Political Climate Favors Pupil Aid

The three Republican and the three Democratic candidates from the five county 49th senatorial district for next spring's state constitutional convention went on record this past week to revise or repeal the so-called Blaine amendment.

The six candidates announced their unanimous commitment to seek justice for pupils in all schools in a telegram to the organization called Citizens for Educational Freedom.

A tabulation of all candidates in the twelve county Rochester Diocese will be published in next week's Courier showing their stand on the controversial section of the state's constitution.

The Cayuga-Ontario-Schuyler-Wayne-Yates candidates favoring the revision are Republicans H. G. Howard, Charles Cusick, William F. Walsh, and Democrats Irving Stevens, James Cuddy and Donald J. Eades.

At the state-wide level, Liberal Party gubernatorial candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., wants to keep the Blaine amendment because he's opposed to any state-paid funds for parochial schools.

Parents who send their children to private schools, he said, "should not escape the responsibility for maintaining public schools at the highest possible level" and as to providing parochial school pupils with tax-paid textbooks and other aids, he said, "I don't believe we have that kind of money."

Democratic candidate Frank D. O'Connor, however, urged repeal of the restrictive legislation.

"In the area of education," Mr. O'Connor said, "I believe that the state would be derelict in its responsibilities if it did not do what is constitutionally permissible to make sure that all of its children — particularly educationally disadvantaged children—have the chance to obtain an adequate education.

"I believe that adoption of a clause based on the federal (First Amendment) model would allow us to give limited and appropriate help to children who elect to exercise their right, recognized by the federal Constitution, to attend non-public schools — and to do so honestly, without subterfuge and without impairing the separation of church and state that we hold so dear," he stated.

He then listed the following reasons for supporting repeal of the Blaine amendment:

1. The amendment applies only to education and does not provide a broad statement on church-state relations in all areas, as does the federal First Amendment.

2. Unlike the federal amendment, the state amendment's Article 11, Section 3 does not list its guarantees in general terms which legislators and courts "can apply creatively to ever-changing circumstances."

3. The Blaine amendment is "the specific answer of the Constitutional Convention of 1894 to a set of conditions which no longer exist."

Pointing specifically to the "direct or indirect" standard in the state amendment, Mr. O'Connor reasons that it can be applied to eliminate such benefits given to parochial school pupils as free milk, hot lunch programs, vaccinations and other health services granted to children during school hours.

Peace Island In India

Tiruchi, India — (NC) — Local authorities have suggested a group of villages near here as the site for an "Island of Peace" proposed by Belgian Dominican Father Dominique Pire, winner of the 1958 Noble Peace Prize.

The project will be similar to Asia's first "Island of Peace" which Father Pire established in Chittagong, Pakistan, in 1962 for the benefit of some 25,000 people of four villages. That project was designed to stimulate the inhabitants of the villages to help themselves and to provide direction for their efforts.

Peace Chapel In Japan

Paris — (NC) — Our Lady of the Peace chapel, designed and decorated by Sugurharu Foujita, 80-year-old Japanese artist, was dedicated (Oct. 18) in the cathedral of Rheims.

A resident of France since 1913, Mr. Foujita was converted to Catholicism after a visit to the Rheims cathedral seven years ago. At that time he conceived the project of the chapel.

Mr. Foujita, a member of the Ecole de Paris, executed 16 stained glass windows and more than 100 square yards of frescoes on biblical themes for the chapel.

Collegeville — (RNS) — A highly-sympathetic analysis of the Pentecostal movement, some of whose followers "speak in tongues," was given by a Roman Catholic priest at an international ecumenical symposium here.

In some South American countries and elsewhere, the Pentecostals are the fastest-growing Christian denomination, it was reported by Benedictine Father Kilian McDonnell, a scholar at St. John's Abbey and University here.

He said it is estimated that there are 10 million Pentecostals in the world, of whom about four million are in the United States.

Father McDonnell suggested that a reason for the rapid growth of Pentecostals in such countries as Chile is that the established churches do not meet the worship needs of the people there.
