Animal Parts Cast In 'Noah', Organizations Sponsor Play

The animals of Noah's Ark will be played in pantomime by actors and actresses of The Catholic Theatre of Rochester, when the group's production of "Noah" goes before the footlights at the Rochester German Club auditorium on Friday and Saturday, Oct 30 and 31.

Director Wilford Scott has announced the "animal" cast, as follows: Robert Bride, Grace Tomaselli, Helen Closser, Richard Mancini, Richard Neary, Philip Prinsen, Donald Bates, Edward Stanny, Ronald Letky and Thomas Miller.

The parts of Noah and Mrs. Noah will be played by Robert Smett and Lucy Hope Lyon.

IN THE ROLES of the patriarch's three sons are Frank Riesenberger as Ham, Robert Benton as Shem, and Thomas Hinton as Japhet.

Robert Benton is a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He has appeared with the Pulteneyville Players and has been seen in Rochester in Drama Workshop and Community Players' productions.

Well-known director and actor, Lloyd Hubbard, will take the role of "The Man"

The three young girls who became the wives of Noah's sons are played by Thelma Holmes as Norma, Joyce Lockington as Sella, and Joan Vollmer as Ada.

AGNES MARIE COON is in charge of tickets for "Noah" and has announced that purchases may be made by calling MOnroe 4660-R or through the various sponsoring groups.

The sponsoring organizations include:

Friends of Carmel, St. Mary's Junior League, Catholic Daughters of America (Court Rochester 1139), P.T.A. of St. Anne's, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

AMONG WOMEN

'. . . Will To Serve'

By Mary Leanon Snyder

The 1953 annual convention of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women is on worthy of long remembrance and review. The events, speeches and exhibits because of their excellence will long remain etched upon the memory of those who attended.

Mrs. Snyder

For the benefit of the absent I should like to write of some of the happenings since space limitations prohibit my writing in detail of all.

One of the challenges I carried away from the convention was the plan for incorporating the theme of the Marian Year into all our council projects.

The Diocesan standing committees, Spiritual Development, War Relief, Family and Parent Education, Cooperating with Catholic Charities, Libraries and Literature, Organization and Development and International Relations, all lend themselves to such programming.

AS CATHOLIC women we should not only delight in acknowledging Mary's place in the divine scheme of things, but also strive in all our work to give Mary in a positive manner the honor and love of devoted children. In our committee work we should work for a universal love of the Mother of God and an ever widening emulation of her beautiful virtues.

The exhibits and workshops of the convention were most interesting, giving, as they did, a resume of the committee's work in the past and by their demonstrations pointing out new fields of endeavor for the rest of us.

Someone approached me and told me to be sure to see the beautiful quilt on exhibit at the War Relief table. The filling was shoulder pads sewn together as I had written of in this column. I hope that the quilt on exhibit will inspire many others to be made.

AT CONVENTIONS or other meetings of Catholic women's organizations I often think of the rule laid down by St. Vincent de Paul for the first lay organization for Catholic women. In establishing the Ladies of Charity in 1617 the Saint stated that the first aim of the new organization would be the alleviation of the suffering of the sick poor. The [illegible] the growth of a mutual charity among the members of his new organization.

Over the years in the Diocesan Council there has grown up a love and friendship among the women who have worked hard on many of the group's projects; and it is most pleasant on an occasion such as the recent Rochester meeting to see once again and to greet fellow workers.

It is also a delight to meet new members coming into maturity in organization work. It is somehow a rewarding experience to welcome into Council work young mothers of six and eight children.

SUCH INTEREST cogently demonstrates that the convention theme "Set Your Will to Serve" has not been unanswered by the Catholic women of the Rochester Diocese.

Let's not let our convention enthusiasm abate, but rather let our observance of the Marian Year be a glorious page in our Rochester Council's annals.

Frances Ryan Rites Held At Holy Cross

Funeral services for Miss Frances C. Ryan, 40, who died suddenly Friday, October 9, 1953, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Allen Bernard, 103 Britton Rd., were held at the August M. Maier Funeral Home, and in Holy Cross Church on Tuesday, October 13.

The Funeral Mass was celebrated by Rev. William Reed, and present in the sanctuary was Rev. Lawrence Weniger of St. Michael's Church in Canton, Pa.

Miss Ryan was a secretary in the Sales Department of Hickok Mfg. Co. She was a member of the Rosary Society of Holy Cross Church.

Surviving besides Mrs. Allen (Margaret) Bernard, are another sister, Mrs. Harold (Elizabeth) Schleyer, and two brothers, John F. Ryan, of Canton, Pa., and William A. Ryan, Rochester.

Interment was made in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Final blessing was given by Father Reed, assisted by Father Weniger.

Wegmans Opened In Northgate

The new Wegmans Super Market, which opened yesterday in Northgate Plaza at 3900 Dewey Avenue, climaxes a cherished ambition of Robert B. Wegman, president of the markets.

Wegman, an active and interested resident of Greece, saw the possibilities of such a shopping center in the community many years ago. Together with Emil Muller, president of National Plazas, Inc., he shaped the plans for Northgate, said to be the country's largest shopping center.

Wegman's brother James W. Wegman, will be manager of the new market, one of the largest units in the project.
