Alderman D. V. W. Selye was nominated Saturday evening as the Democratic candidate for Member of the Executive Board. Judge John F. Kinney made the nominating speech. Julius Armbruster, present, Democratic member of the Board, attempted to make a speech, but his voice was drowned in a perfect volley of cat-calls and hisses.

At Monday evening's meeting of the Cardinal Newman Reading Circle the works of Lady Georgiana Fullerton were considered. The secretary read a tribute to the late pastor, Rev. James O'Connor, and appropriate resolutions on his departure were adopted. They set forth that while regretting the transfer of their pastor, and congratulating the people of Seneca Falls, the people of St. Bridget's pledge earnest support to their new pastor.

St. Mary's hall never held a larger audience than that which assembled Thursday evening to witness the entertainment for the benefit of the Sisters of Mercy. The programme included a pianoforte solo by Miss Shantz and Geo. Minges; vocal duet by the Misses Keyes; vocal, "Who Knows What the Bells Say," Misses Mahoney and Rose, Messrs. T. and P. Kearney; recitation, Miss Reche; solo, Mrs. W. Rampe; solo, Miss Nellie Lux; male quartette, G. G. Moon, T. and P. Kearney, S. A. Millington; recitation, Lufe Heidel; Bedouin Love Song, T. Kearney; piano solo, Miss Lempert. All acquitted themselves so well that the audience dispersed thoroughly pleased.

At St. Bridget's church, Sunday morning, a large congregation attended the High Mass, which was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Edward J. Hanna. The day being the feast of St. Bridget, special music was admirably rendered by the choir. In opening his sermon, Dr. Hanna said: "Far away, across the Atlantic, lies an isle, the gem of the western world, toward which the hearts of this congregation are turned this morning. Although not now one of the Congress of Nations, yet it is glorious with the achievements of her sons whose names are written in golden letters on history's page. Much of this glory is due to the true, pure and virtuous character of Irish womanhood. Their type is the saint whose feast day we now celebrate." Continuing, Dr. Hanna dwelt on the life of the Saviour, as furnishing the lessons which St. Bridget followed. The sermon was a most able and eloquent effort.

St. Mary's Literary and Musical Club met Monday evening in the C. B. L. rooms, Durand building. About fifty persons were present and several new members were admitted. After routine business had been transacted, the literary programme was given. In opening, Miss McAnally read a finely prepared resume of Bancroft's life and literary labors; Miss Dowd, of Brooklyn, played an instrumental selection in an exquisite manner; Miss Eugenie Cunningham recited "A Railway Matinee" in inimitable style; Miss Mahoney sang a solo in a manner that charmed her hearers; Miss Adwin also played and sang a solo in effective style. Dr. L. J. Somers was to have read a paper on "First Council" but was unavoidably absent. Then the answers to the questions given out at the last meeting were read, and some little time consumed very profitably in this manner. It was decided to call the organization "The Catholic Literary." After arranging a programme for the next meeting, Monday evening, February 9th, adjournment was taken. The Literary will decide on a course of reading in a few weeks.

Valentine Fleckenstein is the Democratic candidate for City Treasurer. He is thoroughly capable, and, if elected, will give entire satisfaction to the tax payers and citizens generally. He was born in this city, December 21, 1842, and has always lived here. He was educated in the public and parochial schools. Early in life he entered his father's bakery and subsequently became a partner in the business assisting to building it up to one of the largest of the kind in the city. From the time of reaching his majority he has been an active member of the Democratic party. He first accepted a public office in 1876, when he was elected a member of the Executive Board for a term of one year. At the end of the term he was re-elected for three years, serving until 1880. He next assumed the position of city assessor, to which he was elected by the Common Council January 1, 1882. At the expiration of his first term he was re-appointed, and served until he was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland to succeed Daniel T. Hunt. He took charge of the postoffice June 1, 1887, and turned the office over to his successor, John A. Reynolds, in the spring of last year. Before relinquishing the postoffice, however, he had been elected city treasurer by the Common Council to succeed John A. Davis. This election took place March 6, 1890.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Some Few Items Which Will Surely Interest Both.

The Month to Buy In—How you Can Secure Beautiful Goods for Very Little Money—Some Hints to Wise Buyers Among the Fair Sex.

In February, dry goods merchants ordinarily commence getting in their spring stocks. Take a house like Burke, FitzSimons, Hone & Co. for instance. Their importations are enormous, and their purchases of home manufacturers still larger. Both combine enough goods to fill all their departments and storage rooms to overflowing. But this firm have an infallible method for making room. It is worth your while to profit by it. Just now they are making a sweeping sale of winter dress fabrics—many of them very suitable, however, for spring and summer. The stock was absolutely entirely new this season. Look at those beautiful serges, both plain and camel's hair, $1 goods for 65 cents. French dress fabrics of exquisite texture and colorings for $1, which are worth very much more; mixed chevots, hundreds of pieces of which were sold for 85c and $1 within a month, now only 50 cents. And so it is right through. To ladies this announcement means very much. But to realize the genuineness of these bargains you must see the goods, and this department in Burke, FitzSimons, Hone & Co.'s should be a busy place the balance of the winter.

How Tempting

To the hungry mortal are the delicious pies, cakes, tarts, etc., displayed in the windows of the Culross Bakeries, 30 and 499 State street. Don't fail to sample them.

The time has come when Photographs can be had at most any price, just like shoes, of which you can buy a pair for $1.50, and another pair for $5.00. Both kind are called shoes, but differ in quality, etc., the same with Photographs. One of our reporters stopped at J. E. Mock's Photo Studio and enquired about the prices of Photographs (cab size). He was told $3.00 per doz. The reporter, in walking toward the door, noticed the picture of a friend, and stopped to look at it. At the same time he noticed several pictures of well-known clergymen of this city and other places. The pictures were finished in such a beautiful way that the reporter came to the conclusion, the price asked was not too much, after all for this beautiful, artistic work, which represents a person's image with life and spirit, and not as if he was more dead than alive, as you often see in albums. J. E. Mock's Gallery is also open Sundays from 12 at noon to 5 p. m.

A Disfigured Child.

Another Case of Cataract Cured by Dr. Freeman, at His Institute, 105 Franklin St.

Few people have ever seen cataract in such a severe form as that presented in the case of the little child of Justus Knapp, Webster, N. Y. It was born with cataract, and up to three months ago its life was one of extreme torture to itself, and a source of anxiety and worry to its father and mother. There was a constant acid discharge from its ears and nose, and wherever this discharge came in contact with the skin it produced a frightful running sore, which kept spreading until the nose, ears, face and scalp was one mass of raw surface, which in turn threw out a discharge, and this coming in contact with other parts produced similar sores until the whole body was covered. The poor child it was in such misery it could neither sleep nor eat, as you can quite easily imagine. It wasted away in flesh to a mere shadow. Everything that promised relief to the little sufferer was given it by the fond and loving parents. But nothing did any good. On November 17th it was brought to Dr. Freeman at his institute, 105 Franklin street, as the mother's last resort. She dared scarcely hope for its complete recovery, but when four weeks later the child was restored to perfect health, without a trace of the old disease left, the mother's joy knew no bounds. She never tires of saying a good word for Dr. Freeman, who she says saved her child. This is only one of the many thousands instances in which Dr. Freeman's treatment for cataract has proven itself invaluable. He treats all chronic diseases with equal success. Cases pronounced incurable by other physicians are his specialties. Office hours at the Institute from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., and from 6 to 8 p. m.; consultation free.
