Corning Knights Attend Breakfast

Bath—Nearly 90 men attended a Corporate Communion breakfast of Corning Council, Knights of Columbus, at the Hotel Wagner in Bath Oct. 26 and heard a talk by Emmett Burke, New York State deputy of the Knights. Joseph Sliney of Bath was in charge of arrangements.

Prior to the breakfast the men attended 8:30 Mass at St. Mary's Church here. The celebrant was Rev. John P. O'Malley.

Burke outlined youth activities of the state council of which the Columbian Squires and state scholarships are primary goals.

Columbian Squires is a youth program to develop leadership.

FOLLOWING WISHES of Knights' state chaplain, Francis Cardinal Spellman, and district chaplain, Bishop Kearney, the training program is being pushed throughout New York, he said.

Citing examples, Burke said his experiences as a school teacher in metropolitan New York convinced him teaching faith in God is necessary to combat Communist infiltration.

HE ALSO mentioned the Knights' project in furnishing funds on a five-year program, to build the Campanile tower in a cathedral type shrine to the Blessed Virgin in Washington.

Burke urged the approximately 300 councils to continue their fight against indecent literature on newsstands.

T. V. Hanly of Corning was chairman for the program.

Corning CDA Holds Card Party

Corning—Over $50 was realized on a card party by members of Court St. Joseph, Catholic Daughters of America, held in their East Market Street rooms.
