Along the Sports Horizon

By BILL LANG

The bowling brigands of our fair town are in for a series of hectic sessions during the next four months.

First and foremost of course is the national meeting of the American Bowling Congress at Syracuse. Indications point to a new all high low record when the curtain rises on this king pin of the alley sport on March 1.

Then there's the state tournament scheduled for Culver Hall here. The boys are shooting at a high entry mark in this event and the forecast is that they might be successful.

Ranking equally high is the third annual tournament of the Catholic Bowling Association to be held at Ridge Hall under the auspices of the Holy Name Society. With a revived spirit in Catholic pinning circles this year, tournament officials are warranted in expecting an entry list far in excess of those of the first two years.

These events are just the highlights of a busy season which will run far into April with regular league schedules, special tournaments, city individual title matches and whatnot.

To say that Syracuse is making the most of its ABC tournament which might have come to Rochester with proper support is putting it rather mildly.

The Salt City pinners are shooting at an all time high entry mark of 1,000 teams and they're convinced they'll get it. With the opening of the blue-ribbon event still nearly two months away, the Syracuse bowlers have passed the 400 team mark in their attempt to bring out 1,000 teams from their own city.

The spirit of cooperation which is sweeping the town is remarkable. The butcher, baker and candlestick maker—yes, even the banker—are pulling together toward a common goal. Needless to say, the Catholic bowling representation in Syracuse is well in front with its support.

[illegible] smiles when Syracuse won after the tournament was awarded it, ought to doff their chapeaux to the success of an enterprising & sporting movement that seldom has been in its those many years.

One of the bright spots on a rather dormant New Year's sports page is the very active Holy Name Athletic Association comprising all members of the Holy Name Society living in Elmira and Horseheads.

Holy Name Societies from St. Anthony's, St. Clement's, St. Cecilia's, St. Charles, St. John's, St. Mary's, St. Patrick's and St. Peter's and Paul's form the association which is sponsoring every possible sport.

The association not only promotes athletic contests among its own members but encourages and finances athletics among the children in grade and high schools.

A bowling tournament is in progress every Sunday evening at the Knights of Columbus alleys in Elmira with the competition open to every Holy Name member.

Last month a Sunday afternoon [illegible] started at St. Peter and Paul's gymnasium. Four games are played each Sunday and the Columbus hide fair to becoming one of the leading sports events in Elmira if interest can be sustained.

A quoit tournament also was started and that event is attracting a host of players. Plans are underway now to start a card tournament for the old timers. A golf tournament, an eighth grade baseball meet and field and track events also are on the program.

Such an undertaking is ambitious to say the least but it serves as an excellent example of what can be done with proper organization.

If a program of so wide a scope is possible in Elmira, what about the Rochester Holy Name units? There indeed is a field worthy of exploration.

They're still playing football out San Francisco way and word reaches this department of Knights of Columbus charity game scheduled for Kezar Stadium on January 20 between the New York Giants, professional champs and an all-star combination yet to be selected.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna is honorary chairman of the arrangements committee.

The burning question of who'll manage the Rochester Red Wings in 1935 is still on the coals.

Manager George "Specs" Toporcer refuses to sign a contract offered him because of a salary cut and the Wings are casting about for a new pilot who must be signed up very shortly.

The growing list of candidates mentioned this week contained the name of our Billy Southworth who enjoyed remarkable success at the helm of the Wings some years back.

Baseball chatter naturally brings us to the future of our own Catholic Baseball League which has endured for five years without interruption.

What 1935 holds for this organization still is very much clouded in the future.

However, it is not too early for those interested to thrash out preliminary plans now and any suggestions will be more than welcomed by this column.

The 1935 major league races are going to be close—take it from Will Harridge and Ford Frick.

In case you've slipped on your baseball abc's, Ford is the newspaperman who finally made good to become president of the National League while Harridge is at the helm of the junior circuit.

Frick, accustomed to penning those January dope stories, says there'll be at least five teams in the running for the National League crown with the Giants and Cardinals as the two possible finishers. He even goes so far as to predict that Cincinnati will improve.

Harridge thinks the Yankees will give the Tigers a run for their World Series money in 1935 and nobody seems to dispute that fact.

Catholic League

There's nothing like starting the New Year right and that's exactly what Denk of St. John's did by rolling up a 640 score to head the Catholic League's individual parade for the first week of 1935.

Denk pieced together games of 225, 236 and 179 to feature his team's double victory over St. Boniface. Frank and Palmer produced the only double century marks for the Bonnies while President Barney Cahill contributed 238 for the league leaders.

It may have been Ed Ford's recent marriage and then again it may have been the Holy Redeemer team but the fact remains that Corpus Christi dropped all three of its engagements to H. R. A. A. Art Schauch paved the way with 588. Congratulations, of course, are in order for Ford and the Mrs. who signed a life contract December 26.

Lang's 607 and Twanley's 597 enabled Blessed Sacrament to win two games from St. Andrew's in the other match of the week. St. Stanislaus grabbed a pair of decisions from St. Michael's, both wins coming by substantial margins. Kocinski's 620 was high for the winners.

KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN LEAGUE

Paced by Ed Bach, Jr., who rolled the league's only 600 total of the week, St. George's took a double decision from their arch-rivals from St. Michael's. Ed had games of 215, 193 and 228. Relsenbergers' 574 was top for St. Michael's.

After losing the first game by three points, St. Boniface came through with two straight victories over St. Eustace. Dell with 597 was high for the Bonnies while Muhleisen's 566 was the best for St. Eustace.

St. Mauritius took a pair of victories from Cathedral. Kress of St. Mauritius with 529 and Schaefer of Cathedral with 578 were high for their respective teams. The best St. Bernard's could do against SS. Peter's and Paul's was 1965 and the boys lost all three games.

One of the pinners on the St. Bernard's team hit 237—in three games. His scores of 82, 76 and 79 certainly must create some kind of a record.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS LEAGUE

Bill Amering continues to be the general disturbance in the Knights of Columbus League. This week Bill toppled the maples for 603 including a high game of 241. Schaft with 535 was second. Miller and Schoenemann hit the double century mark. The Orients, Guards and Indians won two apiece from the Ninas, Puritans and Klutes while the Santas took all three from the Pintas.

H. R. A. A. LEAGUE

The New Year brought some real scores to this circuit.

Brand of Meyers Shoes hit 242 to enable his team to win the final encounter from Yapiski's after dropping the first two. Stenhany's 180 was top for Yapiski's.

Warth came through with a fine 590 total including games of 220 and 207 to feature [illegible] Klein's two wins over Ace [illegible]. Schauch pounded out 236 for [illegible] Aces.

After dropping the first game, Father Stauder's [illegible] won two from Millis' [illegible]. Larry Schleuter's 214 was best for the Boosters while Walsh [illegible] for the Inns.

Elmira Squires Communion Plans Are Announced

Elmira—In observance of a nation-wide custom, the Edward Dunn Circle No. 92 of the Columbian Squires, Elmira, New York, will receive Holy Communion daily for a week, starting Sunday, Jan. 6. The Squires will receive in their respective churches each morning during the week.

As Sunday Jan. 13 is Holy Name Sunday, the Squires will receive in their respective churches with the Holy Name Society. A Communion Breakfast will be held the same day at 9:00 a. m. in the Community Coffee Shop. Plans are being made for a speaker and entertainment.

William Stowell, Jr. is in charge of the affair, assisted by a committee. The price of the breakfast will be 3.50, and all Squires are urged to attend.

Plans are also being made for a one-day retreat in the near future.

The Rev. Father Benoit, assistant pastor of St. Cecilia's church, has been chosen Father Prior of the Columbian Squires, following the resignation of the Rev. Daniel C. Holland, assistant of St. Patrick's. Father Benoit has extensive plans for activities in the near future. The Squires are rehearsing a play, "It Will Be All Right On The Night", to be given at a regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus in the near future. William Stowell, Jr. is directing the play.

Boys Their Interests

Camp Stella Maris Bear-Wow will be held on January 26. Plans will be Mendon Park Ponds. The Log Cabin will be used as a meeting place and all activities will begin from there. There will be skating and tobogganing, etc., if it is cold enough. Grandpa Hesle has sent word that in spite of the 'lumbaggie' and the 'rhumatiz' he will be there and will tell a famous experience of his never before given to the light of day. The title is, he wrote, "Tarzan and Modghu Gang Poor Grandpa". (Poor Tarzan!). Invitations will come by mail.

In a very interesting article in the Commonweal Jan. 4, Father Moore who has charge of the Catholic Scouting, tells how Catholic the Boy Scout program is. Among other things he mentions that when General Baden-Powell was trying to figure out how to put religion and God into the Scouting movement he went not to any Protestant clergyman (although he is not a Catholic) but he went to Cardinal Bourne and asked his advice. Later Powell met Mr. Ridder of our own country and asked him if there were any objections to Scouting because it was too Catholic. "Too Catholic?", asked Ridder. "You mean too Protestant, don't you?" "No", replied Powell, "I mean too Catholic." And yet many in this country think scouting too Protestant. The reason is because we have allowed the Protestant church to monoplize Scouting, and then complain that it is too Protestant. It is only too Protestant because we have been lazy and asleep.

To clinch his point Father Moore quotes Dr. Wyland, director of the Department of Education of the Boy Scouts in America to this effect: "It is the genius of the Boy Scout Movement that in order to save its life it must lose it, that is, in order to accomplish its purpose, the good of the boy, it must submerge itself in the organizations that sponsor its units. Thus a troop directed by a Catholic church is Catholic and one directed by a Protestant church is Protestant. And we might add further that a boy is profoundly influenced by the complexion of the troop in which he finds himself; the troop act though he were in a Protestant school of a non-sectarian atmosphere (hard to say which is worse). Lastly, the type of Camp Johnny attends, also has its influence.

He's a yes-man, they used to say. But who says yes anymore? They're [illegible] or they force their yeah, yuh, un-huh, yup (probably dog language), you see, right-ie, and the proud German yah'. A school teacher received this note from the mother of one of her pupils: "Deer Mis You write me about whippin Sammy I hearby give you permishun to beat him up any time it is necessary to turn his lessons. He is just like his father-you have to turn him with a club. Pound nolege into him. I want him to get it and don't pay attention to what his father sez. He's igurnt. I'll take care of him!" (From the Altoona Tribune).

The "Wall Street Journal" prints this about an enterprising young gentleman—Mr. Gerald Allen—personal escorter, tots and kids took to school and returned-prompt in perfect condishin-if received that way. Military discipline. Rates $.25 a week. Refined conversashun. No extra charge for nose wipin. All I ask is a trial.

Parochial Court League Begins Trek To Pennant

The Parochial Basketball League got away to a fine start last week. St. Theresa's quint nosed out the Holy Redeemer team by only one point, 5 to 4 after a long and hard fight. St. Mary's Stars easily took St. Lucy's boys and St. Ambrose won from Holy Apostles. St. George's did not play.

Teams are still raw and need about three or four games to get in good form. If a team is weak they must remember that there is a second half and a chance to come back.

Summary of Last Week

	G.	F	T
Holy Redeemer	1	2	4
St. Theresa	2	1	5
St. Mary's	16	3	35
St. Lucy's	4	0	8
St. Ambrose	11	0	22
Holy Apostles	0	0	0

Seedule Jan. 11

St. Mary's vs. St. Ambrose at St Mary's Court at 7:30 p. m.

Holy Redeemer vs. St. Lucy's at Holy Redeemer Court at 4:00 p. m.

St. Theresa vs. St. George at St. Theresa's Court at 4 p. m.

Holy Apostles are idle this week.

The Parochial Loop is sponsored by the Columbus Civic Center and is under the supervision of the Don Bosco Fraternity.

Select Topic Of Loan Libraries For K. of C. Talk

"Lending Libraries" will be the topic for discussion in the Catholic Action section of the next regular meeting of Rochester Council Knights of Columbus, Thursday evening, January 17 in the K. of C. Rooms, Columbus Civic Center Building.

The discussion will be led by Past Grand Knight George T. Roche who will be introduced by Chairman Philip H. Donnelly of the Catholic Action Committee. Grand Knight Dr. Walter B. O'Neill will preside over the regular business session of the council.

The Catholic Action discussion at the last Council meeting was led by Attorney Howard M. Woods. The subject was Tax Exemption of Real Property Owned by Private Corporations Engaged in Charitable or Religious Work.

Mr. Woods opened the discussion by citing the section of the New York State Tax law covering this type of exemption. He told of proposed legislation to limit seriously the work of charitable and religious organizations by eliminating tax exemptions.

The speaker outlined the principle of tax exemptions, and said governmental properties should be exempt of necessity since the government is a taxing body. Private agencies doing the same work as the government in treating the sick, educating youth, taking care of the aged and engaged in other charitable and religious work should have their property tax exempt. This has been a public policy since earliest days, he declared. Stating that education is placed in the forefront even by atheists he declared there are few to gainsay the value of educational institutions. Estimating the value of charitable work is said as difficult but it is a work that a citizen has the right to demand from his government.

The speaker said the test for tax exemptions is that organizations doing charitable and religious work should use their property solely and exclusively for that work. He said abuses occur where organizations attempt to evade taxation on properties not used exclusively for the purpose stated.

He warned against removal of tax exemptions on property now being used for schools, hospitals, orphan asylums, homes for the aged and like institutions stating that such loss of taxation will result in closing such institutions or where they are able to survive resulting in asking increased revenue from other sources.

De Sales High Five Will Play Auburn Tie in Catholic Loop

Auburn A. closer quint representing St. Francis De Sales High School of Geneva will make its initial appearance in Auburn Friday evening against the Holy Family High School five at the State Armory court. Philip Conlon of Notre Dame University will referee.

The protégés of Coach Joseph Curtin lost their first game in four starts last Friday night to Cayuga Lake Academy of Aurora, 11 to 7. The Holy Family High School quintet, coached by John Flynn, former St. Bonaventure College athlete, trimmed the Cayuga Lake Academy Reserves, 28 to 19.
