Spread Of Church Singing Urged By Vatican Office

By G. R. BRUNST

Vatican City — (NC)— Catholics in all countries of the world should sing in their churches and the Liturgical chant and popular hymns should be taught in all Catholic schools during the entire course of study.

These are the instructions contained in a directive issued by the Sacred Congregation of Seminaries and Universities, issued in connection with opening today of the International Congress of Sacred Music here.

"PERHAPS NEVER before has Sacred Music been as important for the Christian restoration of society as in our days," the statement says.

The directive was sent to Msgr. Igino Anglesi, president of the Pontifical Institute of Sacred Music, who is also president of the congress. It was signed by His Eminence Giuseppe Cardinal Pizzardo, Prefect of the Congregation.

About 600 musical scholars from all parts of the world, including the United States and Canada, are attending the six-day congress, on whose program there are lectures, organ recitals and concerts by the Sistine Choir under the direction of Msgr. Lorenzo Perosi and the Lateran Choir. Speakers include the Rev. John Selner, of Baltimore, who will discuss "Sacred Music and Musical Art."

THE PURPOSE of the congress is said to be "the establishment of fraternal union among Catholic musicians and differences of opinion regarding Sacred Music must become a source of study and emulation, not a cause of division."

The Congregation's directive declares it desirable that to stimulate singing in churches, each country have its own popular religious songs collected in hymnals, selected in accordance with sound liturgical criteria. Where financial difficulties hinder the maintenance of "schola cantorum," the Congregation recommends choirs of volunteers and also urges the preserving of the Catholic tradition of boys' choirs.

Diocesan and inter-diocesan schools for musical training of the laity are declared desirable. All Catholics, Bishops and priests are held morally obliged to contribute toward the maintenance and development of the Pontifical Institute of Sacred Music as "the highest center for musicians of the Church." The directive also urges a careful study of the music of the Oriental Church.

GIFT FOR LEPROSARIUMS

Sister Peter Mary checks off equipment donated for two British East Africa leper colonies operated by Franciscan nuns under her direction. Paul Eiffler (left), Union City, N. J., contractor, interested the North Hudson Kiwanis Club in aiding the leprosariums after hearing a broadcast by Frank Edwards (right), MBS commentator. (NC Pictures)

Kiwanis' Aid For Lepers Is Shocking To Africa Lions

Union City, N. J. —(NC)— The North Hudson Kiwanis Club is putting one over on the Lions in this story.

Not their fellow businessmen's organization, but the lions and tigers that have been carrying off patients in the night from two leprosariums in British East Africa. The leprosariums are operated by the Franciscan Sisters.

Thanks to an electrical contractor here, a Mutual Broadcasting Company commentator and the Kiwanians, the Sisters will soon get generating equipment and enough wire to enclose both leper colonies with an electrically-charged fence. Any marauding wild beasts will be in for a shock.

Mutual commentator Frank Edwards reported April 25 on the visit to the U. S. of Sister Peter Mary, who directs the leper colonies. Sister Peter Mary was on her first visit home in 12 years from Jinga and Balumba, 800 miles inland from the Africa coast and deep within the jungle.

PAUL EIFFLER, head of an electrical contracting firm here, heard the broadcast and interested the Kiwanians in Sister Peter Mary's needs for the two leprosariums. The Kiwanis group got busy and rounded up $15,000 of electrical equipment for the colonies, including a refrigerator in which to store penicillin and water pumps. They also collected $250 to pay overland shipping costs.

When Sister Peter Mary visited Mr. Eiffler's ship to see the equipment before it was crated for shipment, she mentioned that three-foot-deep moats around the leper colonies don't prevent wild beasts from leaping into the compound at night and dragging off patients. That's when the Kiwanians added the wire fencing to their list of materials.

After the electric fence goes up the Sisters will really have that jungle jumping.

Movie Made of Passion Play Which Ran 3 Months in India

Bombay, India — (NC) — A motion picture version of the five-hour Passion Play of Bombay, which has concluded its three-month run, has been edited and cut to fit an hour and a half showing.

The play, patterned after the famous one of Oberammergau, was written by the Rev. Vincent Gimenez, S.J., and produced and directed by the Rev. Francis A. Busse, S.J., national director for all Sodalities in India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon. Stage director was the Rev. Sebastian Borret, S.J., principal of St. Xavier's High School here.

Nearly 300 were in the cast and the entire personnel for the dramatic play were selected from members of the Sodality of St. Xavier in Bombay. Stage and settings were located on the grounds of St. Xavier's High School.

The part of Christ was played by Antony D'Silva, who is a salesman for a chemical company here. Mary Cavalla, school teacher, portrayed the Blessed Mother and Joachim X. Fernandes, lecturer in philosophy and head of the Sodality and the dramatic group, played Judas.

3,000,000 Have Seen Christopher Movie

New York —(NC)— The first Christopher movie, "You Can Change the World," has been seen by more than 3,000,000 persons, it has been estimated at Christopher headquarters here.

The Rev. James Keller, M.M., founder of the movement, said that orders for prints now are more than 1,000, apart from 400 now rented.

Rome Film Congress Urges Better Movies

Rome —(NC)— Delegates to the world film congress taking place here heard an appeal for concentrated action by all men of good will to create a world-wide market for good films and thus assure their success.

The appeal was made by the Rev. Jean Bernard of Luxembourg, president of the International Catholic Film Office.

Producers, actors, directors, distributors, critics and the public must take part in coordinated action, he said, and, in accordance with their Christian responsibility, refuse to collaborate in or support productions contrary to Christian morals; and, on the other hand, foster those that conform to Christian concepts.
