Robert Stack On Family Theater

Hollywood, Calif. — (NC) — "Today Is Sunday," the story of a bank robbery and its solution will be heard on Family Theater on March 18 from 7:35 to 8 p.m., over the Mutual Radio Network. The program is heard on WMBO, 1340 in Auburn.

Jeanne Crain will be hostess and Robert Stack will star. Family Theater was founded and is directed by Father Patrick Peyton, C.S.C., founder of the Family Rosary Crusade.

Crescent Beach Hotel Reopens

Ray and Lorraine Geis will begin their fifteenth year as operators of the Crescent Beach Hotel when the popular lakeside hostelry opens on Saturday, March 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Geis, Our Mother of Sorrows parishioners, are planning many special features for the current season and have just completed an extensive redecorating and painting program.

St. Patrick Fete Set At Nazareth College

Plans are nearing completion for the annual St. Patrick's Day celebration at Nazareth College, scheduled for 3 p.m. Tuesday, March 17, in the college auditorium.

General chairmen, Ann Lortscher and Mary Bridget Lyon have announced a class skit competition in the afternoon, at which His Excellency Bishop Kearney will be guest of honor and will present an award to the winning class.

Directors include Joan Murray and Mary Wallace, seniors; Mary Ann Catlin and Dorothy McKinley, juniors; Diane Christian and Gail Place, sophomores; and Betty Jo Doyle and Addie Cantabene, freshmen.

THE EVENING entertainment will focus on the 7th annual all-star basketball game between the St. John Fisher Kraulers and the All-Stars, with a 7:30 p.m. starting time. Dancing will follow the game.

Committee heads include Diana Guerrera, refreshments; Martha Jo Rotoli, decorations; Kathy Krampf, general order; Paula Smith, programs; and Patricia Fonte, tickets.

Sponsored by the Fremin Mission Unit of the college, proceeds will go to the work of the missions.

Marian Theater Story Listed

Father Patrick Peyton's Marian Theater will present an unusual depiction of the Fourth Sorrowful Mystery of the Rosary, titled The Sorrowful Way, on Sunday, March 15, from 10-10:30 p.m., over the Mutual Network. The program is heard on WMBO, 1340 on the dial in Auburn.

This unique description of the fourth step in Christ's Passion, the Carrying of the Cross, is presented via the manner of an on-the-spot, modern-day newscast. The narrator vividly describes the route of the suffering Christ as he bears His heavy Cross along the rough path of the Via Dolorosa. The program provides graphic and startling material for meditation on the Fourth Sorrowful Mystery of the Rosary.

Marian Theater is produced by Rev. Patrick Peyton, C.S.C. This program was written by Fred Niblo Jr. and the Mutual-Don Lee Orchestra was conducted by Harry Zimmerman.

Requiem Offered For Lou Costello

Hollywood.—(NC)— Requiem Mass was offered in St. Francis de Sales Church here for Lou Costello, 52, rolypoly member of the famed comedy team of Abbott and Costello.

Mr. Costello died March 3 in Doctors Hospital here from a heart attack complicated by a blood clot. He is survived by his wife, Ann, and three daughters.

Mr. Costello was born Louis Francis Cristello in Paterson, N.J., on March 6, 1906. After graduating from high school he went to Hollywood, where he worked for a time as a movie stuntman.

Later he returned East and began working as a comedy "single." In 1930 he teamed with William ("Bud") Abbott, and Abbott and Costello became one of the most famous comedy teams of all times, starring on radio, television and in some 35 movies. The team broke up in 1957. The two partners remained on friendly terms, however.

Mr. Abbott by coincidence was watching a rerun of an Abbott and Costello television show when notified of his partner's death. "I've lost the best pal anyone ever had," he exclaimed.

Mr. Costello had devoted much of his time and money to charity, including support of a youth foundation. In 1943 his infant son, Lou, Jr., fell into the family swimming pool and was drowned.

"THE JOURNEY" makes its way into the Loew's Theater this week as Yul Brenner and Deborah Kerr are reunited for the first time since they were so well matched as the co-stars of "The King and I."

The Hungarian revolt of 1956 is used as the realistic background for an absorbing and eventful drama with a group of various nationalities trying to escape the country.

The producers of this movie, for adults only, had no trouble in getting permission from the Austrian Government to film the story in their country. But the Soviet diplomats protested (just for a change) that the Austrians were permitting an American film company to make an anti-Soviet picture. The Austrian retort was that if the Russians had sought to make a film that discredited America, they would receive the same courtesy and permission. Actual Russian refugees play extra and bit parts in this Metrocolor presentation.

The story shows us a busload of travelers trying to reach Austria during the Hungarian revolt. After being stranded in Budapest, they are stopped before reaching the freedom-border by Yul, a Russian Major. Being forced to wait overnight at an inn, the audience begins to see the plight of an ill-assorted group of travelers encountering a common danger.

As well might be suspected, Miss Kerr contributes a fine acting job as an Englishwoman traveling with a mysterious foreigner. Yul Brenner is tops as is Jason Robards in this his first screen role. Keep your eye on him. Watch "Playhouse 90" this week if you want another look.

Suspense, intrigue, romance, and human interest are the elements making this movi worthy of a good audience.

"THE LAST BLITZKREIG" is at the Paramount Theater taking us back to the days of World War II. Considerable stock footage is utilized for actual war scenes in this 85 minute movie filmed entirely in Holland.

ADULTS AND ADOLESCENTS will see Van Johnson as the son of a German general who leads four commandos dressed in American uniforms, trained in U.S. ways and speech, to infiltrate through the ranks of the invasion troops, creating confusion and destruction wherever they can.

Before the film comes to its heroic ending, Johnson turns the tide of battle for the Americans, and, as in all such pictures, we win again. I have seen others who have been more convincing as Nazi officers, but Van does his best. The cast gives a good impression of the wide variety of men on both sides. If you're looking for a war picture, see this one.

"HOUSE ON HAUNTED HILL" at the Palace Theater offers goose pimples to ADULTS AND ADOLESCENTS.

It isn't too unusual as these spine-tingling movies go. You'll see the same old prancing skeletons, several hands, hanging bodies, and, oh gracious, we can't forget those clutching hands. Ah-h-h!

Vincent Price is the top name on the bill giving you a chill. Do you think I should start writing poetry? NO? All right, I'll be seeing you next week. Watching The Screen.

ELMIRA! Pretty good again this week with "The Journey" at the Elmira Theater and "The Trap" at the Colonial Theater starting Sunday.

DONT FORGET "THE TEN COMMANDMENTS" AT THE REGENT THEATER IN ROCHESTER. IT'S THE TOPS.

Shroud Of Turin On TV Program

Chicago — (NC) — Father Francis L. Filas, S.J., of Loyola University here will narrate a television program about the Shroud of Turin on March 27.

Entitled "The Shroud of Turin — Is This the Photograph of Jesus Christ?" the program will be shown on the American Broadcasting Company's television network at 1:30 p.m.

The shroud, kept at Turin, Italy, has been claimed for centuries to be the cloth that was wrapped around Christ's body in the tomb.
