SATURDAY MARCH 28, 1891.

Weekly Church Calendar. Sun. Mch. 29—Easter. Gospel, St. Matt. xvi and xvii.

For six weeks past, the Church has been contemplating the events in our Savior's life leading up to the day He offered His sacred life on the cross...

Yesterday we commemorated the most sublime sacrifice in the annals of the world's history—the Supreme Lord of Heaven and Earth, the One who called this world and all its inhabitants into being...

To-morrow, as the great event upon which hinges the whole plan of redemption is complete, the Church will once more resume her garments of joy, laid aside during the holy season of Lent.

We hate to be calling the Jury to account, but it is a painful duty we must perform. In last week's issue it had an article headed "A Harmless Fanatic," detailing an address alleged to have been delivered by a priest named Magerney, January 11th...

the Wild West, or manufactured the address in question out of whole cloth. If you clipped it, why did you not give due credit, or is it against your religious principles to do business on that basis neighbor?

We are certain the Jury is mistaken, because there is no priest in the United States named "Magerney." We have on our table two Catholic directories, giving the name and address of every priest in the United States...

In the near future we will give the Jury the exact truth of this matter. If it has been in the wrong, we expect our neighbor will apologize.

VULGARITY AND INCONSISTENCY REBUKED.

Says Le Couteur Leader, of Buffalo: We think—with all respect—that its own shining qualities sometimes blind our brilliant Union and Times to the light of another Jewel—consistency. In last week's issue one column inveighed, with customary vigor, against an infamous bill lately presented to the State Senate...

A contemporary has a long article on the McQueary verdict. We don't care a fig for McQueary or his alleged heresies against stolen Episcopalian dogmas, but in the effusion in question there is one funny sentence: "Mr. McQueary is right in the opinions he has put forth, for it is a fact, which history bears out, that whatever ecclesiastical courts have condemned as heresy have been discovered to be great truths."

the banquet in honor of Archbishop Williams, in Boston recently, the toast-master said: "I now introduce a man who is known from the Pine Tree State to the Golden Gate of California as the pioneer in the field of Christian education. The great and good man whom I will call upon to respond to the toast, 'Our Distinguished Visitors,' is Bishop McQuaid, of Rochester, an old friend of the Archbishop."...

It is expected that the removal of the post-office to the new government building will take place to-morrow. It is hoped when Uncle Sam's employees are nicely settled in the new quarters there will be a force on hand sufficiently large to take care of all mail matter without the delay which is now so annoying...

From statements in a previous issue, speaking of Rev. T. A. Hendrick, some people drew the inference that he built Holy Cross church at Charlotte. Such is not the case. The edifice was erected during the pastorate of Rev. J. M. Fitzgerald, the present incumbent.

The handsome picture of the new St. Bernard's Seminary we present our readers this week, together with a description of the building, is published in the JOURNAL exclusively, and for the first time.

Built on no fixed and unchanging basis, with no principle of life within it, Protestantism as a religion is fast disappearing. The Catholic Sentinel, of Portland, Oregon, is very pretty in its new dress.

Easter Music. Following is the programme for the Easter music, to be rendered in the various churches, so far as received:

St. Joseph's: The Mass Jubilai, by Edw. Stelle, F. J. Bauer, director.

The choir consists of 43 well trained members—14 sopranos, 14 altos, 8 tenors, 7 Basses. Rudolph Vay, organist and director.

A Protestant Answered

CRITICISMS ON THE CHURCH CLEVERLY REFUTED.

The Catholic Church has never changed her Doctrine—The Infallibility of the Pope Always Taught and Believed.

Again, you know—if you know anything about Protestant historical literature—that Protestants have been chiding us with believing in the Pope's Infallibility—for the last three hundred years. And you tell me that belief in this dogma is not yet fifty years old! Why, then, have Protestants always persisted in calling us Romanists, Papists, etc? I think I know, and I think you know.

The heresy that denies this dogma or article of faith is known as Gallicanism, and is one of the four Articles of 1682. In the words of Cardinal Manning: "Gallicanism is no more than a transient and modern opinion which arose in France without warrant or antecedents in the ancient theological schools of the French Church..."

To use the words of Pope Hormisdas, then: "Actual effects prove the saying of our Lord Jesus Christ." For in the long years since the establishment of the Papacy or the Church, and under the most trying circumstances, there has ever been a perfect agreement of the doctrines defined by the various successors of Peter.

The next subject on which you choose to ventilate your crudities is the Temporal Power of the Pope, and your notion hits so wide of the mark as to make your statements in regard to it a kind of serio-comic extravaganza. "You know," say you, "the Pope is not poor, as he represents himself, nor is he shut up in his palace, but has the largest palace, the finest pictures and the most elegant treasures in the world, with perfect freedom to go where he chooses..."

On March 28, the first electric car ran to the lake. Cars are being run every two hours. Pat'k H. Traver, an old Auburn boy, an account of whose accidental shooting at Spokane Falls appeared in the JOURNAL, is reported dying.

The children of St. Alphonse's parochial school gave an entertainment in the new school, house Thursday afternoon in honor of the pastor's "Name's day." The several numbers were well rendered. On St. Joseph's day every year, the parishioners take occasion to make it the one memorial day of the year for Father Netzel and Thursday no pains were spared to eclipse all former efforts.

Edward Madden and Mrs. Madden, of Rochester, have been visiting here Miss Julia Gallagher, of Avon, visited relatives here this week. Jerry Cahill will manage the Big Tree farm this year; Michael Cahill, B. McGivney's farm; Dan, Piper J. Cullinaq's farm on the Avon road.

Last Thursday, the Feast of St. Joseph, was the Names-Day of Rev. H. Joseph Straten, rector of the Holy Ghost Church, Coldwater, N. Y. On this occasion, his parishioners presented him a precious golden watch, as a token of their love for their pastor.

DIOCESAN NEWS.

Auburn.

At a meeting of the congregation of St. Mary's, held in the basement of the church, it was voted to hold a fair early in June.

A beautiful Mass will be sung by the choir of Holy Family church at 11 o'clock Easter Sunday. Recently the choir was re-organized under the leadership of Alex. Chautell. It is now one of the finest chorus choirs in the city.

Palm Sunday was appropriately observed. Palm was blessed at the 11 o'clock Mass in all the churches, then distributed; the Passion was read both in Latin and English. Mrs. Anna Eliza Tehan, wife of P. J. McLaughlin, of Syracuse, died at the residence of the family, 55 Washington St., Friday, March 20, and was buried from St. Mary's church Monday at 10 p. m., a Solemn High Mass being read by Father Mulheron; the interment took place in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Holy Family fair opens at the Genesee Opera house Monday night, and will be continued for one week. Everything is in readiness for the grand opening. A stage-entertainment will be given each evening—something out of the general run—and many of the attractions are novel and original.

Holy Week was appropriately observed in the Catholic churches. Today, (Easter Saturday) the blessing of the holy water takes place, and to-morrow the Church emerges from its season of sadness and mourning, and wakes up joyfully with the dancing sun, and glories God just risen.

St. Patrick's night entertainment netted over $100.

Miss Lizzie Day is teaching the little girls of the school a new Mass, which they will sing some time after Easter.

Mass was said in St. Patrick's at 5 a. m. Thursday. Father Day then went to Rochester to be present at the Pontifical Mass in the Cathedral.

At a regular meeting March 12, the election of officers took place. Roger Hogan was made pres.; T.H. Sweeney treas.; Chas. D. Leonard, sec'y; trustees and other officers were elected, after which they adjourned, to meet in the Dutch church April 7.
