Aquinas Tournament Lists 25 Schools

Twenty-five high schools will vie for debating honors this week-end at the 13th annual Aquinas Institute invitational debating tournament. Fifty teams representing schools from Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York states will participate, according to Gordon DeHond, moderator of the debating club at the Basilian Fathers' school.

All schools will compete for the coveted Aquinas Debating Tournament trophy, currently held by Canisius High School of Buffalo. Last year Canisius emerged, after five rounds, with the highest total of debate victories. The trophy may be retained by the winning school for one year or until retired by a particular school after three wins.

The second place school will be awarded the Gannett Newspapers trophy. This is now in possession of McQuaid Jesuit High School, last year's runner-up.

ADDITIONAL prizes are given to the third place school and to the outstanding boy and girl speakers.

Prominent local lawyers and members of the Monroe County Bar Association act as judges together with members of the debating societies of St. John Fisher College and the Rochester Institute of Technology. Debate coaches consider the caliber of judging at the annual Aquinas tournaments responsible for its outstanding reputation. It is the custom for the judges to give a critique and practical advice to each debater.

Topic for the debate will be: "Resolved that the United States should promote a common market for the western hemisphere."

Each school will supply an affirmative team of experienced debaters to uphold a common market in the western hemisphere and a negative team of debaters who are obligated to find an alternative to such a proposal.

Highlight of the Saturday sessions will be a banquet in the school cafeteria to be attended by debaters, coaches, judges and guests.

Chairman for the weekend event is James Kehoe, president of the school's society of forensic arts. He is assisted by James Austin. Norman Kolb, C.S.B., assistant moderator, is faculty adviser.

As host school Aquinas Institute will not take part in the debates nor be eligible for the awards.

Drum Corps Contest Set

"Sound Off for '63," third annual drum corps spectacular co-sponsored by 200th Veterans Memorial Post, American Legion and the Emerald Cadets junior drum and bugle corps, will be featured at the Rochester Community War Memorial Saturday, March 9 at 7:45 p.m.

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of entry and exit maneuvers and all-around excellence.

Rounding out the show will be exhibitions by Syracuse Brigadiers, five time state champions and national contenders, along with the host corps, the Emerald Cadets.

Tickets are one sale at the Community War Memorial, and early reservations are urged.

"Books Transcend Space and Time," the theme of National Catholic Book Week this year, is also serving as the theme of displays done by the Canisius Library Club. Members are working under newly elected heads, chairman Nancy Milliman and secretary-treasurer Maryann Russotti.

The winners of a library contest for the freshmen will be announced during National Catholic Book Week and will receive paperback books as prizes, according to Sister Mary Esther, Mercy librarian.

Evaluation Study

A committee from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will visit Nazareth Academy on Feb. 18, 19 and 20 for evaluation, according to Sister Agnes Cecilia, principal.

Evaluation is a process by which the association determines whether a school meets the standards required for membership in this organization or whether member schools have followed through recommendations made in a previous study, and that they have maintained standards in keeping with their philosophy and educational objectives.

Since the school aims to develop in the best possible way the potential of students in keeping with its philosophy, committees set up by the principal have made their survey, with the idea of improving all areas, especially those in which educational research has provided technological aids to classroom instruction.

Nazareth was accredited for membership by an evaluating committee in 1944 upon application of the principal Sister M. Hubertine. In 1951 under Sister M. Pauline the school was reevaluated and its membership again approved upon report of the evaluating committee. Last year Sister Agnes Cecilia, principal, invited the association to make its periodic survey of the school and its offerings.

Fashions Listed

Homemaking students of Nazareth Acamedy will model outfits of their own making at the annual spring fashion show, "Fashions for Seventeen," Tuesday, Feb. 19, in the school auditorium.

Coordinator, Sister Marie Lawrence, stated that the students handiwork will include mostly dress clothes; however, some sports attire will be featured.

The Fontbonne Band will play before and after assembly. Background music will set the mood with Kathleen Kunz at the organ. Bonnie Purdy, a sophomore, will be commentator. Catherine Cross wrote the introduction; Kathleen Reding submitted the theme.

Named Correspondent

Nancy Tufano of Nazareth Academy has been named co-ed correspondent, according to an announcement by Margaret Hauser, editor of Co-ed Magazine. Her appointment was made by Sister Marie Lawrence, home economics teacher.

Selected for her qualities of leadership and her enthusiasm for home economics, she will serve as junior advisor to the editors of Co-ed, national magazine for teen-age girls, and will keep them informed of school activities.

Presentation of a special Co-ed pin and card will be made to Nancy in a special awards assembly.

Party Planned

Under the sponsorship of Nazareth Academy's Student Council, a Valentine's dance will be held on Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Barn. Juniors, seniors and their dates will dance in a Valentine atmosphere to the theme of Hearts and Flowers. Music will be provided by a band, and entertainment by students.

Committee heads are Catherine Keady, publicity; Janet Kolb and Alice Leimberger, decorations; Mary Jean Roberts, special arrangements and checking; Mary Farone, refreshments; Francine Belluscio, entertainment; Norma Tracy, undecorating.

Seminary Cagers Lose

The lads at St. Andrew's Seminary had better stay at their prayer books—they had a dismal week on the basketball court.

The seminary squad lost three in a row—to Roberts Wesleyan College (93-90), to Monroe Community College (56-52) and the U. of R. Medical School (92-75).

In the Roberts game, Schwingle and Eakin paced the winners with 34 and 24 points with Bill Connor, 23, Dave Fitzgibbons, 32, leading the losers. Monroe Community College took an early lead and refused to relinquish it in their game with the seminarians at RIT gymnasium. When St. Andrew's neared their opponents' score, overanxiety [illegible] turned near-victory into another defeat by giving the ball away in foul shots.

Gardner and Sanders, both well above the 6 foot measure, chalked up most of the points for the U of R medics.

Seminarian Bill Connor led the Saints with 27 points. The Seminary record is now 2-8 with return matches scheduled with these opponents.
