
Devil's Advocate

Father Rafael Perez, a Spanish friar at Rome's Augustinian College, has been named Promoter of the Faith —known as the "Devil's Advocate" — in the beatification causes of the late Pope Pius XII and Pope John XXIII. His responsibility will be to raise all possible objections to the canonization of the two pontiffs to make sure that a saint is not proclaimed through "human enthusiasm or error." Recently Pope Paul VI named two postulators to promote causes for the canonization of Pius XII and John XXIII.

Layman Hasn't Had His Due

St. Paul — (NC) — The Church's hierarchy "hasn't been giving the layman his due," the director of the Fides Publishing Company said here.

Holy Cross Father Louis J. Putz told chaplains at a regional Christian Family Movement convention, "If the laity are the People of God and we're their servants, we must learn from them."

The Second Vatican Council, he added, marked "the first time in the history of the Church that the laity have achieved any status."

Before World War II, he said, "Catholic Action . . . was a clerical monopoly, or at least it was the laymen helping the priest in his apostolate."

Friday Fish on Way Out? U.S. Bishops Soon to Decide

Washington—(RNS)—Will U.S. Roman Catholics be granted a blanket dispensation from the law of abstinence from meat on Fridays, such as was given recently to Catholics in Italy?

Or will be they simply granted greater individual latitude in deciding when certain occasions may permit them to exempt themselves from the abstinence precept?

These are questions expected to be answered when the U.S. bishops hold their annual meeting here in November.

The issue will probably arise when the bishops discuss the Apostolic Constitution "Poenitemini," modifying the Church's law on fast and abstinence, which was issued by Pope Paul VI on Feb. 17.
