

The Rev. A. Antoine of Refugio, Tex., writes: As far as I am able to judge, I think Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic is a perfect success, for any one who suffered from a most painful nervousness as I did, I feel now like myself again after taking the Tonic.

A Strong Proof.

ORILLIA, ONT., CANADA, June, '88. I was first attacked by epilepsy in November 1878; residing in New York I consulted the best physicians, but they could only arrest the disease, the moment they told me there was no cure for it—I was compelled to give up my occupation and return to Canada, in 1878; since then I tried innumerable remedies and consulted some of the best physicians, but nothing benefited me until I began to use Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic in September '88, since then I had not a single attack.

Subscription Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman, Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the United States Court on this subject, and gives as the result of his investigations the following:

- 1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their paper, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the post-office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have sent their bills and ordered them discontinued.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. If a subscriber receives the paper and does not pay for it, he is liable for the same as if he had taken it.

The Wise Muskrat.

The muskrat has added his prediction to those already made concerning a hard winter. The Indians attach more importance to the muskrat sign than to any other. They measure the probabilities of the winter by the size of the muskrat's hut. If he builds low it means an open winter. If his house is over two feet high it means a severity of winter weather in proportion to the height. The muskrat is putting up a seven story building this season.—St. Paul Globe.

Comfort for the Marine.

There are brighter prospects in view for the marine. He is not only to have better sleeping accommodations, better food and other improvements in his uniform, but his ration, the bone of contention for many years, is to be improved and increased, and orders have been given to that effect by the secretary of the navy.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Expensive Question.

Maldon—What's that? A gas bill for $10.12? Collector—Yes, sir. "But the house has been shut up and my family has been at it all summer." You neglected to turn the meter. That's your lookout.—Munich Weekly.

Gems Going Up. The passage of the silver bill in this country has affected the jewelry trade in more than one particular. The price of sterling tableware has already been increased, and now advices from Europe indicate that, owing to the new law, the increase in the value of the Indian rupee has caused the prices of pearls and fancy stones to rise to unprecedented figures. A well known importer of colored stones in explaining the situation said to a reporter:

"As you probably know, the money standard in India is the silver rupee. Last February this coin was worth about 1s. 4d. in English money, or about 34 cents in United States money. About that date, in anticipation of the new law in the United States, the rupee began to advance in value, until today it is worth 1s. 10d., or 45 cents. All colored gems and pearls that are exported from India to England to sell on commission are paid for in Indian exchange, and naturally the goods that are at present for sale on the other side will have to bring from 20 to 25 per cent. more in order to net their value in rupees.

"There are some lots of Indian cut goods on hand, however, which were received before the advance, and on which advances at the old rate of exchange were made. These are still purchasable at the old price. The price of colored stones has been gradually increasing for years, and dealers will feel the new rise keenly. An offer which I made on one lot of goods was refused. The owner had declined an offer of ten per cent. less several months ago, and he apparently now values his gems at more than ten per cent. above their former price.

"During the next few months we may expect a decided advance in the price of pearls, rubies and emeralds. Sapphires will probably be less affected, as of late their sale has been limited, and dealers will naturally sell old stock at the usual prices as long as they yield a profit."—Jewelers' Weekly.

His Mind Unsettled by a Dog Bite.

A curious case presented itself at the Pasteur institute Wednesday in the person of a man who had received a slight bite on the little finger of his left hand. The hand and forearm swelled to enormous proportions and caused the man excruciating pain. The hydrophobia question has been agitated so much lately that the man at once concluded that he was becoming a victim of the dread malady. Tuesday night, while he and his wife were peacefully sleeping, he suddenly awoke and almost bit a piece out of her neck. This circumstance as much as anything else put the man in a distressing state of mind. He determined to apply for admission to the Pasteur institute.

While waiting in the water his mind suddenly became a blank, his face assumed a ghastly hue, and the eyes stuck out in their sockets to much more than their normal size. He talked wildly, and could remember nothing that had happened. All at once he came out of his strange condition and talked naturally. He said he remembered losing his senses, but further than that he knew nothing. The dog that bit him is a common cur and is not mad, but the physicians at the institute think that the matter has preyed so forcibly upon the man's mind that it has temporarily unsettled him.—New York Tribune.

The Tuxedo Coat Astonishes Londoners.

Although the new evening coat made its appearance in several directions during last season, it has not met with such a measure of support as to elevate it from a fad into a fashion. It is with some surprise, therefore, that Mr. Charles Warner is seen to wear one of these strange garments in the drawing room scene in "A Million of Money." Does this betoken a boom in coats? Are we to cut off our tails and become gentlemanly in the habit? That is what a general wearing of the new coat means. It is merely the old coat curtailed. The upper front of the coat is cut in just the same shape as the swallowtail, so as to show the utmost expanse of snowy shirt bosom. At the part where the tails commence the coat ceases. It is actually nothing more than a glorified copy of one of the ordinary morning jackets worn for so many years.—London Court Journal.

Equinoctial Myth.

There is no line storm. Such direct assertion requires a certain tenacity within the confines of New England, since popular faith in the equinoctial is strong hereabout, and even with difficulty be dissuaded from such a choice tradition, but the fact remains that the regulation gale supposed to be due, in these parts Sept. 21 has no more connection with solar transits at the equator than with the passage of anything else.

Japan is not a pleasant country for editors. A Japanese editor has just been sentenced to four years' imprisonment for libeling Jimmu, an emperor who lived 2,500 years ago.
