College Exhibits Paintings Of Catholic Artist Here

Six water color paintings by Jan J. Grybos, 107E College Ave., St. Casimir's parish, are now on display in the Elmira College coffee shop, in connection with the college "living with art" education program, which is designed to bring the student into every day contact with work by contemporary artists. The exhibit will last two weeks. Some of the paintings were on display last summer as a part of the art show given by the Elmira Art Club, which has aroused so much interest locally. Mr. Grybos is a charter member of the Art Club, and his work has been on display yearly at the Arnot Art Gallery here since 1923, when the practice of showing contemporary Elmira art was started.

Many of his landscapes depict local scenes, five of those on exhibit were painted in the vicinity of Elmira. "The Old Mill," "Snow Drifts" scene on a highway near Millerton, Pa., "Red Barns," "From Mt. Zion," and "Cheshuqua Inn." "The Headlands" is an ocean scene done in Rockport, Mass. Mr. Grybos has also done scenes at Bar Harbor, Me., the Adirondacks, Gloucester, Mass., and Pennsylvania. His work has been exhibited in the Rochester Memorial Gallery, Auburn Museum, and Los Angeles Museum, besides the Arnot Art Gallery.

Although landscapes in water color are his favorite medium, Mr. Grybos has also done pastels and oil paintings, claywork and ceramics. He has been painting since 1920, having started in his teens.

He is a designer at the American-La France-Foamite Corp. Mr. Grybos is a member of the Recreation Club at St. Casimir's Church.

Daniel J. Sullivan, Arctic League Founder Dies At Age 56

Daniel J. Sullivan, 56, of 411 E. Washington Ave., SS. Peter and Paul's parish, well known in Elmira as one of the founders of the Arctic League, died of a heart attack at his home on Sunday, Apr. 25, at 8 P. M.

Mr. Sullivan was a trustee of SS. Peter and Paul's Church and a member of the Holy Name Society of that church. He belonged to the Elmira Reformatory Board of Visitors and was a Second Ward Democrat committeeman for several years. He was a member of the Elmira Elks Lodge and Elmira Council, Knights of Columbus.

The story of his discovery of a homeless boy, whom he took to Lagonegro's cigar store on Lake St., where kindly Elmira business men befriended him, gave him food, clothing, medical attention, and a job, thus starting the permanent organization now known as the Arctic League, is one well-known to Elmirans. The League has functioned for thirty years, with its drive for funds at the Christmas season, the time when that first act of kindness was done, now a part of Elmira traditions. Thousands of Chemung County children have benefitted by its action.

Mr. Sullivan has been in the insurance business for about 28 years. He was born and received his early education in Elmira schools, and later attended the Mercersburg, Pa., Academy. He was employed by the City of New York when the new water system was constructed, and in the Elmira City Engineer's office. For a time he was an official of the Arctic League baseball team.

He is survived by his wife, Agnes; his sister, E. Maude; daughter, Toni, of Elmira; three brothers, William H., Skaneateles, John H. and Charles G. of Elmira. The funeral Mass was celebrated at 9 A. M. on Wednesday, Apr. 28, at SS. Peter and Paul's Church.

War Adds Two Mass Centers In England

LONDON.—War conditions have brought two more Mass centers into existence.

The cancellation of the bus service which used to take Polperro, Cornwall, Catholics to Sclerder Abbey, has caused Mass to be said in Polperro itself. A large garage is used there.

The village school is the new Mass center at Hutton Bushel, near Scarborough, and Mass is said there chiefly for those who have left the cities for safety.

Jesuit Superior

Chicago.—The Very Rev. Leo D. Sullivan, S.J., former rector of West Baden College, Ind., has been named Provincial Superior of the Chicago Province of the Society of Jesus. He succeeds the Very Rev. William M. Magee, S.J., who formerly was president of Marquette and John Carroll universities.
