Federal Ruling May Kill Church Radio Stations

Washington, D. C. — (RNS) — The Federal Communications Commission has denied an application by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints for a rehearing on its application for a radio station to be operated at its national headquarters, Independence, Mo.

In denying the application, the Commission again avoided giving a definite answer to the question whether the First Amendment to the Constitution prohibits the Federal government from granting a license to a religious organization to operate a radio station with the intent of using the broadcasting privilege for proselyting efforts.

In a decision of August 15 denying a license to the Mormon group, the Commission's hearing examiner declared that the Church's application "must be denied at this time because of the presently undetermined applicability of the First Amendment to licensing radio stations for religious purposes."

THE FACT that the application of this Church has been denied principally because of the First Amendment issue lends new importance to the hearings the Commission will shortly conduct on an application by the Baptist General Convention of Texas for several low-powered local FM radio licenses.

It is considered quite likely here that out of this application will come a formal decision by the Commission as to the effect of the First Amendment on religious broadcasting.

Some Constitutional lawyers in Washington are of the opinion the Commission will rule that the First Amendment prohibits the granting of radio licenses to religious groups.

The Commission, in such a case, will tell religious bodies that they must do their broadcasting through the medium of free time on regularly-established commercial broadcasting stations, and that it will see that all denominations get a chance for such free time.

Bishop's Sermon on WSAY To Hail Assumption Dogma

Proclamation of the dogma of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary will be marked by a special Family Rosary for Peace broadcast at 10 o'clock that evening on WSAY, Rochester's Voice of Peace. Director Jerry Kenney said yesterday that the rededication of the Rosary and will address a sermon on the Assumption of Our Lady.

Tuesday WSAY, Rochester, which airs the program nightly, will be WHEC, Auburn, and WVHC, Hornell. The Queens and Kings stations which carry the Family Rosary program with their audiences on Tuesday evening, by means unknown to many, will substitute broadcasts of previous program commitments.

The general public will be welcomed to participate in the broadcast which will originate in St. Francis of Assisi Church on Whitney Street.

OTHER LEADERS of the Rosary on the weekly schedule are as follows: Sunday, Oct. 29, William O'Brien, St. Anne's parish, Palmyra; Monday, David K. Maloney, St. Paul of the Cross, Honeoye Falls; Tuesday, John M. Urquhart, Our Lady of Good Counsel; Thursday, Patrick Iannucci and members of Holy Name Society, St. Francis of Assisi; Friday, Raymond E. Hebert, St. Margaret Mary; Saturday, Charles L. Lassner, St. Theodore.

STOLEN SYMPHONY, starring Ann Blyth, will be presented by Family Theater on Thursday night, Nov. 2 at 8:00 p.m. on WVET and the Mutual Network.

"Stolen Symphony" is a delightful little fantasy which relates the novel experience of a young pilot whose plane goes down in flames. Though his mind is keen and alert, he realizes that he is dead. An angel in the form of a beautiful young girl, played by Ann Blyth, takes him on a tour of his home and scenes familiar in his life. The evidence he sees will have that he lived a good life, but he could have been improved upon.

LISTENERS to the Courier Journal's Sunday program on WHAM may have the pleasure of the return of Father Edward Tomey's recent broadcasts from Fort Monroe and Langley by writing to "Program Department, Station WHAM, Rochester, New York." The program will consist of discussing Holy Year events and famous shrines abroad seen in motion-picture form and how far the talking is required for a large amount.

THE DRAMATIC significance of the proclamation of the Assumption dogma by Pope Pius XII next Wednesday in Vatican City will be the leading topic of this week's "Morals Matter for Headlines" presented by the Courier Journal at 12:10 p.m. Sunday on WHAM. Also noted in commentary on the status of the Church in Germany as it faces that problem of Russian threats and talk of rearmament.

AN INCIDENT in Alfred E. Smith's presidential campaign of 1928 when he replied to a letter questioning a Catholic's qualifications to be President of the U. S., will be dramatized on the "Eternal Light" program sponsored by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America on the NBC network and Rochester's WHAM this Sunday morning at 10 a.m. The story has been written from an incident in the biography of Judge Joseph M. Proskauer, a lifelong friend of Mr. Smith's who helped him draft the letter refuting the charge of "divided allegiance."

MANAGEMENT'S duties in promoting the social order of the nations will be discussed on the ABC Hour of Faith program of the National Council of Catholic Men on WARC this Sunday at 11:30 a.m. The Rev. John F. Cronin director of social studies at Catholic University of Washington will lead the discussion with laymen experienced in industrial relations.

THE CATHOLIC HOUR, a newcomer to the WHAM Sunday schedule—now 1 p.m. each week—has a practical topic ready for this week's program! "Marriage is a Vocation." A studio audience of engaged couples will hear the Rev. John McCarthy of St. Mary's Seminary, Mundelein, Ill., open the broadcast with the church's point on view on the topic and then will quiz marriage experts on practical applications of the theme to daily married life.

AQUINAS INSTITUTE booster, Add Penfield will have a keen audience this Sunday when he presides at the WHAM microphone for the playby-play broadcast of the Aquinas-Bullis Prep football game beginning at 2 p.m.
