joseph Himpel.

The bridesmaids were Rosa Sippel, Katie Herbst and Georgina Hempel. The groomsmen were Fred Herbst, Fred Hempel and William Hoffend. Martin Herbst and Joseph Stein were ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, at which the Knights of St Eustace were present in a body, the groom being a member. Father Miller spoke at the house, congratulating the newly married couple and complimenting the knights on their handsome appearance and on one of their number becoming a benedict.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

Herbert J. Cunningham, the eight year old son of Michael and Mary Cunningham of 65 Tremont street, died Wednesday. The funeral will be held to-day at 8:30 from the house and at 9 o'clock from the church.

Mr. and Joseph L. Vogt will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding at St. Joseph's church, Franklin street, this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock.

Reception to Rev. Thomas D. Kennedy.

Rev. Thomas Daniel Kennedy, pastor St. Mary's Cathedral at Peoria, Ill., who is visiting his parents here, was entertained on Wednesday evening by McArdle's quartette and a large number of friends. During the evening music was rendered by the quartette, Dr. Crowley and Messrs. Predmore, White, McCracken, Kearns and McNamara, and Misses Mamie, Rosa and Theresa Kennedy.

St. Mary' Hospital Fete.

A lawn fete will be held on St. Mary's hospital grounds, West avenue and Genesee street, on Thursday afternoon and evening, August 27th, for the benefit of the institution. The fete will open at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until 10 o'clock in the evening. Arrangements have been made for dancing, and a good time is assured all those who attend. The entire proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the poor department of the hospital.

Entered a Religious Order.

Miss Frances McLaughlin of this city was one of seven young women who were received into the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Mount St. Joseph's Academy, Buffalo, Saturday, August 15th. She took the name of Sister Mary Ida. Rev. Hubert R. Hartman, S. J., received the young women into the order.

THE A. P. A. DENOUNCED.

DeLancey Crittenden Speaks Our Plainly to the Bigots.

De Lancey Crittenden delivered a remarkable address in the Unitarian chapel on Sunday, August 9th, entitled "The Roman Catholics and Protestants, as Such, in Our Politics." The daily papers of the next day dismissed it with a few lines, whether because of fear of offending the bigots or from other motives of policy it is hard to say. THE JOURNAL prints a few of Mr. Crittenden's most telling points as an evidence of what the whole address was like.

"We are coming to the result that the door of office is to be no longer shut against any man because of his political opinions or religious faith, but that integrity and capacity suitable to the station are to be the only qualifications required. Freedom of opinion goes hand in hand with freedom of suffrage."

"The axe is not a diplomatic weapon."

"The Roman Catholic church has recently welcomed to its corps of instructors—the chair of Economics—in the University of Washington, Carroll D. Wright, a Unitarian. Economics can be taught without religious dogma, and this does not mean that Professor Wright has become a Roman Catholic, or that the Catholic University has become Unitarian."

"No one expects politics to touch upon any perfectly unfettered Christian liberty."

"Some of us in these days seem to feel that the thing of which we need to be fully assured is not so much what we shall do as what other people shall do. Where their belief runs counter to our little ecclesiastical machine, we often utter the stern sentence, 'Depart from us into the eternal fire prepared for those who do not use the whole police force of the government in compelling their neighbors to do what we think others ought to do.' This is not the theory of Paul. 'Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind,' said he. Notwithstanding repeated waste places in all our life, we are possessed of a flora and fauna that flourish in spite of physical geographers."

"The disfranchisement of Catholics was contrary to the spirit of the Rhode Island charter and to the views of Roger Williams, who certainly understood the rational grounds for religious toleration better then any other man of his time, save perhaps Milton and Vane. He represents the Protestant principle of the sacred right of private judgment carried out with unflinching logical consistency. In him the transition from independency to individualism is completed. The contrast between the two is illustrated in the controversy between Williams and Cotton which was called forth by the publication in 1644 of Williams' book entitled 'The Bloody Tenent of Persecution.' So in this closing of the nineteenth century it is not necessary to argue religion out of politics and vice versa—to utter a denial of church authority, Bible revelation, or logic of reason. The simple proposition is, that neither should be made a factor in political faith. Neither heresy nor schism should be charged upon one who maintains independent action, separate and distinct, in his religion and politics."

"We reach this view because it seems that the largest possible personal liberty will yield the largest and best living. We can never, even in the utmost seclusion, commit a single sinful act which does not indirectly work our neighbor harm."

"Christian fanaticism is intent upon the enforcement of the Sunday laws. The Sunday laws which condemn opening of libraries and bicycle recreation—yes, every action on Sunday except that of preaching and going to church as a desecration of Sunday—these so-called Blue Laws are the heirloom of the Puritans, who, although persecuted themselves, made themselves infamous by their cruel persecution of the Quakers and those of other belief."

"Righteousness in both the individual and nation is salvation. The new era cares little whether Mr. McKinley pass through a Methodist vestibule every Sunday morning, or Mr. Bryan contributes regularly to maintain a Presbyterian establishment."

"A clear tracing of the ancestry of both McKinley and Bryan—originally to Scotland and who went to Ireland, fixes the Scotch-Irish stock of each."

"Where are the Yankees in this sweep of the Scotch-Irish to the high place of government? No one is solicitous or controlled by this matter of genealogy."
