Congratulations!

His many friends are heartily glad to hear that Daniel F. Fitzgerald better known as "Our Dan" has been elected one of the Supreme Viziers of the Order of Alhambra. The supreme viziers are the ruling body of the Order and correspond to the Directors of a large industrial or business corporation. Membership in the Board of Viziers is a forerunner of selection as supreme commander, the highest office in the organization.

Sir Knight Fitzgerald is a prominent Knight of Columbus and deputy grand knight of Rochester Council. He is a typical American gentleman.

Another Rochester Knight and well known in other fraternal circles was honored when the Loyal Order of Moose elected William M. Smith, past faithful navigator of Rochester Fourth Degree Assembly, as one of its Supreme Trustees. "Will" Smith deserves all the honors that comes to him.

Sister Colette

That all the honors are not paid to royalty or great wealth or social position was shown by the tribute paid to a humble nun, Sister Colette, of the Order of Mercy last Saturday.

Former pupils were there by the score, boys and girls they were to Sister Colette, now husbands and wives, grandparents, all imbued with the same thought—to pay honor to her who had started them on their journey to education. The bishop of the Diocese and his his Vicar General, a score of priests, citizens in every walk of life were at the bier to say a prayer that all might be well with the saintly nun whose soul had flown to starry realms on high.

Possibly, the tragic incidents surrounding Sister Colette's last days may have induced a larger attendance than usual but not so much. The desire of many to do honor to one whose whole life had been spent in service to God and humanity, whose whole thought was to do good and abnegation of self.

For her whose life was an example in service we bespeak the prayers of all our readers!

Much Wanted.

There is unconscious humor, be times, in the "want ads" that appear in the papers. A secular contemporary points out one such example as follows:—

Quite a bit is expected of men when applying for some jobs, so it would appear from a recent advertisement for a credit man "of outstanding ability."

First, the man must be of good family background. He must have a university education with high marks in his work. He must be trained in the theory of credits, or have had responsible banking experience. He must be a lawyer, or have a thorough knowledge of accounting. Better yet, he should have both He must have ability to organize a department and direct the work while handling a large amount of detail. He must have health, vigor, and ambition that expresses itself in hard work, good appearance, imagination, memory, tact, decision, but coupled with teachableness.

The successful applicant will receive "fair" remuneration at the start, which may be taken two ways and as with all jobs, a chance to advance is promised. The applicant must be under 35 years of age

Probably there are men who fit such specifications exactly, but the chances are that they are not looking for a job.

Real Situation

In a recent inspired despatch from Mexico, President Calles is quoted as saying that the Church controversy is over because the Mexican people have become "indifferent to the suspension of services".

Rev. Simon FitzSimons, rector of St. Mary's Church, in a letter to the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle" takes vigorous exception to President Calles' statements. Father FitzSimons says:—

There has never been so flagrant a case of religious persecution on the American continent as that which now exists across the Rio Grande Aside from a few Americans and others the population of Mexico is thoroughly Catholic. The Catholics of Mexico have erected in Mexico City their cathedral which is regarded as the noblest piece of architecture on the American continent. A religious warfare is now made upon the Mexican people. The entire hierarchy is in exile. Their priests are banished. The practice of their religion is penalized. Numbers of their clergy have been put to death without a trial. Nuns have been driven from their convents and brutally outraged; and, as the Democrat and Chronicle naively puts it. Calles the chief diabolical agency in the entire affair, states that people have become indifferent to "the suspension of services"; which means that the government had ordered the suspension of religious services, and, with their priests and bishops exiled or murdered, and the churches closed by government proclamation, the people had to be content. They know the penalty of remonstrance. And all this is what the Democrat & Chronicle regards as a "Church Row," now happily "over." I am not prepared to believe that the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle—which I have been reading with interest for half a century has done itself justice in this morning's announcements.

Before and After.

It is amusing to watch the secular journals that trim their sales to the prevailing wind hedge in their opinions to fit occasion.

In the first flush of the trans-oceanic air flights one of these commented thusly, whereas a few days later it called loudly for some power to curb these foolish stunts:

This trans-oceanic flying may be foolish, but it is assuredly exciting. Sitting safe at home, one can read almost daily of some new challenge to wind and wave, some daring attempt to span the ocean wastes or fly across desert and jungle

It is, of course, the danger of these flights that gives the thrill for those who essay them and those who watch, just as the peril of circling a track at speeds well beyond those of the fastest train has been the real attraction of the Indianapolis automobile races.

How great that risk is was shown by the grim record of the Dole prize air race to Honolulu. Yet men, and women too, are found who are eager to run the risk if they can obtain the backing required to finance the attempt.

The Roman gladiatorial combats, long the historic example of making a spectacle of a life or death contest, were waged by slaves and captives for the entertainment of thousands. Millions watch these airmen, of their own free choice, pit their skill and that of the makers of the machines which carry them against the menace of the hostile ocean waiting to engulf them.

It would appear that whenever "Jacob" Johnston destroys one illicit still five more spring into being in Rochester.

Wayne Wheeler was the Anti-Saloon League. Will his successor be able to exert as dominating influence?

Rochester's 1927 Industrial Exposition was an unqualified success, likewise the Horse Show As a medium of publicity for Rochester the exposition is valuable

Mrs. Harper Sibley's membership on the regular organization committees is indirect evidence that not all the wealthy men and women of Rochester are against Mr. Hotchkiss

Electric Sweeper Vac Saves Time, Labor and Health

The work of sweeping with a broom is extremely exhausting, to say nothing of the menace to health which comes of mixing germ-laden dust with the air you breathe.

Get a Sweeper-Vac Electric Vacuum Sweeper and do the work of sweeping easily and safely. The Sweeper-Vac calls for no undue exertion, it cleans as no broom ever cleaned and it sucks up the germ-laden dust and deposits it in a receptacle from which it can be taken and all germ life completely destroyed.

Then, too, the "Sweeper-Vac" will do the work in less time, which means that the user will have more time for reading, sewing, and such like recreations. These cleaners are fully guaranteed as to workmanship, durability and cleaning efficiency.
