We quote from the June number of the Bulletin published by the Pittsburgh Council of the N.C.C.W.

When the forces of evil are so active and so powerfully organized should Catholic forces be scattered and disorganized? Heartrending calamities elsewhere on national proportions in the midst of which Catholic interests have crumbled, crushing mortal bodies and immortal souls in the ruins, ought to stir Catholic women to an appreciation of the crying need for organization in defense of the eternal rights of God and of the inalienable rights of man. Every woman who is genuinely Catholic and who can see beyond the day after tomorrow ought to deem it a duty to lend her name and effort to a group that is affiliated with the National Council of Catholic Women. She then works under the Hierarchy and her work enjoys the prestige and the blessing that attached to Catholic Action" as distinct from "Catholic Activities."

SODAL-TALK

Recording the Activities of Rochester Parish Sodalities Union

"AS RADICAL AS CHRIST"

"Once a Sodalist, always a Sodalist." And so with everyone talking commencements and graduations and giving advice to the graduates as they go on to higher education or to take their places in the world rubbing elbows with their fellowmen, we would like to take Commencement from the Sodality angle.

Being a Sodalist does not end with graduation although graduation may terminate membership in a school Sodality. Graduation from grammar school is merely the introduction into Sodality life.

Throughout high school the ideal Sodalist has been first of all a member of her parish Sodality and has been truly loyal to her school Sodality activities. For her graduation means a fuller participation in parish life and a carry over of the splendid training and high ideals which the school Sodality has given her. Of her we may expect service and support.

Of the college student Sodalist and the college graduate we ask this, a Catholic life based on Catholic principles. As we heard at a recent Rochester address, religious training to be valid should give the college student the ability to see through things to the truth.

That being so we would ask the college Sodalist going out into the world in whatever profession she may choose or find herself to carry over the ideals of personal holiness and active Catholicity which her education and Sodality life has given to her.

This will mean that in all things she will do "what she ought, how she ought, when she ought and why she ought to do it." It will mean that she will stand for definite principles using them as a room for judgment and conduct.

She will be a leader, perhaps not always to the front but in the rank and file as well. Her conception of and belief in the Mystical Body will mean that she will bring to her life, her work and her fellowman a love of neighbor, a firm Faith, a depth and culture and service which will be fruitful.

To the Sodalist graduates, then congratulations and welcome to a fuller life.

BETTER HOUSING MEANS BETTER HOMES

CELLAR STAIRS MAY AID OR HINDER YOUR HOUSEWORK

Cellar stairs are frequently given little or no consideration. If it is necessary to PICK going up or down that is just too bad but the stairs go in that way just the same. If a 10 or 12 inch rise from one step to the next must be said to get the stairway in, they go in despite the fact that probably more heavy loads are carried up the cellar stairs than any other. In many cases no railings are provided and the treads of steps are made of any kind of leftover planks that may be around.

Cellar stairs need not be as finished as the main stairs but they should have just as much consideration as far as safety and convenience is concerned. The head room should be adequate, the treads of the first should be not less than 9 inches and preferably 10 inches wide and wide enough for full tread for a good size foot. A landing should be provided for the top and bottom and not more than the four first steps should be not less than 3 feet 6 inches in the clear and preferably 4 feet. If winders are used they should be not more than two degree turn.

A refinement that is of little extra expense and which will be greatly appreciated by those who have to go up and down particularly up is to tip the treads so that front edge is about one eighth to one-fourth of an inch higher than the rear edge. This gives the foot a slight forward "in" going up and makes it much easier going especially if he has his arms full.
