Blessed Sacrament SOLDIERS' MASS FEB. 16

Blessed Sacrament Church will witness a greater crowd than usual next Sunday morning when several hundred catholic members of the 209th Anti-Aircraft Coast Artillery will assist at the 8 o'clock Mass. They will march in uniform from the Armory on Culver Road to church and then return to the Armory for breakfast following the Mass at which a number of them will receive Holy Communion. Before breakfast Father Connors will read a special message from His Excellency Bishop Kearney to the soldiers about to leave for camp.

Copies of the Guide to Catholic Records will be distributed. These are obtainable at the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind.

The Junior Sodality will hold its February meeting in the church parlors next Monday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock. The Apostolate Committee will sponsor a "White Elephant" sale to help raise funds for missionary work. Plans will also be made for a supper meeting on St. Patrick's Day.

The Senior Sodality's monthly meeting will take place next week also with a supper meeting on Wednesday evening, at 6:30.

The second in the series of three dances before Lent will be held in the Sheen Auditorium Friday evening, Feb. 16, from 8 to 12. Music by the Genesians will provide entertainment for those who attend. The Sodalists hope to see many of their friends in the Auditorium Friday evening.

The annual Rosary Society Supper in the church hall on Tuesday, February 4, was very successful. A large crowd enjoyed a fine meal and many stayed for the games and entertainment followed in the Auditorium. The committee wishes to thank all who helped make this affair a success.

tioned respect for authority and that love of home characteristic of the race from which he sprang. His early education was entrusted to the personal and progressive sisters of St. Joseph under the colorful patronage of St. Bridget in that little patch of green renowned as many of the older folks may recall with happy memories under the immortal name of Dublin.

The image of the Altar of the Most High drew him from the Medical Professions. His love of literary Scholarship caused him to teach its language in the University of Rochester. He never grew tired in praise for the giant stature of Bishop McQuaid from whom he received the command to feed of the Flock of Christ. He never forgot his friends. He saw the early pioneer days of St. Andrews Seminary. He was fortunate in having the association of Msgr. Frank Naughton of Horne. For a quarter of a century he roamed the lofty of Richmond the rolling fields of Chili Bay. He followed a very dear friend to the church of Holy Apostles and today we understand death more plainly as we are gathered in this sacred place dedicated to the Apostles. Hard indeed the grim reaper has paid his hand upon another stalwart christian.

TURN TO GOD

It is difficult to offer consolation to those we have left behind. There is a lump in the throat, a weight in the heart, a haze before the eyes. Friendship is put how false. Who else but God can help. There are certain things in this life that are beyond the power of man. If ever we need God it is now.

That which came to pass when the Saviour arrived at the gate of Naim has come to pass at this very hour. We carry out a dead man. What the Saviour did on that occasion, that we cannot do. We cannot raise this dead body. May the earth sit light on him. Happy the dead upon whose grave can be written, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord for their works shall follow them." His request—the companionship of marked. Ye who are my friends pause do not pass me by for the hand of the Lord has touched me. The voice of the powers.

[illegible] must return to the great [illegible] from whence he came. The souls of the struggled of God are looked in [illegible]. The busy hands are folded in peace. The feeting longer are the errands of mercy. The strife of life is over. Hushed are the winds. The waves are still. Like Simeon with the child in his arms, may this rest in peace in the Eternal Arms of the Light that never fails.

The Bill Of Rights

A Discussion and Study Outline

[illegible]

Further Provisions Of The Bill Of Rights

(THURSDAY)

The remaining provisions in the Bill of Rights were designed to prevent other abuses that infringed on the personal rights of the people. Some of these pertain to Personal Rights of Life and Liberty, others pertain to the Right of Property, while some are related to both.

To safeguard the rights of property, the Bill of Rights forbids that troops be quartered upon the people at their expense in time of peace. If the government deems peace [illegible] this necessary in time of war, then the manner and circumstances in which this is to take place must be determined by law.

Another guarantee of the right of property was that the people have the right to bear arms for the common good. Since it is necessary for the government to have an army for proper defense, it is also necessary for the states to have an armed police force and a state militia for order to preserve order in times of disturbance and to protect the people of the state from criminals. Occasionally the governor of a state calls out the state militia in time of flood or strikes or other disturbances to preserve order.

The Fourth Article protects the people from unreasonable searches in their homes. It was often an abuse on some of the European governments where a person's home was entered and searched without cause. "A Man's Home is His Castle and only when a search warrant has been obtained from public authority for a particular home and only when the person asking for the warrant has sworn that there is legitimate reason for search will a warrant be issued."

A third right of property guaranteed in the First Ten Amendments is that a man is entitled to a trial by jury in cases involving disputes if the sum involved is twenty dollars or more.

The Fifth and Sixth Articles deal with personal rights and were included to protect persons who are accused. One of the most important of these is that a person may not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. Others provide just means and methods for dealing with accused persons such as the right of trial by jury, that is that a man be confronted by the witnesses against him, [illegible] that he be not required to testify against himself. Another important guarantee is that a man be informed of the accusation brought against him, that is to protect persons from arrest without cause.

Other rights protecting both person and property provide that no one is to be [illegible] or put in jeopardy of life or limb, nor be compelled to testify against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, and that private property may not be taken for public use without just compensation.

The Fourteenth Article provides that no state may deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

The Fifteenth Article provides that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

The Eighteenth Article provides that the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Democracy Depends On Virtue and Religion As Well As On Education and Intelligence Of The People

(FRIDAY)

Only a people that is moral and religious can rule well. To be a good Catholic and to be a good American. Democracy rests on many, on the intelligence of our people and the amount of knowledge they have but even more on their virtue. Many Americans sorry to say, labor under the mistaken impression that education of all the people is the only essential for a good democracy.

To be sure education of the people is a major requirement of good government. But in addition it is most essential to have an enlightened people who can understand the processes of democracy and who can vote intelligently, who select such leaders in government who will make just and wise laws. But it is just as important that citizens be virtuous in order to know and appreciate that what is right and what is love that which is moral and good. This we come only from the man who has a religious nature.

This is why George Washington said that "it was impossible to govern rightly without God and religion." Unless the people are religious. That is why we Catholics maintain our parochial schools in order to give Catholic children a religious education even though the parents are taxed to support the expense of schools.

We believe that society is [illegible] what it ought to be, that a person will do what is right. For the nation believes that "Knowledge is Power" only when it is found in a moral and religious-minded citizen. We believe that the only true education is Christian Education. Only those who strive to fulfill the obligations of Christians in their student years to have them [illegible] God and religion [illegible] as a Christian should to have them [illegible] as Christian citizens and have them [illegible] in American democratic society.

Our duties and obligations as citizens

It is as important to consider our duties as citizens as it is to consider our rights. While it is true that the Constitution provides that the rights of our citizenship may not be denied or abridged, we must remember that the authority [illegible] the right of [illegible] and exercising [illegible] for the general welfare comes through the people from God. All authority comes from God. We are therefore bound to abide them in all those things that are not contrary to the law of God. With every right that we enjoy goes the obligation of performing a duty. One of the first duties of a good citizen is to respect the rights of his neighbor.

To believe that every [illegible] is made in the image and likeness of God means that you must respect his individual liberties and rights you must be devoted to his personal liberty. You will stand ever ready to liberate him from the oppression of others you will try to create conditions which will help him to work out his own happiness. But you will never attempt to do these things by destroying his dignity as a son of God. When you overpower him by force and do not convince him by persuasion, you deny his free and You then show yourself not only as an American but as anti man."

Very often we are called upon in life to give voluntarily of our services for the common good of all the people of the community or the nation. We have a social responsibility as well as an individual responsibility. We lead a community life as well as an individual life. Sometimes we are asked to make greater sacrifices, even to the point of voluntarily giving up some of our rights for the good of all. Dictators claim that the state has the right to compel and force the people that they have no rights. But in a democracy it is always recognized that the people have rights even though they may voluntarily restrict them at times for the good of the nation. Hence the necessity that the people of a democracy be a religious and virtuous people so that everyone will respect his neighbor's rights and be willing to make sacrifices for the good of all both in time of peace and in time of war.

Thus the Catholic citizen should always recognize that it is the duty of the strong to help the weak, and that it is also a wrong against God for a man to injure or to crush his neighbor to bring him in any way of his life or liberty or his property. He recognizes that the working man must be loyal to his employer returning a reasonable amount of work for his wages and employing peaceful means in dealing with his employer. On the other hand the man of wealth must share it with the poor and alleviate the evils that arise from poverty. The owner of an industry must see that the rights of the laboring man are respected and that he receive a just wage and proper working conditions.

St. Stephen's (Geneva) P.T.A. PLANS MEETING

GENEVA. A special meeting of St. Stephen's Parent Teachers Association will be held on Feb. 21 with the Rev. Robert Finnegan of Rochester as speaker. It was announced at a meeting held Feb. 7.

A special program on the subject of Child Health interested the members at the Feb. 7 meeting in the parish house. Mrs. J. A. Carroll presided.

Mrs. Roche [illegible] health nurse discussed health facilities offered by the city. She spoke particularly of the clinics and of the increase in attendance which is noted on each date. She also reviewed health facilities offered by the state and county as well as the city.

The next speaker was Miss Mary Gallagher school nurse who described the program that is being carried out in the schools. She referred to the periodic examinations including the eye and ear tests conducted for the children and asked parents to pay particular attention to the health reports sent out to them when any defects are noted.

Three interesting sound movies were shown by Miss Emily Pfaintz executive secretary of the Ontario County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health.

Immaculate (Ithaca) PARISH MOURNS NUN

ITHACA. Sister Mary Agatha Cleary, 74, a member of the Sisters of St. Joseph, died shortly after 8 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 8, at the Immaculate Conception Convent, 329 W. Buffalo Street. She had been seriously ill approximately a week of a heart condition.

Sister Agatha, a native of Lima, was in the 50th year of her religious life. After teaching at various parochial schools elsewhere in the diocese of Rochester, she came to Ithaca 26 years ago to teach in the Immaculate Conception School. She has not been active for the past several years. (Account of funeral will be found on Page 5.)

Many of Sisters loved friends, some of them pupils she taught 26 years ago, paid tribute to her at the Ithaca Convent Sunday and Monday morning where she laid in state. A requiem High Mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock on Monday in the Immaculate Conception Church at Ithaca, which all members and children of the Parish attended.

The Rev. Paul J. Cuddy conducted a prayer service at 1:15 p. m. on Monday at the Convent after which her body was taken to the Nazareth Convent in Pittsford.

It may be noted that it was always Sister's wish to have one of her pupils succeed her in her religious life. Last July 5, 1940, her wish was granted when Sister M. Agatha Marie Corgel of Ithaca took her habit.

"The Immaculata," a monthly newspaper issued by the Young Ladies Sodality of Ithaca, N. Y., paid Sister Mary Agatha the following tribute:

Let us pause for a few moments here and pay tribute to our beloved Sister Mary Agatha Cleary who died shortly after 8 o'clock at the Convent last Saturday night. Sister was in the 50th year of her holy life and spent 26 years of them with us, her children.

Dear Sister,
Since you have closed your weary eyes to this dirty world
And are trudging on your long journey Home
Stop by the wayside and pick a few lilies for the loved ones you've left behind.
And scatter them along that sacred path so that we too
May know the way to our Father's House.
Good night dear Sister!
Mary A. Yengo

Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord
And let perpetual light shine upon her.

Men Plan Breakfast

ITHACA. Rev. Charles J. Mahoney, assistant superintendent of Catholic schools, formerly of Rochester, will give a talk at the annual communion breakfast for men of the parish immediately after the 7 o'clock Mass Sunday morning, Feb. 16. The breakfast will be held at the Venza Hotel.

All men and older boys of the parish are urged to take this occasion to prepare themselves for the last approaching Lenten season by going to Confession Saturday night, receiving Holy Communion at Mass Sunday morning and attending the breakfast and short program immediately thereafter.

John Geherin, member of the Nocturnal Adoration Society, is Chairman.

Valentine "Icicle Thaw"

ITHACA. The Young Ladies Sodality of the Church of the Immaculate Conception held their monthly business meeting last Tuesday evening after the Novena devotions at 8 o'clock in Parish Hall.

Members of the sodality will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 9 o'clock Mass.

The monthly issue of the Sodality newspaper "The Immaculata" was distributed among the members and complimentary copies to different Army camps and alumni members were mailed out.

Plans for the St. Valentine's Icicle Thaw were completed. The drawing is to be held in Parish Hall next Tuesday night, Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock under the chairmanship of Miss M. A. Yengo, assisted by Miss Catherine Kane, Chairman of the Social Life Committee and members of both the Publicity and Social Life Committees. Admission to the party will be by little "heart" tickets. Icicles, tinsels and hearts will be used throughout the Hall as the setting. A "real" fashion show with several skits will be the highlights of the evening.
