AROUND THE GLOBE.

Catholics of Oskosh, Wis., are to erect a $20,000 edifice.

Five young ladies accepted the white veil and were received into the Order of the Sisters of Mercy at St. Joseph's Convent, Bordentown, N. J., May 8th, 1891, Bishop Farrell officiating.

Bishop Gilmour willed his splendid library to St. Mary's Theological Seminary, Cleveland, and the residue of all his property, wheresoever situated, to Archbishop Elder, in trust for the Catholic Church.

St. Louis will have a great Catholic cathedral to cost at least $1,000,000. It will be built near Forest Park, and the active beginning of the preparatory work will be soon after the event of Archbishop Kenrick's golden jubilee.

The Rev. Thomas Cullen, pastor of St. John's church at Utica, N. Y., died Saturday last. His illness dated from the preceding Thursday, the cause of death being hemorrhage of the stomach. He was a native of Syracuse, where his parents still reside.

Mr. J. Pettie O'Byrne lectured in the Rotunda, Dublin, recently on his experiences in the Arctic regions. Everywhere he went in the northern countries of Europe he found relics of Ireland, and even in Iceland there was a village dedicated to St. Patrick.

Rt. Rev. Mgr. Brady of St. Louis, will in a few weeks issue a call for the archbishops and bishops throughout the country, together with the priesthood of his own diocese. The assembly will meet in St. Louis, and make arrangements for the celebration of the golden jubilee of the Most Rev. Peter Richard Kenrick, Archbishop of St. Louis.

The Prince Regent of Bavaria has sent a personal donation of 10,000 marks in memory of Winthorst to the new church which is being erected at Hanover. This act of the Prince has produced a very favorable impression among the Catholics of Germany, who take it as an evidence that the anti-Catholic system of the late Herr Lutz has no longer any influence at the Court of Munich.

President Harrison and party, including Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Dimmick, Mrs. Russell Harrison and Mrs. Boyd, were received at Mission Santa Barbara, by Father O'Keefe, and shown through the historic edifice by virtue of a special dispensation. Princess Louise, of England, who visited this country in 1882 is the only other lady who has ever been permitted within this sacred precinct. On leaving the President thanked Father O'Keefe very cordially for the special privileges accorded to his party.

It is proposed to erect a suitable monument over St. Patrick's grave in the old burying ground attached to Cathedral in Downpatrick, Ireland. O'Donovan, in a letter written during the progress of the Ordnance Survey in 1834, says: "The tomb of St. Patrick is pointed out with a cross over it, but the better-informed class do not believe that this is the place he was interred in, but under the altar in the Cathedral." The design for the proposed monument is to be submitted to the clergymen of the various religious denominations in Downpatrick.

The Rev. Father Mollinger, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is just recovering from another attack of severe illness. It is thought that he will never fully recover, as his sickness is developing into dropsy of the kidneys. During his recent illness he had several prominent visitors whom he treated. Some had come from Virginia and others from Kentucky, and all remained at Troy Hills week in order to secure the blessing of St. Anthony. Among the visitors was a brother of ex-President Cleveland, says the Pittsburgh Press.

The time and place for the German Catholic Congress to be held this year has been announced by the president of the committee of priests, Rev. G. Bornemann, of Lancaster, Pa. It will be held in Buffalo, N. Y., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22-25. From what can be learned, arrangements will be made with the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company to charter a train of about fifteen coaches at Buffalo and hold it during the time the congress will be in session. The same thing will be done in the leading cities along all the railroads centering in Buffalo. It is said that there will not be enough hotel room to accommodate all the guests, and many visitors will make provision to remain in the cars during the night.

EDITORS IN SESSION.

SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF CATHOLIC PRESS ASSOCIATION.

WHO WERE AT THE METROPOLIS—ARRANGEMENTS FOR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE AND OTHER SERVICES TO ENHANCE THE VALUE OF THE CATHOLIC PRESS—RECEPTION AT THE CATHOLIC CLUB AND PUBLIC MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF NEW YORK. Special Cor. Journal.

New York, May 9, 1891.

We arrived Tuesday noon and spent the afternoon looking around the metropolis. Among other pleasant visits was one to the headquarters of the American Press Assn Association on Vesey street. We had the pleasure of a chat with Mr. I. D. Marshall, managing editor, and an old Rochester newspaper man. He is looking well and the metropolis evidently agrees with him. We also inspected the advertising agency of Geo. P. Rowell & Co. on Spruce street and the office of the Catholic News on Barclay street. In the evening we went to Hastings and spent a pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Eugene Baker (nee Miss Minnie O'Hara, of Rochester). They have a charming home in this pretty little village on the Hudson, and are capital entertainers. Mrs. Baker is a prime favorite; we are told, with the ladies of Hastings. We also ran across Mr. Joseph Murphy, who officiated as best man at the Baker wedding and made many friends in Rochester during his brief stay.

Wednesday morning we were up betimes and wended our way to the St. Francis Xavier College, 30 W. 16th street, in the spacious theater of which the sessions of the convention were held. President Pallen and Secretary Delaney with a few others were already present. Others came in and by 10:20 o'clock representatives from some 32 papers had assembled. At that hour President Pallen called the meeting to order and in a brief, pertinent speech outlined the objects and aims of the association and declared the convention opened for business. Prayer was offered by Father Cronin. Committees were then appointed as follows:

Credentials: O'Brien, Marakle and Milton E. Smith.

Foreign Correspondence: Pallen, Cronin, Badaux, McKenna, Malone.

Advertising Bureau: Griffin, Reynolds, Lepley, Kuhn, Thornbury.

Purchasing Agency: Delany, Wallace, Kerwin, and E. J. Ryan of the Catholic Journal.

The president was instructed to send a cablegram to the Holy Father expressing the respect of the convention for him and asking his blessing. The convention then adjourned until 4 p. m. The following were the journals represented: James Delaney, of the Catholic Youth, Brooklyn, Sec'y; Rev. E. J. McCabe, Cath. Youth, Brooklyn; W. F. Malone, Cath. Union, New Bedford, Mass.; M. I. J. Griffin, I. C. B. U. Journal, Philadelphia; T. A. Badaux, Cath. Advance, Thibault, La.; Rev. John Talbot Smith, Cath. Review, New York; D. J. Wallace, New Jersey Cath. Journal, Trenton, N. J.; Rev. P. H. Cronin, Cath. Union and Times, of Buffalo; the Rev. P. A. McKenna, Marlboro Star, Mass.; John R. Kuhn, Record of the C. E. L., Brooklyn; Dr. Michael Walsh, Cath. Herald, New York; J. J. McGinness, Brooklyn Leader; J. P. Thornbury, Church Jesamine, Chattanooga, Tenn.; M. J. Harson, Cath. Visitor, Providence, R. I.; Daniel E. Rudd, Tribune, Cincinnati; M. E. Smith, W. H. Lepley, Church News, Washington, D. C.; John O'Flanagan, Kansas Catholic, Kansas City, Kan.; H. M. Reynolds, Catholic Weekly, Troy, N. Y.; W. O'Brien, Mirror, Baltimore; Patrick Donahue, Boston Pilot; Miss M. M. Meline, Cath. Telegraph, Cincinnati; Francis T. Furay, Catholic Standard, Philadelphia; P. Dunlevy, Pittsburg Catholic; D. A. McWilliams, Catholic Standard, New Haven, Conn.; Mr. Clifford, of New York Tablet; Henry Ridder, Catholic News; Austin E. Ford, Freeman's Journal, J. W. O'Brien, Sunday Union and Catholic Times, New York; Mr. Haggerty, St. Joseph's Annals, Du Pere, Wis.; E. J. Ryan and Willard A. Marakle, of the Catholic Journal, Rochester, N. Y. Among the interesting personalities at the Cincinnati convention, absent here, are Rev. J. H. Conroy, of the Ogdensburg Courier, vice-president of the association, and P. S. O'Ryan, of the Catholic Home, Chicago. The first especially is missed, as he was very energetic in organizing the association and has in every way endeavored to further its interests. His wide and varied experience would have been of great value in the convention. In fact, he is worth, in a practical sense, any four of the average delegates present. One whom it is always a pleasure to meet is here and that is Daniel A. Rudd, editor of the American Catholic Tribune, the only Catholic paper in America owned and published exclusively by colored men. Many of the older editors crowded around Patrick Donahue, of the Pilot, and congratulated him upon again assuming control of the paper he founded.

One of the chief themes of discussion during the recess was the attack upon Bishop McQuaid by the Union and Times. The delegates with whom we conversed were outspoken in their denunciation of the onslaught and surprised that a paper, professing to be Catholic, should persist in such a course.

The afternoon session opened with the reports of the committee on foreign correspondence. It recommended the engagement of correspondents at Rome and London, the former a lady endorsed by Monsignor O'Donnell, of the American College, and the latter a gentleman endorsed by Cardinal Manning and Father Nugent, of the Liverpool Catholic Times. This report was adopted and the executive committee instructed to negotiate with and engage correspondents in Paris and Berlin. Messrs. Wallace and McGinness were appointed a committee to confer with the Press Association as to terms by which the foreign correspondence could be furnished more expeditiously to journals which desired it. Routine business occupied the remainder of the session.

Letters of regret were read from editors of the Catholic Sentinel, Portland, Oregon; Western Catholic News, Chicago, Ill.; Rev. J. H. Conroy, Ogdensburg Courier, Geo. D. Wolff, Catholic Standard, Phila., and others. The following committees were appointed:

Nominating Officers: O'Brien, Dunlevy, Wallace, Griffin.

Resolutions: Pallen, Smith, (J. T.) O'Brien, Smith, (M. E.) Cronin, Walsh, Donahue, M. M. Meline.

The convention adjourned at 6:30 p. m. to meet at the college and attend Mass in St. Francis Xavier's church at 8 a. m. Thursday.

In the evening a reception was tendered the editors by the Catholic Club, at its splendid quarters, 20 W. 27th street. President Chas. V. Fornes presided and welcomed the visitors, who were entertained royally. Archbishop Corrigan was present and his secretary, Mgr. C. E. McDonnell; also Messrs. Dougherty, McDonald and Burke; Michael Coleman, Joseph Qwehs, John D. Cimmmons, R. M. Walters, Joseph J. O'Donohue, Paul Kammerer, Chas. D. Sweeney, T. Kiernan and other members of the club. Speeches were made by Conde B. Pallen, Patrick Donahue, W. O'Brien Daniel A. Rudd and Milton E. Smith.

We were present but a short time at the reception. Instead we enjoyed a very pleasant visit with Miss Katherine E. Conway, assistant editor of the Pilot, and a lady well known in literary circles throughout the country. Miss Conway, as all the Journal readers know, is an old Rochester lady, and is always pleased to meet people from the Flower City. She told some very pleasing reminiscences of that great editor, recently deceased, but whose memory will long be green, John Boyle O'Reilly. Miss Conway was so intimately connected with Mr. O'Reilly on the Pilot that she is able to speak of him as but few can. And, indeed, after hearing Miss Conway's tribute to her dead chief, one could wish for no better example of Christian manhood than John Boyle O'Reilly. Miss Conway's friendship for Bishop McQuaid is too well-known to need mention here. Suffice it to say, her conversation was an exemplification of her regard for the Ordinary of the diocese.

Wednesday morning was given up in great part to addresses. The first was on the "Editorial Page," by Rev. P. H. Cronin. We cannot do better than quote from the New York Herald: "The first address was on 'The Editorial Page,' by Rev. Patrick H. Cronin, editor of the Catholic Union and Times, of Buffalo, who is devoting nearly all the editorial page of his paper to the abuse of Bishop McQuaid, of Rochester. So severe were these attacks that Bishop McQuaid issued a pastoral forbidding Catholics of his diocese to read the paper. Father Cronin's address did not touch upon his late actions, but was a carefully prepared essay on what the editorial page of a Catholic newspaper should be."

W. O'Brien of the Mirror, spoke on "The News Columns." Milton E. Smith of Church News talked on "Advertising." Having been detained from early mass, we were obliged to go to high mass, and thus missed Mr. Smith's address. We know we lost a treat, because Mr. S. always talks common sense. When we returned from mass we found the nominating committee had presented its report and that it had been adopted when but sixteen of seventeen delegates were present. Following are the officers for the ensuing year: Pres., Conde B. Pallen; Vice-Pres., Rev. P. H. Cronin; Sec'y, James Delaney; Treas., Patrick Donahue. Messrs. Pallen and Delaney are re-elected and their efforts during the past year merited such recognition. Mr. Donahue honored the association in accepting the treasurership. We hoped Father Conroy would be re-elected vice-president, but his absence seemed a bar to such action, which would, however, have been but proper.

A resolution was adopted expressing the satisfaction felt by the association at the presence of Patrick Donahue, the Nestor of Catholic journalism.

At the afternoon session the reports of the committee on advertising and purchasing agencies were received and referred to the executive committee. The committee on resolutions reported resolutions of thanks to the New York journals for their zealous and effective labors in making local arrangements for the entertainment of the association. Resolutions of thanks to the President and Faculty of St. Francis Xavier College, to His Grace, Archbishop Corrigan, to the Catholic Club, of New York, and to Fr. Dougherty. The resolution relative to the late John Boyle O'Reilly will be found on the editorial page.

At 6:30 p. m. the convention adjourned sine die. The next convention will be on the first Wednesday in May, 1892, and will be held at Washington, D. C.

In the evening at 8 o'clock a public meeting, presided over by the Archbishop, and tendered by the citizens of the metropolis, took place at St. Francis Xavier College Theater.

After an overture by the band of the Catholic Protector, Archbishop Corrigan arose, and in opening the meeting first referred pleasantly to the great welcome with which the representatives of the Catholic Press had been greeted in the city of New York, and how well New Yorkers appreciated the work to which Catholic editors were devoted. His Grace called attention to the very important task placed in their charge and the honorable work which was theirs—the right education of the people. At present the noblest feature of the Catholic press in general throughout this country, was the remarkable spectacle of the unity which binds it into one living force. Loyalty and obedience to the Holy See, whose cause is their cause, is the fundamental principle of this admirable unity. Within that limit, the limit of supporting the Vicar of Christ in his great mission for the salvation of the world, the Catholic press enjoys entire and perfect freedom. Its efforts to enlighten and instruct the human race are wholly untrammelled and it may exercise the utmost liberty.

Addresses were also delivered by Conde B. Pallen, Frederic R. Coudert, Father Cronin and General James R. O'Brien.

On Friday morning, upon the invitation of the Rev. J. J. Dougherty the visitors visited the Mission of Mount Loretto, Staten Island, where the day was spent most pleasantly.

Clyde.

May devotions will be held Sunday evenings and every morning during the month at 8 o'clock.

Ed. Buckley, who has been confined to the house for several weeks by serious illness, is able to be out again. Mrs. T. B. Hayer has returned from a two weeks' visit in Buffalo.

Miss Anna Carroll, who has been passing several months at Jeff. Cullen's, has returned to her home in Penn Yan.

Mrs. FitzPatrick died very suddenly at her home in this village last week. Funeral services were held at St. John's church Wednesday at 10 o'clock, Rev. Father Gleeson officiating.

Messrs. Burke & Burns, importers and bottlers of mineral water, have dissolved partnership. The business will be hereafter carried on under the firm name of Burke & Everat.

Miss Kittie Maxwell, of Macedon, visited friends in town last week. F. G. Sullivan spent Sunday in town with his family. Miss Kittie Kelly visited friends in Rochester last week. John Malone, of Rochester, was in town Sunday.

Parochial Schools.

NON-CATHOLICS FORCED TO ADMIT THEIR USEFULNESS.

[CONCLUDED.]

A UNIVERSALIST'S TESTIMONY.

Rev. Frank O. Hall, a Universalist clergyman, recently visited St. Bernard's school in Fitchburg, Mass. He had doubted the possibility of a good parochial school, but the examination he made dispelled his skepticism. A little later he preached at a union Protestant service in Fitchburg, on "The Moral Education of the Young." He prefaced his remarks with the statement that people think the public school a universal panacea for all ills. He differed with the idea that education of the intellect only must result in the abolition of moral depravity. He did not believe that giving every child a high school education would result in the abolition of roguery. In fact he thought the public school had proved a lamentable failure in the education of the young. The reverend gentleman went on to quote a long list of statistics, showing that nearly all criminals in the United States could read or write, or had some measure of education. He protested against the "fool's choice" of an education that feeds the intellect and starves the heart. Then the speaker, according to the Boston Pilot, said: "As exponents of Catholic thought like Bishop McQuaid of Rochester, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul might say: 'One ought not to be called upon to choose. The best way, God's way, would be to train up the whole being symmetrically, body, mind, heart, to the stature of a perfect man.'" Mr. Hall admits the Sunday school does not supply all the spiritual food needed by the child. Unfortunately he does not pursue the subject further and either has none, or has not the courage to outline, a remedy.

THE BUFFALO SCANDAL.

A Journal Condemned.

CLEVELAND CATHOLIC UNIVERSE.

Rt. Rev. Bishop McQuaid, of Rochester, has found it necessary to condemn the reading of a Catholic paper published in a neighboring diocese. This evil of professedly Catholic papers insulping the Episcopal authority is one to be gravely deplored. The spirit of irreverence is sufficiently ripe in the age, without swelling it from those very channels which are supposed to be and surely should be the best assured mediums of obedience and respect for constituted authority.

He ill knows the conservatism of the Episcopal character who does not understand how painful is such a step to a Bishop, and how grave the situation to faith and morals when a public condemnation of this character is promulgated.

But even at Rome, and at a comparatively recent date, the imprudence of a Catholic paper led to its virtual suppression by the Holy Father. For no matter how insignificant the sheet, that it entitles itself Catholic gives it some entrance within the Catholic fold, and every soul within that fold is to be safeguarded by the shepherds of the flock.

LIVONIA GAZETTE.

A pastoral letter from Bishop McQuaid was read in the Catholic churches of this diocese Sunday, protesting against the circulation of the Buffalo Catholic Union and Times. That paper's covert personal attacks on Bishop McQuaid have been malicious, and while he has for a long time refrained from any reference to them, he has at last spoken from a sense of duty not less to the church than to himself. The references of that paper have been indecent and many times brutal, and why the head of the church in the Buffalo diocese should permit a continuance of the attacks is beyond our comprehension.

CATHOLIC JOURNAL OF THE NEW SOUTH.

Rev. Father Cronin, the able editor of the Catholic Union and Times of Buffalo, N. Y., has been called to time by Rt. Rev. Bishop McQuaid, of the Rochester diocese. It seems Father Cronin has overstepped the bounds of prudence in discussing affairs in his neighboring diocese, and the good bishop of that see doesn't intend to submit to such treatment any longer.

THE JURY.

We are very much ashamed of the Rev. Father Cronin and his Bishop for using such language in the Buffalo Catholic Union as they have in regard to Bishop McQuaid and the clergymen of the diocese. * * * To speak in such vulgar language in regard to those whom people are accustomed to address with politeness and respect shows that the writers of the vicious articles are not worthy of attention.

SOCIETIES MEET NEXT WEEK.

Monday—Branch 134.
Tuesday—Branch 12.
Friday—Branch 131.
Wednesday—Branch 88.

Looks as though our genial Supreme Representative had been boycotted.

BRANCH 81.

A resolution was passed at Monday evening's meeting that the paper which the Branch has been taking for some time, be discontinued, and the CATHOLIC JOURNAL substituted for it. Br. 81 has set a good example. Thus do we supplant other papers.

Brother John C. Koesterer, financial secretary of Branch 81, celebrated his silver wedding Friday, May 1st. Services appropriate to the occasion were held in St. Joseph's church. Branch 81 adopted resolutions congratulating Bro. Koesterer and his spouse, and expressing the hope that Mr. and Mrs. K. would live to celebrate their golden wedding.

BRANCH 93.

One member was initiated at the regular meeting of this Branch in the C. B. L. rooms Monday evening. One applicant was balloted for and elected to membership in the Branch. The secretary reported that but a small portion of the amount promised to the fund for re-building St. Mary's remained unpaid. We desire to return thanks to Pres. Tobin, Vice-Pres. Rigney and other members for the courtesies shown us. Branch 93 contains many able gentlemen, whom it is a pleasure to meet.

BRANCH 139.

When the secretary of Branch 139 received a check for $2,000 in payment of the policy of Brother James McLaughlin, it was determined that no time would be lost in taking the check to Mrs. McLaughlin. Accordingly, when the meeting adjourned, the members proceeded to the home of that lady. She had been notified of their coming, and although it was near midnight, was prepared to receive them, but so overcome with emotion that she could only thank the Brothers and sign the receipts.

That the promptness shown in paying the policy was appreciated, the letter read at Tuesday evening's meeting, from Mrs. McLaughlin, plainly proves.

Branch 139 is increasing in membership at a rapid rate, and the new members are desirable ones. Michael Canner and Mr. Phelan were initiated Tuesday evening. There are five applications to be acted on.

BRANCH 105, AUBURN.

Branch 105, C. M. B. A., celebrated the fourth anniversary of the organization of the branch, Monday evening, by a banquet held in their rooms. Butler's orchestra was in attendance during the evening. An elaborate spread was served by caterer Lucas to which the large number of members and friends did full justice. Maurice F. Murphy was appointed toast master and filled the place to the delight and satisfaction of all present. A general good time was indulged in and will be remembered for years by members and guests.

155—THE NEW BRANCH.

Dr. A. J. Cormier has been appointed medical examiner of Branch 155. It is gratifying to learn that several applications for membership have already been received. The prospects of this young Branch are certainly bright.

C. B. L.

At Tuesday evening's meeting of Rochester Council, No. 207, C. B. L., one new candidate was initiated. At the meeting two weeks ago, President J. P. Henry was delegated to visit the Rt. Rev. Bishop and ask him to appoint a priest to act as spiritual adviser, the office having been vacated by the removal of Rev. James O'Connor to Seneca Falls. Mr. Henry reported that the Bishop had taken the matter under consideration. The new spiritual adviser will probably be appointed before the next meeting.

DROOPING SOCIETIES.

Under the above head, our esteemed contemporary, the Catholic Home, of Chicago, has the following to say: "Many Catholic associations have to complain of falling membership and a general apathy of the public as to their concerns. If the secretaries of such organizations really desire to promote their welfare, and add to their numbers, they would furnish the members with regular reports of their meetings, elections, entertainments and other matters of interest for publication in these columns. It is by publicity that societies must flourish as well as ordinary business enterprises. It never do for them to merely have a good purpose if they fail to make its existence constantly known. Let the secretaries try this and their languishing societies will soon be revitalized by the accession of new blood."

What the Home says of Chicago societies is equally applicable to those in the Rochester diocese. We have time and again requested secretaries to furnish us items of interest from the societies to which they belong, but comparatively few have noticed the request. It is the duty of a Catholic paper to advance the interests of good Catholic societies. On the other hand, the members of Catholic societies owe a duty to the Catholic press, and especially to the paper in their own diocese. They should help the diocesan paper in every way possible, by not only subscribing for it, but by inducing others to subscribe. Every Catholic society should give at least a share of its printing to the diocesan paper.

DIOCESAN NEWS.

Auburn.

Michael Nolan, the brakeman who was injured on the Lehigh Valley some weeks ago, died Thursday, May 7, from lock-jaw which set in shortly after the accident. He was on the road to recovery but a change came and he was carried away. The funeral took place from St. Mary's church Saturday. Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The members of "The Club" called at the home of their secretary, Luke Lane, Friday evening and presented him with an elegant gold headed cane. John Monahan made the presentation speech and Mr. Lane responded testily.

The traffic on the electric road Sunday was something enormous. It continues as it has started off the company will be obliged to put on several more cars, especially on the lake road. This branch is now running to the shore of the lake near the island. The motor men and conductors have donned their new uniforms, which are of navy blue, and very neat and attractive.

The death list in the city will be very large this week. A large number are dying of La Grippe.

The boys of the fifth grade and the boys of the fourth grade of St. Mary's school are fighting for the baseball championship of the school. They had a lively set-to one day last week, but the fifth grade boys were not "out." They let the youngsters beat them by a score of 9 to 0.

The death of Michael Tierney occurred at his late residence, 58 Holly street, Wednesday morning. Tuesday morning the three-year-old son of Mr. Tierney was buried and this double death in the family leaves the household in deep sorrow.

St. Mary's fair is booming in grand style. The various booths are now branching out and bustling for themselves in a manner which says each will come out ahead.

Thomas Anderson, a prominent member of St. Mary's congregation, is smiling over the arrival of a beautiful girl.

The smiling face of Stephen Murphy, the rising tenor singer of Auburn, is again seen behind the counter at Hislop & Co's, after a brief illness.

Bishop McQuaid will give Confirmation at St. Mary's the second Sunday in June.

Rev. J. A. Hickey will deliver the memorial sermon at St. Mary's church Sunday evening, May 24th, at 7:30.

Michael Scully and wife are preparing over the advent of a little girl born Sunday last.

Patrick Ragan has purchased an old Catholic church, and will renovate it.

Mrs. O'Donnell, of Canandaigua, visited with her daughter, Mrs. Crystal, this week.

John Houston, Jr., and wife, entertained a number of their friends, Sunday evening.

Michael O'Grady visited in Canandaigua Sunday evening. Miss Nellie Connor, of the guest of Mrs. O'Grady.
