Mass, Irish Festival Listed By Avon Parish

Avon will have a special observance of St. Patrick's Day, according to plans announced this week by the Rosary and Holy Name Societies of St. Agnes Parish.

Both groups will join to give proper spiritual and cultural recognition of the Apostle of Ireland. Highlight of the observance will be an "Irish Festival" sceduled in St. Agnes Parish Hall on St. Patrick's night.

Very Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Flynn, administrator, will celebrate High Mass at 9 a.m. in the parish church to open Avon's St. Patrick's Day observance.

IRISH MUSIC and songs will feature the "Irish Festival." Prefacing the evening's program will be a hi-fidelity recording of Frederick Fennell's "Irish Suite" at 7:30. A motion picture of Ireland will be shown at 8 p.m. and dancing to orchestra music will follow the movies.

The program of Irish songs will be presented by St. Agnes Men's Choir and soloists, Mrs. Richard Collins and Mrs. Albert Burke. Refreshments will be served during the dance.

Authentic Gaelic decorations for the parish hal have been prepared by Dr. Joseph C. O'Dea and Mrs. Harod Cole, Sr. These are hand-painted "arms" of Irish families.

Heading the committee on arrangements for the "Irish Festival," along with Dr. O'Dea and Mrs. Cole, are Mrs. Charles Moran, Rosary Society president, and William Mulvaney, Holy Name Society president.

Yugoslavs To Visit Pope

Belgrade—(RNS)—Two Catholic bishops in Communist Yugoslavia will make visits to the Vatican this year, it was officially announced here.

The prelates are Bishop Franjo Franic, Apostolic Administrator of the Diocese of Split in Dalmatia, and Bishop Dragutin Nezic, Apostolic Administrator of the Diocese of Porec and Pula, in the Istrian peninsula. The dates of their visits have not yet been disclosed.

Recent indications of continuing Church-State tensions have been seen in the reported arrests of numerous priests and seminarians in various parts of the country, and the new pressures being brought on Catholic clergymen to join the government-sponsored priests' associations.

Parish Party To Aid Jesuit India Mission

Rumor flies fast and furious in Golmuri, India, where it's whispered that American streets are paved with gold. Father Michael Kavanaugh, S.J., formerly a native of Rochester, explains to his flock that the streets may be lacking in gold, but not the hearts of the people.

Members of St. Augustine's Parish hope to prove him right once again at the 5th annual card party on March 17. The proceeds of the fund raising card party will be used for a new church hall in Golmuri which will also serve as a school. At present 300 children attend classes on the open church verandah.

HARDLY A DAY passes without five or six converts fervently asking for Baptism. The continued growth of Father Kavanaugh's flock makes necessary the enlargement of present building facilities.

The dessert card party will be held in the school hall, Thursday, March 17. Dessert will be served promptly at 1 p.m.

Completion of arrangements is headed by Mrs. Robert Brayer, and Mrs. Clerus Horn assisted by Mrs. Niles Sturethbury, Mrs. Marcian Scheg, Mrs. William Gall, Mrs. Charles Gibney, Mrs. Laird Haase, Mrs. Raymond Arbor, Mrs. James Mooney, Mrs. James McMahon, Mrs. Jeremiah Moynihan, Mrs. Fred Dittman, and Mrs. Luther Ewing.
