Eichmann Return Asked

Buenos Aires — (RNS) — El Pueblo, Catholic daily here, backed Argentine demands that Israel return Adolf Eichmann to this country pending negotiations for his extradition and trial for his share in the Nazi extermination of 6,000,000 Jews between 1942 and 1954.

The paper insisted, Eichmann should be brought back to Argentina where "competent authorities" would decide where he should be taken for trial.

The Catholic paper said that meanwhile the Eichmann affair prompted it to ask, "Where is there a spokesman for democracy and freedom to remind us that millions of Christians live under Soviet oppression in Western countries?"

Liturgy Week Enrolls Throng

Washington — (NC) — More than 4,000 persons are expected to attend the 21st annual North American Liturgical Week in Pittsburgh, August 22 to 25, the sponsoring group announced here.

The meeting of priests, religious and laity interested in increasing understanding of the Church's public worship will open with addresses on the theme, "Liturgy and Unity in Christ," and on "God's Call to Worship."

Monument Marks Chapel Site

This monument near Holcomb marks the spot where Jesuit missionaries in the 17th century built a chapel for captive Huron Christians. Herman Heixler, Rochester industrialist, donor of the marker, tells Bishop Kearney, who blessed the marker Saturday evening, the story of St. Michael's Chapel. He later presented the Bishop with the chapel's key found at the site. More than 600 attended the ceremony. (See Courier Journal, May 13, 1960, page 4, for complete story.)

Politics 'Not Dirty'

Citizen's Duties Cited

River Forest — (NC) — U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota has criticized Catholics who "look upon almost every campaign or political effort in the nature of a crusade." Such an attitude is an "oversimplification," Sen. McCarthy declared.

He disagreed with Catholics who refer to politics as a "dirty business" and who believe that "the really good citizen is the independent voter who remains aloof from the nastiness of party politics."

"There is no excuse . . . for complete neutralism and detachment," he said.

Sen. McCarthy, a Catholic, spoke at a symposium on "The Present Position of Catholics in America," sponsored by the library science department of Rosary College here and by the Thomas More Association, an organization which promotes cultural activity among Catholics.

He said Catholics, like most other Americans, have been "strongly influenced" by an "erroneous pessimistic concept of the nature and function of government."

This school of thought holds that government is no better than a necessary evil, he said.

He continued: "Catholics, along with other citizens of the United States, have been guilty of oversimplification with regard to politics and too ready to accept that the right approach to politics is a moral and spiritual one rather than a political one, to look upon almost every campaign or political effort in the nature of a crusade.

Far from remaining aloof from practical politics, Sen. McCarthy said, the citizen in a democracy has a "responsibility of participation in politics."

"Not everyone has an obligation to run for public office, or even to become active in party organization . . . There is no excuse, however, for complete neutralism and detachment," he said.
