Novena Honors Pastors — Cooperatives Parish League — Off For Coast

"Unless we change man's way of thinking, we cannot bring about that era of Social Justice we all hope for. The co-operative movement affords the technique by which Christian teaching may be put into the economic sphere."

This was the message left with 300 members of the Social Justice Club of Rochester by Joseph H. Gervais, secretary of the Genesee Co-operative Society, Inc. of Rochester, speaking at the monthly meeting Monday evening in Old St. Mary's Church Hall.

Taking issue with Elliot Roosevelt's charges of anti-Semitism made against Father Coughlin, Bernard Florack, vice-president of the club, stated "Father Coughlin is not anti-Semitic. No Catholic can be. Father Coughlin has never attacked the Jews as a race. He has opposed only unscrupulous and atheistic Jews, and Gentiles as well, who are identified with Communism."

Common Good Aim

Quoting Pope Pius XI that "it is of the very essence of social justice to demand from each individual all that is necessary for the common good." Mr. Gervais explained how consumers' co-operation helped to bring this about.

He cited the story of 28 weavers in Rochdale, England, who in 1844 pooled their savings of $3,550 to begin a movement which in 1934 did a retail business of $1,000,000,000.

"In doing so" he said, "they have secured ownership for the workingmen of England thousands of retail stores, hundreds of warehouses and shipping centers, steam ships, tea plantations, grain elevators, furniture factories and a host of other productive enterprises. They have transformed what would be the profits of private business into their savings."

Build for Dignity of Many

"And yet, they have done nothing more than build a great business organization owned and run by the working people. The people of Nova Scotia have shown that they were wanting in one important matter. That matter is education. Nova Scotia uses co-operative enterprise as a means evolved by patient study of the causes which enslaved them in a numbing poverty. They are now building their co-operative stores, fish factories, credit unions and houses. But they are also building a society in which every man has dignity, in which every man is his brother's keeper. They have learned that their neighbor's troubles are their troubles. That they can give no one a bad deal without doing injury to society as a whole and hence to themselves. That there is no such thing as shrewd trading."

The speaker told of the parish credit unions organized in three of the city's parishes and of the growth of the Genesee Co-operative Society, pointing out that though their beginnings were small their progress has been steady.

"The credit unions," he said, "show that the people can conduct their own small banking affairs. They can accumulate their own cash reserves and use them for the aid of their less fortunate brethren. By lending money on the basis of what a man is instead of on what he owns, they are introducing into modern society a measure of value that has been lost since the middle ages."

Novena Is Dedicated To 3 Hornell Priests

LATE VERY REV. F. J. NAUGHTEN

Fr. Dissett Lists St. Ann Services

The solemn novena in honor of St. Ann was begun at St. Ann's Church Tuesday, July 18, at 7:30 P. M. It will continue until Wednesday, July 26, the Feast of St. Ann.

The Rev. John Healey, C.SS.R., one of the outstanding speakers in the Redemptorist Order, will deliver the sermon on the last four nights of the novena.

The entire novena this year, is dedicated to the memory of the Very Rev. Francis J. Naughten, M.R.V.F. and the Rev. John F. Farrell, M.R. and for the welfare of the Rev. Jeremiah A. Maley, M.R. who is at present seriously ill.

"These priests were known to all the people of the parish for their zeal and their works of zeal are still in evidence within the parish. All those who were devoted to them will be inspired to come and take advantage of this opportunity of showing their gratitude and respect to these well known and revered priests who labored untiringly in their behalf," the Rev. Andrew T. Dissett, administrator, said in announcing the novena as part of his plan to unite the parish spiritually.

Convenient Services

"Services are arranged so as not to interfere with any other engagements which those attending the novena may have, as the services for the first five nights will last a half hour. The last four nights which will include an interesting sermon by Father Healey, the services will be finished by 8:30 P. M.

A beautiful shrine in honor of St. Ann will be erected in the sanctuary where the people may show their veneration to this great saint.

"We have only to recall the many miraculous favors that have been granted through the intercessory prayers of St. Anne de Beaupre to inspire us to come and attend the novena in her honor and the same novena as will be held at the same time at the famous shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre in Canada," Father Dissett said. "All will be anxious to make the novena in order to place in the hands of St. Ann their spiritual and temporal wants of which we all stand so much in need.

Petitions Accepted

"Appropriate leaflets and novena books may be procured together with medals of St. Ann during the period of the novena. An appeal will be made to the congregation to join in singing the praises of St. Ann by congregational singing. The hymn that is nationwide known and which is sung by the congregation at the novena at the famous shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre will be sung each evening at this novena. Devotion will consist of hymns, prayers and solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. It is hoped and requested that each and every member of the congregation will receive Holy Communion the last four days of the Novena.

"Before the shrine will be placed a petition box in which the people may apply to St. Ann for their favors to be granted. These petitions will be placed near the main altar each evening during solemn benediction.

Rev. Andrew Dissett

Courtesy Hornell Tribune

"During the novena the people attending the services will have the privilege of coming to the altar after the services each evening to venerate the special relic of St. Ann which has been obtained especially for this novena."

The services during the period of the novena are as follows: Masses each weekday 5:45, 7 and 8 A. M. Holy Communion each day at 6:30 A. M.

Niagara Wins 4-2 Over St. Josephat's

Niagara Extension continued to display the class of the Catholic League last Sunday as they downed the high-riding St. Josephat's ten, 4 to 2. Chuck Schwartz was "on" for the collegians and he gave only two hits.

Fred McGinn's homer and doubles by Smith and Don Sullivan were the heavy blows for Niagara. All told they garnered nine hits off the slants of Johnny Barnes.

Cy Young and Barney Tuscano were the only ones able to solve the delivery of Schwartz, each getting one bingle.

Sammy Falzone pitched the St. Francis Xavier ten to a 3-1 triumph over the highly touted Mt. Carmels. The Aquinas pitcher gave up only two hits in the first inning and from that point on hung up six scoreless and hitless innings.

Chuck Vollo, Pellegrino and Phil Ferrara led the hitting attack with Vollo getting a circuit blow in the sixth inning.

Holy Rosary scored only once but that was enough to top the St. Augustine team, 4-2. After scoring four runs in the first inning on three hits, the Holy Rosary boys were held scoreless for the remainder of the game but the damage was done. Drojaraki and Norton each had two safeties for the winners while Marks tripled for the losers.

St. Margaret Mary's team knocked off the Immaculate team to the tune of 8-3 and 5-1. Joe Bender and Hastings led the attack in both games. Bauerschmidt homered and doubled in the first tilt to keep Immaculate in the fray while Jim Welch hit a double and Mosta knocked out two bingles to highlight the second game.
