Dear Loretta Young

Money, Movies

By MISS LORETTA YOUNG

Borrowed Money

Dear Loretta Young:

I would like your advice. My husband and I borrowed some money from his brother and we always paid back as much as we could afford.

Now my husband is dead a number of years and my brother-in-law's wife is telling people that we never paid any of it. To my face, they are nice and as sweet as pie. I would tell them I know what they are saying but I know from past experience that they would deny it.

I try to forgive them but I can't forget.

Sincerely,
Mrs. X.

Dear "Mrs. X":

Yes, you can forget.

Offer your humiliation to Our Dear Lord in reparation for all the humiliation He accepted with infinite charity. And pray every day for your in-laws. This is a perfect opportunity for "turning the other cheek."

Sincerely,
Loretta Young

Legion Rating

Dear Miss Young:

I really don't have a problem but more of a gripe. I'm referring to the Legion of Decency film ratings. I used to pick my movies by their ratings but was shocked to see the "B" rating they gave "Irma La Douce." I (and several of my friends) thought it should have been condemned. What think you?

Sincerely,
Rhode Island Fan

Dear "Rhode Island":

I know little or nothing of the rating procedure of the Legion of Decency so I am not qualified to explain their rating of "Irma La Douce." However, if you are asking for my personal opinion, I agree that it should have been condemned.

Sincerely,
Loretta Young

Young Senior

Dear Miss Young:

My problem may be a stupid and gruesome one but it's broken many a heart before mine. It concerns a certain young senior. We were once very close and therefore saw a lot of each other. Slowly I began to really fall for him, thinking that the feeling was mutual. The painful thing was that we had never actually dated, just flirted. However, he began to surmise that I did like him and started to pay very little attention to me.

I made a very foolish mistake by getting my friends to ask him if he liked me. Now he doesn't even say hello, and yesterday I found out that he is going out with another girl. Is there any way I can get him to like me without hurting myself again and making a fool of myself.

"Broken-hearted Freshman"

Dear "Broken-hearted Freshman":

It seems to me that he has made his feelings pretty obvious by dating another girl. Forget the daydreams, dear. A fruitless flirtation may hurt your pride but it will never break your heart.

Be smart: Keep smiling and whatever you do, don't wear your heart on your sleeve. Your feelings are much too important and personal to show to every one who comes your way. Keep a little mystery about yourself. Men love it — it's intriguing.

Sincerely,
Loretta Young

Observation: This film is a drama about the plight of the oppressed worker in late 19th century Italy and about his first struggle for recognition as a human being. The realistic treatment which is used in the development of this powerful drama is characterized by vulgarity in language and earthiness in situations.

Notes: An A-IV classification is given to certain films which, while not morally offensive in themselves, require caution and some analysis and explanation as a protection to the uninformed against wrong interpretations and false conclusions.

Space Exhibit At Museum

Four major program areas of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are shown in the display "Photography From Five Years of Space" at Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences through June 28 in the special exhibition gallery on the second floor.

The first five years of activity are depicted in scenes of manned space flight, scape sciences, applications and advanced research and technology.

There are 94 color and monochrome photographs in the display. Each provides information in visual form that will add to a better understanding of United States space science and technology.

The exhibit is a collection of outstanding prints made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Life, New York Times and National Geographic photographers. Photographs were selected by Allan Gould of the American Society of Magazine Photographers: George Tames of New York Times and Maurice H. Louis and A.C. Summerville, Fellow and Associate, respectively, of the Photographic Society of America. The pictures were chosen for their strong human appeal and lasting documentary value—unforgettable people and events recorded for posterity by the Camera.

Rockets, satellites, Saturn assembly line, Mercury escape system test, the Astronauts, recovery of the astronauts are among the exciting scenes covering a span of five years of space science in America.

Parents Meet At De Sales

Geneva—"Parents' Afternoon" was observed at St. Francis de Sales School on Pentecost Sunday.

The program was aimed at helping parents to help their children.

GUEST SPEAKER from Rochester was Sister Jamesetta principal of Nazareth Academy, whose subject was "The Psychological Needs of the Teen-Agers."

The Rev. Elmer McDonald, assistant at St. Francis de Sales, spoke on "The Spirituality of the Parents."

Sister Joseph Michelle, principal of St. Francis de Sales School, welcomed the parents and introduced the guest speaker.

Some 150 parents heard Sister Jamesetta say that teenage first of all was not an abnormal but a normal stage through which a child must pass. A teenager is neither a child nor an adult—he must get his foothold and the parent must act as the guide, the leader, the ideal.

Refreshments were served by a committee of sixth grade mothers headed by Mrs. Paul Evangelista.

Father Elmer McDonald, completed the total picture for the parents by his talk "The Spirituality of the Parents."
