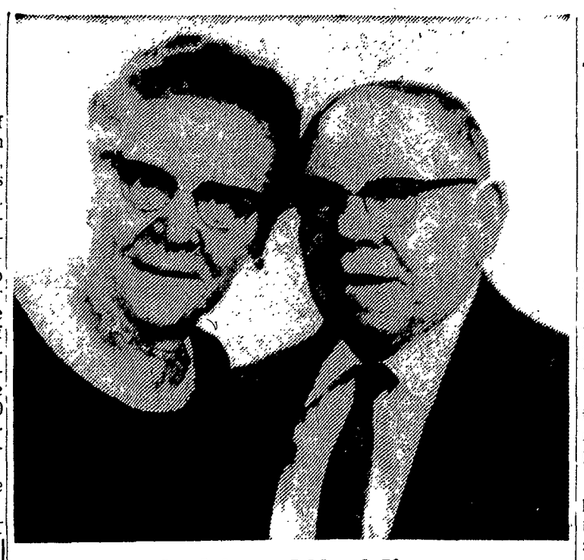
Cayuga Women To Hold Meet

Cayuga Deanery Council of Catholic Women will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 19, at 8:15 p.m., at the Catholic Daughters Home, 44 South St., Auburn. Mrs. William J. Coleman, president, will preside at the business meeting.

ELECTION OF officers to serve during the ensuing year will be held at this time. There will also be a discussion of plans for the forthcoming Rochester Diocesan Council of Catholic Women Convention to be held in Rochester on Oct. 20 and 21. All women in the Cayuga Deanery are urged to attend this meeting.

A social hour will follow the business meeting.



Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES BELLAVIA of 18 Parkway observed their golden anniversary on Sept. 3. They repeated their marriage vows at St. Anthony's Church and were honored at a dinner for the immediate family. Mr. Bellavia, a retired Eastman Kodak employee, and his wife, Josephine, came to the United States from Serradifalco, Italy, in 1912 and settled in Rochester in 1922. They have four sons: Frank, Ross, Carmen, and Michael; two daughters: Mrs. Leo Calabria and Mrs. Frank Mangione; eighteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Catechist Training Course To Open In Fairport

The Lay Catechist Training Course will begin Monday, Sept. 25 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Assumption School of Religion, Fairport.

The course is designed to prepare laymen and women to assist the priests and Sisters in their respective parishes to teach Religion to public school students.

IT WILL CONSIST of a 30-hour course in Methods of Teaching Religion given by the Sisters, Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart, and also a 30-hour course in Christian Doctrine conducted by Rev. Leonard A. Kelly, pastor of Assumption Parish.

Any zealous laymen interested in Catholic Action will find here a choice field in which to exercise the apostolate. "When students coming for Religious Instruction can be properly graded, and taught Religion in an interesting way, and in an atmosphere conducive to thought and study, many souls can be brought closer to the one important thing in life . . . 'To know Him Whom Thou has sent, Jesus Christ . . .' To lead little ones to know and love God then, is the sublime role of the lay catechist."

IN PREPARATION for this work, new and interesting techniques used in teaching the word of God will be explained and demonstrated at the Method Class which begins each Monday at 1 p.m. The refresher course in Christian Doctrine follows at 2 p.m. and will enrich the background of the Catechist.

Seven of last year's graduate catechists are presently teaching at Assumption, Fairport, while others are teaching at St. Paul of the Cross, Honeoye Falls, Nativity of the Blessed Virgin, Brockport, St. Patrick's Victor. Three catechists are teaching at St. Patrick's in downtown Rochester, and St. Jerome's, East Rochester.

Certificates will be awarded by Bishop Kearney at the successful completion of the new course.

Fred Monaco Marks 93 Years

Geneva—Fred Monaco, a retired well-known local grocer, celebrated his 93rd birthday recently in the Margaret Ayre Nursing Home on Pre-Emption Rd., where he has been a patient since April.

Mr. Monaco formerly conducted a grocery store at 111 Washington St., for many years. The business was later moved next door to 115 Washington St., and is now operated by his son, John Monaco, who took over the store in 1935.

THE NONAGENARIAN was taken ill in Bradford, Pa., where he was living with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Carey. He was hospitalized for two months in Bradford and was then taken to Geneva. He has been a patient in the local nursing home since April.

During the day, Tuesday, Sept. 5, the family, relatives and friends called on Mr. Monaco to express birthday greetings.

Mr. Monaco is a member of St. Stephen's Church.

Eleven children were born to the Monacos. A daughter, Mrs. Anna Balcom of Rochester, was killed in an auto accident this summer. Mr. Monaco's wife, Mrs. Mary Monaco, died in June, 1950.

The family includes: Mrs. Vener Grosso, Mrs. Rose Grosso and Mrs. Mildred LaMalfa, all of Schenectady; John N. Monaco, Mrs. Philomena Flynn and Mrs. Josephine Felice, all of Geneva; Fred Monaco, of Waterloo; Mrs. Mary Carey and Mrs. Mary D'Amico, of Bradford, Pa.; and Miss Esther Monaco of Rochester; 19 grandchildren and 41 great-grandchildren.

Looking Back

Cathedral High Reunion Revives Old Memories

By THOMAS H. O'CONNOR

Graduates of the class of 1911 from Old Cathedral High School will be marking the golden jubilee of graduation; the 1916 class, the 45th anniversary and all other former students and graduates will be looking back on school days at Brown and Frank St. when the annual reunion is held Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Wishing Well, Chili Ave.

ACTIVITIES will be somewhat dignified compared with other reunions held down through the years when youth was more evident in lively frames and athletic events were the main part of reunion programs.

To remember all that happened back over the years would be beyond me if it were not for a book of clippings my wife put together which though yellow with age nevertheless records some of the "alumni" activity. The girl graduates who were invited to the reunion a year ago and will be there this year, are not reported in the association's early days.

It must have been after the school's name was changed to Rochester Catholic High School for the reunion held at Manitou Beach back in the 1920s was credited to that school's alumni group but the individuals participating, even as now, had familiar names.

The account said business and professional men and one priest were association members. The priest, Rev. G. Chester Lindsay, is now a member of the Jesuit order and located in New York City after many years at Cathedral High School. What happened at the reunion during is not reported but the "grads" participated in ball games, races and other activities, of which only the "other activities" can be handled today — and even that not so much.

Undoubtedly this reunion was held while Father Albert J. Geiger was in the seminary for his name does not appear—later however, the genial pastor of Holy Ghost Church, Coldwater was made perennial president and will again be jokingly elected at the coming reunion. Other priests mentioned in the early days are Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph E. Grady, and the late Rev. George H. Doud, faculty members.

An annual get-together and dinner of the association was held at the Powers Hotel at which Bishop Thomas F. Hickey, later Archbishop Hickey, founder of the school was honored. Daniel F. Fitzgerald (now an attorney) was president of the association—he still is a featured speaker at the reunions.

One of the outstanding recorded reunions is the one held in September of 1923 at the late Al Doud's farm in Pittsford. Taking place after World War I, the alumni organized a Whitman-McGinnis-Smith Club in honor of three of their members who lost their lives in service. Commemorated were Louis (Dutch) Whitman, Charles McGinnis and J. Clovis Smith.

The eager beaver picknickers gathered at Lawrence (Bridgey) Weber's Store, opposite the old school and with Joseph P. (Stubby) Flynn (architect of fame) as marshall and Dan Fitzgerald, general chairman and proceeded in automobiles—yes they had been invented then—to the farm.

The athletes—basketball, baseball, hockey and track stars of not too many years ago on school teams competed in a ball game that as far as is recorded ended in the inevitable argument. Dr. Harold Quigley and Frank Riedman presented an exhibition of saw wielding that won applause.

Clippings are not available but it is recalled that revival of the alumni reunions came with a 1946 [illegible] more than 20 years ago at Bay View. Father John Loane, CSB, was at Aquinas then and attended the reunion. [illegible] played on the grounds now used for softball competition at the bay hotel.

BASKETBALL was the main sport at the old school and the alumni support of the teams brought them together at games and team banquets. The meeting of the alumni and the 1917 school team at old Cathedral hall b rought owdnuotre 1917 school team at old Cathedral hall brought out a crowd.

A sidelight on the 1917 team was that two weeks after the season closed in 1917, Harold Clark, John Gilbert, Gerald Quigley and "Dutch" Whitman enlisted in the Marine Corps. Whitman was killed at Soissons in 1918. All four enlisted on April 6, the day the United States declared war upon Germany. Not one of them was over 18 years of age.

Another memorable gathering of the alumni was for the opening of the basketball court at Aquinas Institute on Dewey Ave. Bishop Hickey was listed as a spectator of a game between the school team and the alumni. The playing of Butch Clark, Eddie Taylor and Dr. Eugene Leicht for the alumni featured the game against Coach Bill McCarthy's national champion school team.

A dinner in the school cafeteria preceded the game. Names on the committee are active today — Neil F. Collins, perennial secretary, Walter B. Mallon, insurance man and former basketball star, Harold Clark, Richard Wegman. Others of the committee have been called to eternal reward.

They don't know it's being done but William Hammond's and Harold Connor's names are included here as committeemen of reunion from way back. Bill Hammond is advertising representative of the Diocesan Directory and Harold is Courier Journal advertising director—in the offices next door to editorial.

The reunions at Dailey's Wishing Well formerly held in the barn and now in the new dining room have been going on since before the second world war. All that needs to be told is the date, Sept. 21 for the fellows and gals who went to the old school — now a parking lot — to get together.

Catering Business Changes Ownership

Valley Echo on Browncroft Boulevard in Penfield has been sold to Foley's Valley Echo, Inc., a corporation headed by James Foley of Pittsford and Salvatore Aloi of Rochester.

BOTH MEN are career chefs and food managers. For many years Foley was Executive Chef and Aloi was Sous Chef of the Sheraton Hotel in Rochester.

Arrangements for alterations and expansion will start this week and on completion of their new kitchen they will offer a prepared food service to food directors throughout Rochester.

Lewis and his wife Loretta, long time popular outside and inside caterers will remain with Foley's Valley Echo, Inc., for sometime in an advisory capacity. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were the servers of the largest one sitting dinner in Western New York (4,000) in 1959 at the Culver Road Armory.

Foley is Chairman of the Board at the Rochester Food Service Executives and he is the originator of the Annual Food Services Seminar. He also fostered the first class in food handlers that began last year at the Rochester Institute of Technology.

ATTORNEY FOR the buyers was John Griesberger, Esq. of Oviatt, Gilman, O'Brien, Forman & Clark and representing the sellers was E. James Hickey, Esq. of Hickey & McHugh.

Purchase price for land, building and stock was $125,000.

James T. Rund, broker, negotiated the sale.

Student From Bolivia

Youth Adoration Hour Listed For Teenagers

The Catholic Youth Adoration Holy Hour will be held at St. Joseph's Church this Sunday, Sept. 17 from 7 to 8 p.m. All high school students are invited. Rev. Michael Volpe, Diocesan Director of Sodalities, will conduct the Holy Hour, and the Rev. David Finks, chaplain at Our Lady of Mercy High School will preach.

THE CATHOLIC YOUTH Adoration Holy Hour, now in its tenth year in Rochester, was founded by the Rev. Joseph Bernier, a Blessed Sacrament Father, in New York City at the Church of St. Jean Batiste.

Father Bernier's booklet is used for the prayers at the Holy Hour. The purpose of the hour of prayer is "to bring young people closer to Christ in the Holy Eucharist."

Over 50,000 hours of prayer have been offered by the high school students of Rochester during these past ten years through Catholic Youth Adoration.

Sam England Requiem Held

Solemn Funeral Mass for Samuel England was offered in Corpus Christi Church Sept. 8. Mr. England, a former maitre d'hotel and headwaiter of two Rochester hotels died at his home, 32 Stunz St., Sept. 5, 1961.

SOLEMN REQUIEM Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Robert Meng assisted by the Rev. R. Richard Brickler, deacon and the Rev. Thomas R. Statt, subdeacon.

Mr. England was a member of the Holy Name Society of Corpus Christi church of Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus and Rochester Waiters Local 763.

He was employed at the Hotel Seneca, now the Manger, as maitre d'hotel and was headwaiter at the Sagamore Hotel, now the Sheraton, for 14 years. He also had been employed at the Manhattan Restaurant as night manager. He retired in 1956 from his last position at the Brass Rail.

Besides his wife, Gertrude C. England, he leaves a daughter, Gertrude C. England; two sons, Thomas E. and Bernard L. England; a brother, John of Northern Rhodesia, and three grandchildren.

Blessing at the grave in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery was given by Father Brickler. Arrangements by McLaughlin Funeral Home.

TRUCK SERVICE FEATURED

FRANK BARBER
Service Manager

Truck repair and maintenance is our specialty at Frear Chevrolet. We like the work because once a truck owner gets satisfaction he stays a good customer from then on.

Trucks take a lot of abuse. Drivers have a tendency to think they'll go on forever. They have to be kept rolling or someone is going to lose money, plenty of it. That's why we at Frear Chevrolet preach preventative maintenance as well as good repairs. At the heart of preventative maintenance is complete lubrication and check-up every 1000 miles. Frear has 18 men, many of them factory trained, to see that your truck runs and runs right. Here are complete facilities and a stock of parts second to none in Monroe County. Whether you run one truck or own an entire fleet, Frears can give you fast, dependable service. Drive in any day. Night work by appointment.
