ROCHESTER HOLY NAME PROTESTS U.S. INTERFERENCE IN MEXICO

Holy Name Deanery Delegates Adopt Resolution Following Address By Judge Donnelly

Plan Distribution of Resolution Among Societies For Individual Protest; Elect Shlesinger Head of New Set of Officers in Deanery

Calling upon the United States government to cease "intervention in Mexican affairs," the Rochester Deanery of the Diocesan Holy Name Union adopted an emphatic resolution on the Mexican situation at their quarterly meeting held Tuesday, January 28, in Immaculate Conception auditorium.

Delegates from each Holy Name society in Monroe County met to elect officers and review their 1934 activities. After an address by Philip H. Donnelly, former county judge, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Denied Rights

"We believe the people of Mexico are fully capable of governing themselves without the intervention of any foreign power. We believe they are endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights which they enjoy in the full and equal of the terms. They should

"We maintain they have been prevented from enjoying them because of intervention on the part of the government of the United States of America. We assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that for at least 20 years our government has intervened in the affairs of Mexico. We further assert that this intervention has become more and more pronounced during the term of the present ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Daniels.

"We call upon our government to put an end to this intervention and to permit the Mexican people to settle their own affairs."

Copies of the resolution will be printed on postcards and sent to each society, to be distributed to individual members who will forward them to the President, Congressmen and Secretary of State.

Declaring that "socialism in Mexico means Atheism," Judge Donnelly described present conditions there and urged all members participating in protesting to Washington. He asserted that it is a "political rather than a religious struggle" and that the Mexican authorities are claiming control of the inalienable rights not alone of Catholics but also of all Mexican subjects.

Preceding the meeting, benediction was given in the church by the Rev. F. William Stauder, spiritual director of the Union, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph S. Cameron, the Rev. Leo Smith and the Rev. Adelbert Schneider.

Monsignor Cameron welcomed the delegates to Immaculate Conception Parish expressing the hope that the year ahead would be as fruitful in Holy Name activity as was 1934.

Father Stauder opened the meeting with a review of the past year. He stated that the annual rally held in Elmira had done much to revive the Holy Name spirit there and that the Elmira Deanery had received much encouragement and inspiration from the large turnout.

Announces Press Drive

Discussing the summer campaign to increase the circulation of the "Catholic Courier," which netted more than 2,100 new subscriptions, he thanked the pastors and members for their hearty endeavors, and announced that the work would be continued during February, which is Catholic Press month.

B. Edward Shlesinger, president of the Diocesan Union, was chosen for that office in the Rochester Deanery. Until now, officers of the Union have automatically been officers of the Rochester section. Under the new ruling this deanery will have its own set of executives, comprising the following:

Vice-president, James E. Cuff; secretary, Roy W. Criasy; financial secretary, Andrew Wuest; treasurer, Joseph Antolina; marshall, John W. Diringer.

In a second resolution the Deanery opposed ratification by the New York State Legislature of the "so-called" Child Labor amendment to the Federal Constitution, stating that while the Union is uncompromisingly against the evils of child labor, it feels that this amendment would transfer to Congress powers which belong to parents and the several states, and would substitute the State for parental authority.

Asks Scout Aid

Harry E. Crowley of the Rochester Catholic Scout Committee gave a short talk on the scout movement, and appealed for "the physical and moral support" of Holy Name men to establish parish troops. "There never was a time," he declared, "when we needed more to spend some thought on the boys of today and the men of tomorrow." He urged the Holy Name Union to give some serious consideration to the furthering of the scout movement.

WAYNE COUNTY AMERICAN LEGION PAYS TRIBUTE TO DR. KETTELL

By HAROLD NICHOLS

Clyde.—Wayne County American Legion ranks lost a friend and a leader in the transfer of the Rev. Dr. George F. Kettell, former national chaplain of the Legion, from St. Patrick's Church, Macedon, to St. Mary's Church, Rochester, where he preached Sunday for the first time.

In charge of the Macedon parish since 1929, Father Kettell became widely known outside the Catholic church as a speaker at civic and fraternal events. In Clyde he has been the speaker at the annual dinners of the George Aden Brown post.

Honored by Legion

Chairman of the Americanism committee of the Wayne County American Legion and one of its delegates annually to the state convention, Father Kettell was best known for his work with that organization. Meeting at Sodus last week, the county group voted him a past national chaplain's lapel pin in recognition of his work for the county.

The writer had the opportunity of observing Father Kettell's work at the last two county conventions of the American Legion at Sodus Point. Particularly impressive was the manner in which the priest, as the dinner speaker, held his large audience virtually breathless, although it was a sultry night, relieved only by a vagrant breeze from the bay. Americanism was his topic that night and he reached oratorical heights in driving home his points to a spellbound audience.

Community Bids Farewell

Tribute to Father Kettell's standing in the little community of Macedon was paid last Tuesday night when his parishioners and the townspeople in general gave him a farewell party in the Macedon school auditorium. Ministers of the Baptist, Universalist and Methodist churches were among the speakers expressing regret over his departure. He was presented with a leather traveling bag as a farewell gift.

A native of Hammondsport, Father Kettell was graduated from St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's seminaries, Rochester. After his ordination he pursued post-graduate studies in the North American College, Rome, Italy, where he received the degree of doctor of divinity. After teaching in St. Bernard's Seminary and Nazareth College, Rochester, he was appointed to the Macedon parish.

Father Kettell has the distinction of being the second Catholic priest to be elected national chaplain of the American Legion. Thru that connection he became known in many states.

The Rev. John E. Masseth, formerly of St. Alphonsus Church, Auburn, Father Kettell's successor in Macedon, conducted the services there Sunday. Father Masseth also will be editor of The Catholic Courier, diocesan publication.

Be true to your friends and remember the services they have rendered to you in the past.
