Franciscans Return To Florida Mission

JENSEN, FLA.—The [illegible] Order of Friars Minor [illegible] to a new mission [illegible] among the Indians [illegible] years ago. But this time they come to minister not to Indians but to the Colored population of this city.

The Rev. Clement Mart, O.F.M. has been appointed pastor of St. Antonius Church in the heart of a large colored district. He formerly was pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Chicago.

Three centuries ago the Franciscans made many converts among the Indians. They were driven out by the coming of the English in 1763.

Newly Transformed Altar, Made Possible By Miss McNamara's Gift, Dedicated In Corning

CORNING—At an impressive ceremony the beautifully transformed altar in St. Vincent de Paul's Church was formally dedicated Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock Mass. The work of transforming the altar was made possible by the generosity of Miss Elizabeth A. McNamara of 14 East Fourth Street who gave the original altar to the church when it was opened over 75 years ago under the pastorate of the Rev. John A. Conway, now of Auburn.

Present for the ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Griffin, V.F., Pastor Emeritus of St. Mary's Church. The Dedicatory Sermon was preached by the Rev. John A. Conway, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Designed in accordance with the rubrics of liturgical forms of the Catholic Church, the whole plan of the work just completed is described as presenting a fine effect both from an ecclesiastical and artistic point of view. In keeping with the liturgical movement in the church the elaborate wooden reredos forming the back of the old altar above the table has been removed and a dossal of twill-like green cloth has been hung in its place. Figured red and gold graveyes border each side of the [illegible] as panels. The altar cross, six candlesticks at large and [illegible] polychromed canonical [illegible] is suspended in the center of the dossal.

Altar Table Brought Out

With the removal of the reredos and attendant changes the table of the altar is brought out more prominently suggesting the institution of the Holy Eucharist both as a sacrifice and as a sacrament on the table of the Last Supper in the upper room in Jerusalem by Christ on the night before He died.

A baldachino or tester or canopy has been suspended over the altar thus being a sign that the altar is a throne upon which the King of Kings dwells. The tabernacle which remains tent is free-standing and entirely covered by a white silk veil made by Sisters at St. Vincent de Paul's Convent. The veil reminds worshippers of the Tabernacle of the Temple of Solomon upon the mercy-seat of which the presence of the Divine Majesty rested between the Cherubims. The veil on the tabernacle points to the Real Presence.

Brass Vases Donated

On either side of the altar is an ambulatory screen surmounted by two gold angels, which are copies of an angel figure in the Cathedral of Bruges, Belgium. The screen consists of decorative wood panels matching the table of the altar. The statues of St. Vincent de Paul and of St. Therese the Little Flower, which formerly stood on pedestals, have been placed on the walls on either side of the sanctuary.

Four brass vases given by a parishioner in memory of her deceased husband were used on the altar Sunday.

After the ceremonies the Rev. Joseph V. Guilfoy, pastor of St. Vincent's, entertained the donor of the altar, Miss McNamara, and the visiting Catholic clergy at dinner. The Rev. Joseph F. McCarthy is assistant pastor.

Magazine Drive Spurred By Holy Name Societies

GENEVA—The Holy Name Societies of St. Francis de Sales and St. Stephens parishes have combined to advance the Bishop's campaign for Decent Literature in this city.

To plan the campaign here a joint meeting was held on Feb. [illegible] at Hotel Seneca and another meeting on Sunday at St. Stephens parish house.

Presidents of both organizations and representatives of the groups were present at the Sunday meeting to formulate plans for the drive which is being held in conjunction with units throughout the diocese directed by the Rev. Alphonsus P. [illegible] of Sacred Heart Pro-Cathedral, Rochester, who is diocesan director.

Easter resolutions came to the fore for the dinner meeting at Tuscarora and spoke on the progress being made throughout the diocese of the campaign. He is speaking every Sunday on Stations WHAM at 1:30 P.M. and again at 4:30 P.M.

The Rev. William H. McPadden, pastor of St. Stephens Church presided at the dinner. The Rev. William J. Olhaver of St. Francis de Sales Church introduced the speaker.

Up-Geneva Holy Name Societies are aiming at their workers for an intensive campaign.

Says Without Going

The president and disappointed [illegible] was staying too long. He was [illegible] of his achievements and his prospects. He felt sure that the farm would have to make him manager within a year. You know he said with easy confidence there are some things that just go without saying.

"We said the young lady in question and there are others that go without saying."

A parochial school dance was held in the school auditorium Feb. [illegible] by the High School Sodalists. The auditorium decorated in red and white and bar was not held provided at attractive meeting for the dance. An amateur program provided the feature of the evening.

Describes Puerto Rican Life

AUBURN—The Rev. Ralph Teagle of Corpus Christi Church, Auburn, and a graduate of St. Mary's School, told of missionary needs in Puerto Rico in delivering a talk on the Island at the annual council dinner supper of the Sodalities of St. Mary's Church in Lyceum Hall, Feb. 4.

Brief talks were given by the Rev. Joseph M. Namara and the Rev. Leslie Whalen, moderator. Miss Elizabeth Russell, president of the Auburn Sodality Union was a guest.

Miss Frances Miskell of the Junior Sodality and Miss Marie Barry of the Senior Sodality were toastmaster. They were assisted by the Misses Virginia McCarthy, Frances Herbert, Joan Sullivan, Patricia Robinson, Anne Simmons, Therese Dolan, Eileen Tracey, Jean Mitchell, Dorothy Jackson, Adelaide Jones, Dorothy Fitzgerald, Marjorie Barrett and Gertrude Cora.

Father Neagle said in part:

"Two years ago this month I had the privilege of visiting Puerto Rico which is 1400 miles from New York City. As I approached the harbor of San Juan I noticed one thing which still stands out vividly in my mind and that is that on one side of the harbor was civilization at its very best and on the other the native element, for in Puerto Rico you are very wealthy or exceedingly poor.

"In a little town 20 miles from Puerto Rico there is an order of the girls to do needlework. These girls work for a sum of money adn these outgoing. This is one of the most charitable acts seen in Puerto Rico for these girls would be home or perhaps only for the nuns who furnish not only a means of livelihood for them but instruction in the faith. A girl who enters a missionary order and is sent to Puerto Rico never returns to this country unless her health fails. She must learn to speak Spanish for that is the language of the country.

"Through a friend of mine a member of the Redemptorist Order I visited the Redemptorist House in Puerto Rico a large one on the order of an apartment house. In this house there lived a pastor and 10 young priests. These priests are sent to Puerto Rico for a period of at least three years. They must become acquainted to the Spanish people for the only time when they can speak English is at home. These priests must become good horsemen for their sick calls often take them far out into the woods where a car cannot pass for the roads in Puerto Rico are in a very bad condition. Everything in Puerto Rico is covered with mosquito netting for the mosquitos are carriers of Malaria fever. Food is shipped there from the United States and bread must be eaten within 24 hours as a precaution.

"The life of a missionary in Puerto Rico is very difficult for the people among whom they work are very poor in every sense."
