My boy, 13 years old, was so affected by it, that he could not go to school for 3 years. Two bottles of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic restored his natural health, and he is now attending school again.

The Keenest Expectation is Surpassed!

MURPHYSBORO, Jackson Co., Ill., Nov. '90.
So writes the Rev. K. Schanarts of above place, I had heard of the wonderful cures of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic while I was a student and during my professional calling I had opportunity to convince myself of the reliability of the Remedy, and my keenest expectations were surpassed as a girl 13 years of age was cured from the epilepsy by the use of six bottles of the Tonic.

If the members of the various branches of the C. M. B. A. and of the several Catholic societies, will send to the JOURNAL any items of interest, they will be cheerfully published.

It is whispered about that _____ is likely to be the next president of Branch 81.

Rochester Council, No. 207, C. B. L., still keeps on the even tenor of its way and is steadily progressing.

We learn from our Mt. Morris correspondent that four new members were admitted to Branch 94, at that place, last week. The Branch has cosy quarters and is in a prosperous condition.

Annual inspection and dress of the Knights of St. George Monday evening at Central inspection was held by Col. _____ and staff of the R. C. Society presented a most appearance in their new movements executed by Capt. H. F. _____ in praise of all present. A large number of the society were present. Lives with dancing.

It is whispered about that the general _____ to the Supreme Council thinks he has Scandinavian blood in his veins.

At last Monday evening's meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Association at Cathedral hall, a spirited debate took place on the question:

RESOLVED—That a protective tariff, as opposed to a tariff for revenue only, is the best policy for the United States.

On the affirmative side were Rev. J. E. Hartley, president of the association, Francis O'Connor and John Hughes, while the negative side of the question was championed by Rev. Dr. E. J. Hanna and Jas. L. Whalen. Both sides presented strong proofs and data to support their view, but the verdict was awarded to the negative. It is rumored there will be a debate shortly on the question, "Resolved, that marriage is a failure." If the information prove true, a lively discussion is assured.

Malachy Garvey died in Buffalo Monday. The deceased was a young man 26 years old and possessed of fine personal qualities that endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. He was a young man of unblemished character. Though snatched away by death in the vigor of youth, when life is pleasant, and connection with friends hard to sever, he departed this life resigned to the will of God, whom he had faithfully served during his short life, and fortified by the last Sacraments. Besides his father and mother, he leaves a brother, James, and four sisters to mourn his death. He was a member of Branch 88, C. M. B. A., and his is the first veldt that death has caused in the Branch. Naturally his brother members feel a deep sense of regret at his early demise.

He was also a subscriber to the JOURNAL, and his was among the first names on our list. The remains were brought to this city and the funeral was held Wednesday from his late residence, No. 177 Brown street, at 9 a. m. and at 9:30 a. m. from the Cathedral. A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. J. P. Kiernan, assisted by Father Hartley and Rev. Dr. Hanna. May his soul rest in peace.

Macedon.

Anniversary Mass was celebrated at 9:30 a. m. Friday for T. C. McGarry at St. Patrick's church. Miss Mary Holmes of Auburn is visiting her brother, Rev. M. A. F. Holmes. Mrs. Geo. Brock, of LeRoy, paid a visit to her father, P. McGarry, last week. Miss Mary McGarry, of Fairport was the guest of her mother last week. John McGreal, of Rochester, called on friends here Tuesday. The dance held for the benefit of Edward Welch Tuesday netted $18.

At the Academy.

"A Clean Sweep" is a Comedy written to introduce Mr. Mason and his company of Comedians, Vocalists, and Dancers. It was written for laughing purposes only and that being its claim the press and public unapologetically agree that it succeeds. The dancing elephant, Dizzy, is a funny feature in the play. The fun never ceases until the final doop of the last curtain.

Names:

There is a certain amount of satisfaction perhaps in giving a whimsical name to a pet animal, but such names often require so much explanation that they become a burden. A Boston lady lately related this little story of her cat:

"We had a kitten who had a marvelous talent for escaping from all kinds of perils. He was shut up in an oven by a heedless servant and left there overnight, but although it seemed that he must be baked to a crisp, he came out in the morning none the worse for the fiery ordeal."

"He was run over by a railroad train, but crouched close to the ground and escaped injury. He received a charge of bird shot one day while he was himself hunting birds in the woods, but we picked out as many of the shot as we could, and he began at once to recover and soon was all right again."

"Finally he was put into a bag with a stone and thrown into a river, but he managed to find a small hole in one corner of the bag, and enlarged it so that he was able to get out. Then he swam ashore and came home."

"In view of these marvelous escapes we decided to keep the cat, and gave him the name of Plutarch, because he had so many lives."

The name was a happy one, and yet, as the story of Plutarch's adventures had to be told each time his name was mentioned to a new acquaintance, his owners wished at last that they had named him plain Tom or Dick."

Similar explanations were necessary on the part of the man who named his two canaries Wheeler and Wilson, "because neither was a Singer."—Youth's Companion.

Great Range in Price of China.

In English ware the Doulton ranges in price from $10 for a set of 125 pieces to $125 for one dozen plates. There is a difference in the quality of the ware as well as in the decoration. The cheaper sets, from $10 to $30 each, are porcelain; the finer and more expensive are china. The porcelain is decorated by stamping or painting the colors on, and little or no gold is used. All the fine English and French chinas show a great deal of dull or burnished gold in the decoration. It wears better than bright gold and has a softer effect. All the gold used for this purpose is fourteen or sixteen carat, and its cost is a heavy item in the price of the ware.

Minton china, also English, is very beautiful. Sixty-five dollars will buy one dozen handsome plates. Royal Worcester is so expensive that only the favored few can possess it.

To those who cannot pay fancy prices, perhaps the Doulton offers greater possibilities, as much of it is what the dealers call open stock and the entire set need not be purchased. Dessert and luncheon plates, decorated in blue and gold and of different designs, are $11 a dozen.—New York Telegram.
