NEW And NOW

By ROBERT SMETT

People To Know:

We were in Corning recently to view a highly entertaining performance of GBS's classic "Pygmalion" at the new Corning Summer Theatre.

R. Smett

Corning is the home of the Corning Glass Works and Madeline McNamara.

Miss McNamara is probably as well known in Rochester as she is in the Southern Tier area. Although I know her only as a highly talented actress and monologuist, those who are personal acquaintances find her a lady of rare and lightful humor.

Born in Corning, Miss McNamara distinguished herself here and in Europe as a dramatic actress and preponent of the "art within the art", monologue.

A graduate of St. Elizabeth's College, Emerson College of Oratory, the School of Modern Drama, she studied and taught at Catholic University in Washington and Columbia.

She has a long record of work in civic and church organizations where she has been the backbone of recreational and entertainment programs.

In the flame-thin field of theatre, where so many wings are singed by lack of knowing, it is good that there are such people.

MADELINE McNAMARA

and New York home, too. She attended Kansas State and Northwestern Universities and appeared with the University Players, Chicago's professional repertory company.

She counts two seasons of summer stock in Maine and two years at Eagles Mere, Pa. A volunteer actress with the American Theatre Wing, she also has three Equity Library productions to her credit.

Not only as actress, but director and dancer as well, she was a member of the American Dance Repertory Theatre in New York and has toured the mid-Atlantic states with the Allenberry Players.

KATHLEEN KERR

A born wit and mimic, it is hard for Kathleen to tell you the time of day without lapsing into Brooklynese or Cockney, or bursting with laughter just for the fun of it.

And fun is her by word. Extremely near-sighted one of her greatest difficulties in a new role is finding her way around a strange setting. She usually has her fellow players and herself in a fit of giggles as she "beg pardons" a settee and smiles "excuse me" when she bumps a coffee table. Kathleen takes no chances—it might be an actor!

Her work in Rochester has included memorable characterizations in "The Little Woman", "The Corn is Green", "The Happiest Days of Your Life", "Major Barbara", "Summer and Smoke" and the unforgettable "Cocktail Party".

It is called a great tribute to an actress when her fellow cast members applaud a particular scene in rehearsal. Be that as it may, I think the tribute paid Kathleen by her company an even more important one.

They could speak of her, and do, as a fine actress, versatile and witty, a pleasure to work with, always a smile, terrific sense of humor, bubbling, sparkling, but, and without exception, they sum it all up in—"she's a wonderful person". That's it, and she is.

The Play's The Thing:

In Sister Mary Jean Dorcy's new book, "Shepherd's Tartan", soon to be released by Sheed and Ward, the authoress includes a play written by a precocious young fourth-grade. It goes like this:

THE FLIGHT INTO EGYPT
Act I: Bethlehem
MARY: Z Z Z Z Z z z z z
JOSEPH: Z Z Z Z Z z z z z z
JESUS: Z Z Z Z Z z z z z
Act II: Bethlehem
ANGEL: Wakest thou, Joseph, you got to takest the Child and His Mother and flee-est into Egypt.
JOSEPH: Wakest thou, Mary, we got to takest the Child and flee-est into Egypt.
MARY: Wake up, Jesus.
Act III: On the Way to Egypt
MARY: Silent
JOSEPH: Silent
JESUS: Silent
Act IV: Egypt
JOSEPH: Look, Mary, those people are worshipping idols. Isn't that awful?
MARY: Look, Jesus, those people are worshipping idols.
Jesus looks.
The idols: CRASH! BOOM! BANG!
The End

Leaving literary criticism aside, we agree with Sister Mary Jean that, if nothing else, the third act is a stroke of genius

Fishing, Camp Fire Hailed By Stella Maris Campers

Two of the most popular parts of the program at Camp Stella Maris, diocesan summer camp on Conesus Lake, are the camp fire and fishing.

Under the leadership of Thomas Statt and Roger Switzer, the campers gather each evening to sing songs and to hear stories of great adventure.

Campfire is always held in two divisions. The senior campers meet in the Council Ring in the woods, while the juniors hold their gathering on the lake shore.

FISHING HAS come into its own this year at Stella Maris. A record catch was made during the past week. In one half hour, two campers caught eighteen rock bass and sun fish.

The following 116 campers are now in camp:

Rochester—Jack Bean, John Callahan, Charles Corman, Lane Doyle, Paul Magnus, Jack Pitt, Reece Ramsaur, Julius Rahman, Don Senna, Dave Speziale, Dick Zimmerer, George DeLucia, Dick Schmitz.

Catholic Hour Features Panel-Quiz in August

Washington, D. C. — (NC) — A series of five panel-quiz shows on the Catholic religion will be presented on the Catholic Hour television programs during August.

Carried on the NBC-TV network and sponsored by the National Council of Catholic men, the format is a departure from past Catholic Hour programs

On the programs, a panel of outstanding lay people will be quizzed on religious subjects by Father Urban Nagle, O.P., chaplain of St. Mary of the Springs, Columbus, O., and founder of the Blackfriars Theatre in New York.

The August 2 telecast will feature Richard Reid, editor of the Catholic News of New York; Gretta Palmer, N.C.W.C. Feature Service columnist; and Paul Hume, music critic for the Washington Post.

The programs will emanate from WPTZ in Philadelphia and will be carried by 60 stations of the NBC-TV network.

The Catholic Hour is seen from 1:30 to 2 p.m. (EDT) on Sundays (WHAM in Rochester), but viewers are advised to check local listings as the program is delayed in a number of areas.
