Solemn Requiem Offered For Sister Enerentiana

Solemn Requiem Mass was held Tuesday, Jan. 5 at Nazareth Motherhouse, Pittsford, for Sister Mary Enerentiana Reynolds, a member of the Sisters of St. Joseph for 60 years and a well-known artist in the community.

Sister Enerentiana died January 3, 1960.

CELEBRANT OF the Mass was the Rev. John Norris. He was assisted by the Rev. John Phillipps, deacon, and the Rev. Ray E. Murphy, subdeacon.

In the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Monsignors Louis Edelman and John M. Duffy and the Rev. Daniel Brent.

A native of Ireland, Sister Enerentiana entered the order in 1899. For more than 30 years, she lived at old St. Agnes Institute, Main St., and gave instruction in painting to both lay women and Sisters.

When illness curtailed her teaching, she continued her art-work at the Motherhouse where she was known for hand-painted china and manuscript work.

Surviving are a number of nieces and nephews in Long Island, Chicago and California.

Corning Church Free Of Debt

Corning—The Rev. William Tobin, administrator of St. Patrick's Church, in an announcement at Mass, reported to the parishioners that the parish is free and clear, as a result of a three-year campaign for a free church.

Father Tobin explained that it has been many years since the church had been free of debt.

New Look At Newark State School

Risen Christ statue at Newark

New main altar for assembly hall

Generous response to the private appeal of Rev. Charles E. Bauer, Catholic chaplain at Newark State School, has resulted in improved religious facilities there.

A sanctuary and altar for rites attended in the school's main assembly hall, new furnishings for St. Therese's Chapel in the chaplain's quarters and a ten foot Risen Christ monument in the school's cemetery have heightened devotion of patients and staff members, Father Bauer reports.

HE ALSO stated two Nativity scenes were specially erected to tell the story of Christmas "on the Hill." Students of St. Bernard's Seminary sang the Christmas Day Mass celebrated at the new altar in the assembly hall.

The new setting for Sunday and holyday Mass includes a triptych whose top section serves as baffle board for speakers of the recently acquired electronic organ. The triptych is [illegible]

[illegible] the St. Therese chapel, new tabernacle, crucifix, sanctuary lamp, candlesticks, vases and bells were donated by the mission society of Mercy High School. A gift from St. Agnes high school and Nazareth Academy students will provide stained glass windows for the chapel.

THREE ROCHESTER funeral directors contributed the white marble statue of the Risen Christ which stands atop a stone pedestal in the Catholic section of the school's cemetery.

Matching monuments will be erected this spring in the Protestant and Jewish sections of the cemetery according to designs suggested by chaplains of those denominations.

Father Bauer said construction and installation of much of the new equipment was done by workers in the Newark State School Maintenance Department. He expressed his gratitude to all who contributed funds or items for the improved religious facilities.
