IN ONE EAR

By BILL ROGERS

What's the Use?

It never does any good to make any predictions, it seems. Remember the little squib on the teletype machine? Now, "at any moment it would start ringing announcing the beginning of a war in Europe?" Well, it seems that Messrs. Delader, Chamberlain, Mussolini, and Hitler conspired against us and threw a monkey wrench in our scoop. It's no use.

While Harry's Away

During Harry McTigue's vacation, which incidentally was well earned, Harry having worked tirelessly at both his nightly WHAM sponsorship and an almost nightly baseball game all summer John Burns, well known sports writer and observer, is taking over his duties for the regulation two weeks. Bill Cox, University of Rochester football mentor, was a guest speaker on Burn's first program Friday night last.

Culinary Note

WHAM's Myster Chef offered his famous cook book at reduced prices for brides a short time ago. Forty per cent of the orders came from men, it was reported

"Jell-o Again, Folks"

WHAM is proud to announce that the Jack Benny Gang is now being heard over this station every Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock, as a presentation of Jello.

Jack Benny probably would have been a second rate fiddler if it hadn't been for the World War Until the War he earned most of his money playing in a dance orchestra here and there, now and again. For six years he fiddled across the continent. Then the United States entered the war and Benny joined the Navy As a very capable musician, though not exceptional, he was soon drafted for the Navy's musical shows. His violin playing brought applause, but no contributions for the cause. So one day he decided to ask for some money from the sympathetic but impecunious audience. To his great surprise, his audience roared with laughter, thinking it part of the gags on the program! It was at this time, that Benny first realized he had potentialities as a [illegible] after this, he gave his audience less violin playing and more talking And this developed the famous Benny style, which today is earning the urbane comedian a sizable fortune.

A Word in Edgewise

It is truly a treat to watch Mrs. Thrifty Buyer and her Daughter Prudent, in their twice weekly drama presented by the Independent Grocers Association. Perhaps it might be truthfully said that half the conversation is not even on the screen. Mrs. Thrifty Buyer also plays the part of Voice, the voice of Prudent, and Prudent also doubles her part. All of which makes it more amusing. The scripts are sort of gems, to the credit of the playwright, the talent involved forming a skeleton pleasantly clothed with the flesh of adlib conversation.

Television Notes

[illegible] the American Way, a short program released from the television department of the National Broadcasting Company which compares the efficiency of television in this country and in England

"Television programs in England reveal a marked difference from those followed in American commercial studios said Thomas H Hutchinson, television program director of the National Broadcasting Company on his return from a six weeks inspection tour of European television studios. The difference according to Hutchinson arises from a difference concerning the purpose of the news.

After a week in the British Broadcasting Company's Studio at Alexandra Palace London I [illegible] the idea that the British producers look upon television as a means of entertaining and educating in a simple and straightforward way [illegible] that [illegible] place in front of the screen.

Many of the differences in English and American programs [illegible] Hutchinson pointed out, [illegible] television must maintain a [illegible] in the United States it is [illegible] experiment.

This the NBC director felt, makes for greater freedom and eventually more satisfactory results in the American system. American television, he believes will come to improve steadily with the further development of technical facilities.

900 CATHOLIC DEAF Convene; Sessions In 'Sign' Language

NEWARK, N. J. — A convention in the "sign" language was held here last Sunday when 900 delegates attended the second annual meeting of the Catholic Deaf of the Archdiocese of Newark in St Patrick's Cathedral

Sermons and addresses were heard through sign language interpreters. The delegates also sang hymns and conducted their convention as if they suffered no handicap.

The convention was attended and addressed by the Most Rev Thomas J Walsh, Archbishop of Newark, who has encouraged priests of his archdiocese to learn the sign language and thus be able to aid the Church's work among the deaf. Thirty-eight priests of the archdiocese have so far learned the language Foremost among these are the Rev Stephen J Landherr, CSSR, of Esopus, N Y, and the Rev Joseph C Lenihan of Newark.

In his address, Archbishop Walsh urged the delegates to lead Catholic lives "Become an apostle," he counselled, "and bring into your happy organization every similarly afflicted person Sanctify your souls in such a supernatural way. There is a compensation in the priesthood."

Father Landherr interpreted the Archbishop's address [illegible] Very Rev John J Dolan, Rector of the Cathedral, and the assemblage in discussing his address of welcome.

At a dinner held after the services in the Cathedral Mayor Gaven of Harrison, N J, and Representative Fred Hartley, Edward L. O'Neill and Frank W Towey were guests.

DUBLIN MAYOR CITES IRISH-ANGLO ACCORD

LONDON "There is a real feeling of goodwill in Ireland that never existed before," said Alderman Alfred Byrne, Lord Mayor of Dublin, speaking of Anglo-Irish relations when he opened a garden fete at Rhyl North Wales.

"I earnestly hope and pray" he continued "that as a result of the wisdom of your great statesmen the clouds and shadows that hang over Europe will soon be forgotten.

"Ireland and Great Britain," he said in another passage, "cannot be neutral in a war. Ireland wants that peace should be maintained throughout the world and expresses the hope that the friendship between our two countries will grow."

FORDHAM PRESIDENT Attacks 'Racism' At Mass For Lawyers

NEW YORK. — "Racism" was assailed as "the last fashion in human destiny" and as a practice "very little higher than the jungle," by the Rev Robert I. Gannon, S.J., President of Fordham University, in the sermon at the annual Red Mass, celebrated in the crypt of St. Andrew's Church Tuesday.

The Most Rev. Stephen J Donahue, Administrator of the Archdiocese of New York, presided at the service, which was a votive Mass of the Holy Ghost offered to invoke God's blessing on the administration of justice in America Over 100 members of the bar and bench, including many Protestants and Jews, attended.

Father Gannon said Racism holds that "man now is living for the good of the race whatever that means," a theory, he said, directly opposed to Catholic teachings because "it seems to imply that whenever one race is admitted by its own members to be essentially supreme, other races are not only to be despised but persecuted and annihilated."

Continuing he said that along with other racial "isms" modern man, "Fascism attacks the rights and liberties of the individual man." It makes man merely "a unit in a mass," he added, and reduces the mass from the rest of the world

Father Donahue and the Rt Rev Msgr William E Cashin, Editor of The Archdiocese, also spoke, the former on behalf of the late Cardinal Hayes, patron of the Catholic Lawyers Guild

ORTHODOX METROPOLITE IMPRISONED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW Bezbozhnik, official organ of the Godless, has announced the arrest of Alexander Tscheranovski Orthodox Metropolitan of Gomel in White Russia, and of several rabbis They are accused by the OGPU of opposing Communism. In the vicinity of Moscow there are said to be 18 of the former 400 churches still in existence and 60 priests only three of whom are under 40. Of this number of priests, 68 are cited as representing the ex-capitalistic class, three the bourgeois class, three the laboring and two the peasant classes

Communist Flag Absent As Mexicans Celebrate Holiday

MEXICO CITY Commenting on the National Holiday, El Universal refers to the fact that in the past it has been customary for delegations in the parade to carry the national flag of Mexico beside the red-black flag of Communism, but that this year this practice has been discontinued as well as the practice of the band playing one after the other the Mexican national hymn and the "International" of Communism.

The national flag was flown everywhere and the red flag was not to be seen.

MASS IS ANTIDOTE FOR WORLD EVILS Says Archbishop On Catholic Hour

NEW YORK (NC). — The Sacrifice of the Mass is the antidote for the evils of the day and "the infallible means of restoring religion, spirituality, and charity to a world that is gradually sinking back into the darkness of paganism and the night of despair," declared the Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans in his address over the "Catholic Hour," Sunday.

The "Catholic Hour" is broadcast over a network of the National Broadcasting Company through station WEAF, here, and is produced by the National Council of Catholic Men.

"The Mass is the antidote to materialism that has robbed humanity of peace and dulled its sense of justice," Archbishop Rummel said "the remedy against atheism that in defiance of reason and human experience would dethrone the very God and deprive man of his crown as king of creation."

Universality of Sacrifice Cited

Speaking on "Victim and High Priest Eternal," Archbishop Rummel cited "the universality of sacrifice in every form of religious worship," and said that "the sacrifice of Christ on the Cross stands out as the one sacrifice of the New Law, an infinitely perfect and complete act of homage offered to God an act of expiation which satisfies all the demands of divine justice for the sins of all men, an inexhaustible source of merit, a sublime prayer arising out of the bleeding broken Heart of the God-Man to plead effectively for all the graces of which to the end of time the children of men may stand in need."

"But the religion which Christ instituted nevertheless had need of an act of worship corresponding in perfection to the supreme perfection of that religion," he went on. "It had need of an act of prayer, which finds supreme expression in sacrifice; it had need of an external act, that would be expressive of the submission of man to the sovereign dominion of God; it had need of a means of perpetuating in some appreciable sensible form the Passion and Death of Christ, it had need of an external instrument whereby the merits of Christ's death upon the Cross, the fruits of the Redemption, can be forever applied to the souls of men.

"This need Christ provided most lovingly in the Holy Eucharist through the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. In the Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass we have therefore the daily and the only proper realization of the prophecy of Malachy 'From the rising of the sun even to the going down, my name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place there is sacrifice, and there is offered to my name a clean oblation' That oblation is the body and blood of Christ Himself, the High Priest Eternal according to the order of Melchisedech, functioning through the priests of His own institution, whom He designed to associate with Himself and empower in the solemn words 'Do this for a commemoration of me' (Lk XXII, 19)

Fulfillment of Prophecy

"The Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass is the daily 'Showing forth of the death of Christ' to remind us of His infinite love 'Greater love than this no man hath, that a man lay down his life for his friends' (Jn XV, 13) The Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass is the fulfillment of the prophecy of Christ made at the well of Jacob 'The hour cometh, and now is when the true adorers shall adore the Father in spirit and in Truth For the Father also seeketh such to adore Him' (Jn. IV, 23)

"These words would imply that the noblest kind of adoration is not the sacrifice that was confined to Mount Garizim among the Samaritans, nor the sacrifices offered in Jerusalem, but a new sacrifice that can be offered 'in every place, from the rising of the sun even to the going down,' the clean oblation foretold by Malachy, the sacrifice of the body and blood of the Saviour Himself after the mystical manner of the Mass, the sacrifice which commemorates the death of Christ in the separate consecration of the bread and wine This do ye for the commemoration of me For as often as you shall eat this bread, and drink the chalice you shall show the death of the Lord, until he come (I Cor XI, 24).

"Wonder not that the Church which has received this priceless heritage from Christ through the Apostles has never been its valiant exponents and defenders of the Eucharistic Sacrifice from the earliest days. Wonder not that the Church has taken pains to set this priceless jewel of the Eucharistic Sacrifice in the most dignified and inspiring setting of her liturgy with its artistically designed vestments, its absorbing sanctuary adornment, uplifting music, and the accurately defined and measured movement of her ministers Wonder not that the faithful find in the Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass the most gratifying source of spiritual satisfaction, the most refreshing fountain of divine grace and benediction Wonder not that kings and statesmen, scholars and artists, professional men and captains of industry find in the Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass no less spiritual delight than do the faithful of the more modest walks of life

"The Mass is everybody's opportunity to lay at the feet of the all good, all merciful God the longing for light, guidance and grace through the merits of the Crucified Saviour... Through the Eucharistic Sacrifice of the Mass may the name of the Lord of hosts become truly great among the Gentiles, the nations of the earth, and may it become effectively to all men the source of that true life that Christ came to give us more abundantly I am come that they may have life and may have it more abundantly (Jn. X, 10)."
