Blackfriars To Bring Roland Hayes Feb. 25

Holy Name Union Joins In Planning Concert

Roland Hayes, brilliant Negro tenor, who thrilled a capacity audience at the Auditorium last season will return here for a concert on Tuesday, Feb. 25.

Mr. Hayes is singing at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Blackfriars who presented him last year. Working with the Blackfriars is the Diocesan Holy Name Union whose share of the proceeds will be used to purchase necessary religious articles for all Rochester men now in military service.

Word that the Negro tenor is coming back to the scene of his triumphs is expected to arouse a lively interest among music lovers of Rochester who time and time have extolled their keen appreciation of his artistry.

After an absence of some years, Mr. Hayes returned last year under the auspices of the Blackfriars and his concert proved one of the highlights of the concert season. Coupled with the audience's praise of his performance which was marred by the rendition of the varying Clarkson was without accompanist.

Prayer Books for Soldiers

In joining the Blackfriars in the sponsorship of the event, the Diocesan Holy Name Union is taking steps toward the realization of an important goal in the national Holy Name program: the placing of necessary religious articles in the hands of Catholics and enlisted men. These articles comprise prayer books, rosaries and scapulars.

Within the next few weeks a special committee will start its activities toward the sale of tickets to the performance. This committee, comprised of representative members of the laity, is being organized under the direction of the Rev. John S. Rabbitt.

The success of the Blackfriars in inducing Mr. Hayes to return for a concert this season has necessitated a revision of original plans calling for the presentation of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" during the month of February.

The directors of the Blackfriars have decided to defer this production to some future date and devote the entire resources of their organization to the success of the Hayes concert.

Legion of Mary Curia Names Visitors

Important business was transacted and officers were appointed at the fortnightly meeting of the Legion of Mary Curia of the Diocese of Rochester held Sunday afternoon in the St. Anthony Hall, Bishop Foley. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. [illegible] of the Regia, Curia President.

With the Rev. George J. Schmitt leading the opening prayer the Rosary was recited. A report of the work done during the year was presented by representatives of the Praesidia present. This includes various duties assigned by the Spiritual Director of each Praesidium.

Mrs. Ann Grant and Mrs. Nora Dorsey were chosen as visitors for the year. Their work will consist of visiting each Praesidium and inspecting the books of record and reporting at the Curia meeting the following month.

Spiritual Director of the diocesan Curia is the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Burns, pastor of Sacred Heart Cathedral, who announces he is glad to answer any questions relating to the Legion of Mary at any time.

The next Curia meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 13 at St. Monica's Church Hall at 8 o'clock.

Labor College Opens Jan. 20 —New Method

Roosevelt College, Catholic Labor College, will reopen Monday, Jan. 20, at St. Andrew's Seminary for the second semester at 8 P. M. A unique in the method of instruction, it is hoped, probably is an [illegible] Rev. George Vogt, director of the college.

Beginning Monday evening, the Rev. Francis B. Boyle of St. Bernard's Seminary and the Rev. Dr. Aaron I. Abell of Nazareth College will be the foundations of the principles of their respective fields of the history of the labor movement, respectively.

The following Monday the course will be devoted to teaching applications of the principles to open forum style by Edward R. Murphy of Niagara University faculty.

This method has been tried out elsewhere in the country, among the many labor colleges now being conducted under Catholic auspices and has been found more attractive and result producing, Father Vogt states.

Everybody is invited to attend the sessions which will be conducted for three weeks using the alternating method throughout the course.

Leisure Time Study Planned By Verein

The regular monthly meeting of the Rochester Branch of the Catholic Central Verein of America will take place Sunday, Jan. 19, in St. Joseph's Hall at 2:30 P. M.

At this meeting discussion of the social resolution on the national debt will be included. There will be discussion of the national resolution on leisure time. Contributions are welcome at the meetings of the branch.

The feature of the meeting will be a talk by Rev. Jacob Reuber on the national resolution on leisure time. This talk is peculiarly timely.

The delegates and members of the Rochester Branches of the Catholic Central Verein of America and the National Catholic Women's Union will attend a memorial mass for Father Staub at Holy Redeemer Church next Sunday at 11:00 o'clock.

The committee on nominations will report at the regular meeting.

There will be a card party in behalf of the Expansion Fund of the Central Bureau sponsored by the two branches. It will be held in St. Joseph's basement hall, Jan. 28 at 8:00 P. M.

At the meeting Sunday the delegates and members will be urged to purchase and read with care the recent pamphlet published by the Central Bureau entitled Corporate Democracy, by Rev. Bernard W. Dempsey, S. J. St. Louis Bureau. This pamphlet is a splendid summary of the corporative system and is the evidence of the Central Bureau will be able to do with the funds derived from the income on the Expansion Fund and the Endowment Fund.

Kaltenborn's Script In Congress Record

A [illegible] in the history of the United States Congress was set Jan. 11 when H. V. Kaltenborn's recent survey of world conditions, Rep. Sol Bloom, chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, said a script of the broadcast was "the first of its kind in the House so that it might be printed in the Congressional Record."

Kaltenborn's review of 1940 and his predictions of 1941 [illegible] was first heard over [illegible] Red Network Sunday, Dec. 29. It resulted in an immediate flood of requests for copies among them one from an organization anxious to use 200 transcripts to sub-committees located throughout the United States.

So insistent was the demand that the veteran commentator broke a long-standing rule against relinquishing his extemporaneous talks in printed form. He had his recorded remarks transcribed and sent to all persons who had asked for them.

Thanks for the speech, Rep. Bloom wired in return "and best wishes for a happier New Year to you and yours. May God spare you to continue the great work you are doing for America and civilization."

In his broadcast Kaltenborn expressed the belief that 1941 would see the beginning of the end of Fascism, predicted greater U. S. aid to Britain and anticipated several other points made by President Roosevelt in his Fireside Chat several hours later.

He added that Germany would probably start a blitzkrieg in the Balkans within a few weeks; could be expected to try an invasion of England before April, and would face the threat of revolution at home and throughout the occupied territory at the first sign of weakness.

"The military history of 3000 years shows two things," he concluded. "Men fight best when they are defending their homes and their native lands. Invading armies always lose strength with every mile they march beyond their own frontiers. . . .

"And so we have the right to believe that 1940 has marked the high tide of successful aggression, and has also marked the slow beginning of Fascist collapse."

From The Records

Records show that the first broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera occurred way back in 1910. Only a handful of people then owning crystal sets heard this opera broadcast which featured the tenor voice of Enrico Caruso.

Happiness No Accident Says John J. Anthony

Happiness is the right of every living being, but it must be won by some great effort, says John J. Anthony, director of radio original drama, Will Hour.

Happiness comes only as the result of "an idea" and the successful fitting together of "the world of work and of play," declares the Good Will Hour's mentor.

It is a fight, the importance of which is achieved only through "giving and taking" in the golden rule of giving at least as much as we receive, of doing unto others as "we would that they do unto us."

Singing Nurse

The nursing profession lost one of its gems when Shirley Sudder switched professions. Shirley, a close NBC songstress on the Tony Wons programs, heard Sundays at 4:45 P. M. EST and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:15 P. M. EST over WHAM. Now instead of soothing fevered brows she's soothing diners' ears.

'Gang Busters' Mark 5th Air Anniversary

Shaking by barking machine gun, wailing sirens and tramping feet, "Gang Busters" will mark its fifth anniversary on the air with the announcement of its 1941 Roll of Public Enemies over NBC-WHAM tonight (Jan. 11) from 9:00 to 9:30 P. M., EST.

"Gang Busters," whose clues have helped apprehend 160 desperate criminals, makes a feature of its public enemies' list on each anniversary program. Each name on the roll represents a criminal outlaw still at large.

Compilation of the annual roll is a twelve months job for a part of the "Gang Busters" staff. Cooperating with them are 700 law-enforcement bureaus and more than 100 specially selected trained field correspondents.

Of the thousands of criminals reported every year, "Gang Busters" concentrates on those most eagerly sought by the police. Toward the end of the year the field is greatly reduced. Tough candidates—but not tough enough—are thrown off the tentative list. There follows rechecking of records, long distance telephone calls to local authorities, and study of charges and indictments.

A final selection is made only 24 hours before the anniversary broadcast. The script that then grows out of the selections is carefully scrutinized by the program's attorneys, who also attend all rehearsals to see to it that the spoken word does not carry impressions not given by the written word.

"Gang Busters" are kept busy to the last minute with possible changes and additions. Only when the program actually goes on the air is its choice of unapprehended American criminals made known.
