City Bans Indecent Movies, Literature

Elizabeth, N.J. —(NC)— The City Council has passed an ordinance banning indecent films, books and other material from the city. The ordinance had the support of Catholic organizations in the city who had protested local showings of "The Moon Is Blue."

In nearby Jersey City a ban against "The Moon Is Blue" will be appealed to the County Court of Hudson County by the Stanley Warner Theatre of Jersey City and United Artists, distributor of the film.

'Moon Is Blue' Film, Revised Version, Remains In Class C

Providence, R.I.—(NC)—Providence Catholics were warned that a "revised version" of "The Moon Moon Is Blue," recently passed by local censors, has not been approved by the Legion of Decency and remains a Class C—condemned—film.

Commenting on the approval given to the film by the Providence License Bureau, the Providence Visitor said: "Catholics aware of the moral dangers of such motion pictures and alert to the high moral purposes and abilities of the Legion of Decency are bound to be offended by this intrusion of a condemned movie into the life of the state."

The newspaper said "there can be sympathy" for the licensing bureau, but scored "the existance of a group bent on eliminating all censorship, regardless of moral consequences."
