Dansville Group, Newly Started, Opens Program

Dansville — New members of the newly formed Rosary-Altar Society were formally received into the Archconfraternity of the Most Holy Rosary Sunday, Nov. 20, in St. Mary's Church. Immediately following the services, a silver tea was held in the auditorium of St. Mary's school under the chairmanship of Miss Laura FitzPatrick, assisted by Mrs. Rose Hayes, and Mrs. John Leyden.

The Rosary-Altar Society was organized under the direction of the Rev. John M. Merklinger, moderator, and Mrs. Walter Blum, president. The group is the outgrowth of the Rosary-Altar Society of the former St. Patrick's parish, and the former Christian Mothers Society of St. Mary's parish. The two parishes merged in 1958 to become the present St. Mary's parish.

A VIGOROUS PROGRAM has been outlined to appeal to the 168 members. At the last meeting the bydaws were passed and a social program of cards followed. On Dec. 5 the Sacred Heart Circle, of the Family Life Committee will hold a puppet show about St. Nicholas and Black Peter in the school auditorium for the benefit of the school children. Mrs. John Welch, chairman of the committee also announced that in keeping with the feast of St. Nicholas, on Dec. 6, the school children will find on their desks stockings filled with goodies for good children and stockings filled with straw for bad children.

The December meeting will take place on December 21, and the program will consist of a pageant under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Pruner and Mrs. John Kelly.

A recent bake sale yielded over $3,000 and the proceeds were turned over to the new school to be used for draperies in the audio-vision room.

• A pro football player was fined $100 by his manager for breaking training. He had gone to a party the night before the big game in an upstate city.

"Don't think I didn't know about that hotel episode in Detroit," the manager roared.

"You're way off!" retorted the husky halfback. "There ain't no Hotel Episode in Detroit."

English Catholics Spend $84 Million For Schools

London—(NC)—The three and a half-million Catholics in England and Wales will have provided $84 million for Catholic education when the present building program is completed in 1963.

They will have built 737 major schools since the overhaul of the national education system was started in 1944. Costs will actually total $198 million. $112 million is being provided by national or local authorities.

These statistics were given by Bishop Andrew Beck, A.A., of Salford, chairman of The Catholic Education Council, in the Catholic Teachers' Journal.

College Men Hailed For Blood Donations

National Red Cross Blood Mobile visited John Fisher College on Nov. 14. The students maintained their tradition of blood donations, with more than 50% of the eligible members of the student body volunteering. The Red Cross workers remarked that this was the first time in their experience that youth had lined up to give to the Blood Bank.

From the 237 collegians who were processed, 162 pints of blood were donated. Fifteen other Fisher students will give blood on Nov. 30 for an open heart operation to be performed at Strong Memorial Hospital.

The Fisher Blood Bank Committee responsible for the success of the recruiting of donors was headed by Richard and Robert Moore as co-chairmen, the Rev. James W. Embser, C.S.B., as faculty moderator, assisted by Robert Bauman, Roland Michael, Gerard Kimeber, Joseph Hicks and Michael Lindsay. The motto of their campaign was "Let's forget ourselves and provide for our neighbor in need."

For the past two years students of St. John Fisher College have won the Walz Trophy awarded by the Red Cross to the College which yields the largest percentage of students to donate blood. If the silver cup is won again this year, it will be given permanently to St. John Fisher College.
