Vatican Publishes Papal 'Yearbook'

Vatican City — (NC) — Six Cardinals and 48 Archbishops and Bishops died throughout the world during 1954, according to statistics given in the 1955 Pontifical Yearbook.

The yearbook, printed in Italian by the Vatican Press, has the title "Annuario Pontificio." It carries notations behind the names of about 150 prelates indicating that they are prevented from discharging their office by communist regimes.

"WHILE THE SICK MAN HAS LIFE THERE IS HOPE"

(Author's name below)

This wise saying is much truer now, than when it was written over 2000 years ago.

If you know anyone that has been sick for a long time tell him "There is Hope". New discoveries are constantly being released for prescription use, and if he will only keep closely in touch with his Physician, one of these new medicines may "cure" him. We stock them in our prescription department as rapidly as they are available.

Ex-Editor Writes 'Primer On UMT'

St. Meinrad, Ind. — (NC) — Universal Military Training is "precisely the sort of issue which properly belongs to the people to decide," according to Robert G. Hoyt, who was editor of The Sun Herald, Catholic daily published for some time in Kansas City, Mo., and a veteran of World War II.

MR. HOYT has written a "Primer on UMT," which appears in the current issue of The Grail, national Catholic magazine published here. He observed that "you can't even name it without at least seeming to take sides. If you're for it, you call it UMT; if you're against it, it's total peacetime conscription."

In his "Primer," Mr. Hoyt listed arguments both in favor and opposed to UMT.

Pontiff Receives Turkish Leaders

Vatican City — (RNS) — Pope Pius XII received Turkey's Premier Adnan Menderes and Foreign Minister Fouad Koprulu in a private audience which lasted 23 minutes.

The Pope presented his guests with a gold medal commemorating his pontificate and two volumes of rare Turkish manuscripts belonging to the Vatican library.

Following the audience, the two Turkish statesmen and their party called on Msgr. Domenico Tardini, Vatican Pro-Secretary of State. Later they visited the Sistine Chapel, the Vatican museums, and St. Peter's basilica.

The Holy See has been represented in Turkey by an Apostolic Delegate since 1854. In recent years there have been reports that Turkey might establish full diplomatic relations with the Vatic[illegible].

Mexican Priest Claimed First Newspaperman In America

Mexico City — (NC) — Mexico's first newspaper was founded by a Zacatecan priest, Father Juan Ignacio Castorena Urzua y Goyeneche. He was not only Mexico's pioneer newspaperman, but the first in the entire Western Hemisphere.

This was the claim made here at festivities marking the annual celebration of "Newspapermen's Day" in Mexico.

Father Urzua y Goyeneche, at first choir leader of the Cathedral of Mexico, and later the Bishop of Yucatan, was the first to organize and direct a newspaper called "Gaceta de Mexico y Noticias de Nueva Espana" (Mexican Gazette and News of New Spain), a monthly, which began publication January 1, 1722.

THE PAPER carried news of Mexico City, Puebla, Vera Cruz, Campecche, Oaxaca, Acapulco, Guadalajara, Zacteca, Mayarita, and even notes from Havana and California—quite a large coverage for those times.

History records that the appearance of the monthly newspaper caused much dissension in the ranks of the intellectuals of that day, with jealousies, animosity and petty rivalries making it impossible for Father Urzua y Goyeneche to publish more than six numbers of his paper.

SIX YEARS later, the paper was revived by another priest, Father Juan Francisco Sahagun de Arevalo. This was the first paper to use wood engravings, even though very crude. The paper also published verse alongside news items and advertisements. Thus today's newspapermen owe much to the sacerdotal pioneers who founded journalism in Mexico.

Weekly Scores Senator For POAU 'Approval'

Raleigh, N. C. — (NC) — North Carolina's freshman U. S. Senator, W. Kerr Scott, has been taken to task by the weekly paper of the Raleigh diocese for "showing public approval" of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State (POAU).

The North Carolina Catholic devoted all of its editorial column to an open letter from Dale Francis, director of the Charlotte Catholic Information Center, asking Senator Scott his position on POAU.

MR. FRANCIS said that the former North Carolina Governor had sat at the speakers' table at the opening banquet of the POAU's recent convention in Washington, and that a POAU board member had told him "it was the first time in the history of the organization that a United States senator had given the POAU such public endorsement."

The banquet address, by Dr. Leo Pfeffer, Mr. Francis said, "was a scholarly talk—scholarship that could be debated at many points but still not bigotry." It was the next day that POAU "showed its face of hatred," he said.

MR. FRANCIS declared:

"You should have been there, Senator. Then you would have seen the POAU as it really is and not as it appears to be when it parades as an organization only interested in promoting separation of Church and State . . . It is an out-and-out anti-Catholic organization, seeking to arouse hatred against Catholics and the Catholic Church."

"What I want to know is whether you would have been willing to lend it your prestige if you had seen it as it really is in the next day's sessions," he said.

High Chair Not Electric Chair!

Los Angeles, Calif. — (NC) — Prevention of juvenile delinquency begins in the high chair, not the electric chair, FBI special agent John F. Malone told the annual dinner meeting of the Catholic Youth Organization advisory boards here.

A similar theme was stressed by His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, Archbishop of Los Angeles. The Cardinal told the group that youth must not be pampered, but trained in love and respect for authority and taught a spirit of fair play and honesty in dealing with others.

Catholic High School Set In Minneapolis

St. Louis Park, Minn. — A new $2,000,000 Catholic boys' high school, with a capacity of from 1,200 to 1,400 students, will be built in this suburb of Minneapolis.

The Christian Brothers, who will operate the school, have an option on a 50-acre site.

Brother J. Mark, director and principal of De La Salle boys' high school in Minneapolis, also operated by the Christian Brothers, will relinquish his duties there to take charge of the new project.

The order will pay one-third of the school's cost and provide the faculty. The balance will be sought in a fund drive among local Catholics.

Plans for the school will have to provide for an eventual enrollment of 2,000 boys, Brother Mark said, to meet the demand in Minneapolis and its growing suburban area.

Only 80 Catholic Missioners In China

Hong Kong — (NC) — Of the 5,000 foreign Catholic missionaries in China when the Reds took over only 80 remained at the end of January this year.

Figures released here show that only four Bishops, 52 priests and Brothers and 24 Sisters are still in Red China. Eighteen of these missionaries are Americans, 12 of them in prison. Before the Red seizure of China some 500 American Catholic missionaries were assigned there.
