In this city, April 28, by Rt. Rev. B. J. McQuaid, assisted by Very Rev. Mgr. De Regge, chancellor, Harriet Elizabeth Barry and Bernhard Liesching were married.

The passage of the bill providing for the sale of Ward's Island to the city of New York, is due in a great measure to John C. O'Brien, who, as counsel for St. Mary's hospital, inaugurated the movement ten years ago.

The sad accident at the Brown street crossing Tuesday afternoon, by which little Minnie Weber, the six-year-old daughter of Louis Weber, of 200 Brown street, lost her life, is another argument against the deadly grade crossing.

The bravery of Patrick King, the flagman, who gallantly endeavored to save her, and in so doing had his own foot crushed so that amputation was necessary, cannot be too much admired.

By the terms of his will all the personal property of the late Col. Ernst, of every description, including his interest in the hardware business conducted under the firm name of Louis Ernst & Son, is bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Barbara Ernst.

At her death it is to be divided equally among his seven children. In conclusion, the will reads: "I authorize and empower my said executors, with the approval of my wife, to expend from my estate such sums for religious and charitable purposes as in their judgment will best supplement what I have done, or may do, for those purposes in my life-time."

The executors named by the will are the testator's three sons, Louis J., Edward J. and Charles B. Ernst.

The New Girls' Asylum

Plans for the new girls' orphan asylum are about ready. When completed the new structure will be quite an addition to Rochester's Catholic institutions. It is probable that a fair will be held some time within the year for the purpose of raising funds to meet the expense of the new building.

A Book Social

The book social held in Cathedral hall, Tuesday evening, by the members of the R.C.B.C., was an unique affair and very entertaining. Fifty books were received. After the singing of the "Wedding March," of August Soderman, by a chorus composed of the members, the titles of books and names of authors, represented in the costumes of those present, were guessed and prizes awarded. A table prepared by a member of the circle, on which were religious symbols intended to represent a book, was worthy of special mention. The evening was pleasantly closed by serving refreshments, vocal and instrumental solos being rendered meanwhile. About 150 persons were present.

Catholic Literary

Monday evening the Catholic Literary met at 139 East avenue and rendered the following programme: Paper, "Woman," Miss N. Lucas; piano solo, Miss May Dempsey; vocal solo, Miss Cook; paper, "The Inquisition," Rev. F. O'Haulon; current events, Miss K. Quinn; discussion on "The World's Fair," by the members.

A committee was appointed to meet the committees of the other societies to form a central board and establish a Catholic library.

The Literary will meet again next Monday evening. "Sir Thomas Moore and Utopia" will be discussed.

Glen Haven

A. F. Raveret, excursion agent of the Rochester and Glen Haven railway, is distributing a handsome publication descriptive of the beauties of Irondequoit bay and the attractions of Glen Haven. The book is entitled "Echoes from Glen Haven" and is prettily illustrated with half-tone views. The railway company is preparing for a heavy passenger traffic this summer. Several new cars will be added to the rolling-stock and the new engine which has recently been purchased will be capable of drawing twelve loaded cars up the grade from the bay. The road will open May 7.

Culross Bakeries

30 and 499 State street are headquarters for superior lines of pastry. A fresh stock is kept constantly on hand.

Auburn

The Excelsior club, which is composed of a number of well-known young men of this city, gave a sociable and dance in Johnston's dancing academy, Friday evening of last week.

A rumor is in circulation that Protective Hose No. 3 is to be disbanded by the fire commissioners. If this is true it is one step nearer a paid department which is coming by degrees.

The state asylum for insane criminals at Mattawan on the Hudson has been completed and the authorities are busy this week transferring the insane convicts from the Auburn asylum to that place.

The people of St. Mary's will hold a fair and bazaar, the latter part of June and the first of July probably ending on the night of July 3. Great preparations are being made for the coming event and the committee in charge promise to give a fair that will surpass any previous efforts made by the people of St. Mary's.

It is stated upon good authority that the Westfall hose company is about to disband. This is an independent company and the only one located in the eastern part of the city, and if they disband it means a good start for a fire, should one occur in that vicinity. Steps should be taken to induce the company to continue in their field of usefulness.

Weddings

Dr. William Hughes, a prominent dentist, and a member of the Holy Family church, of this city, left Tuesday evening for Lockport, where he was married Wednesday morning to Miss Frances Lascher. Dr. M. P. Conway accompanied Dr. Hughes and acted as best man.

A pleasant morning wedding took place at the Holy Family church, Wednesday. The contracting parties were Miss Mary Graney, daughter of John Graney, of 89 Perrine street, and James Kelly, of Geneva. Miss Anna Graney was bridesmaid and John Kelly, best man.

Miss Clara Seales and John Lane were quietly married at St. Mary's church Wednesday morning by Rev. Father Mulheron. Miss Lillie Seales, a sister of the bride, and Luke J. Lane, a brother of the groom, supported the happy couple at the altar. After a brief bridal tour they will return to this city, where the groom has a pleasant home awaiting the reception of his bride.

Another wedding goes down on the records for Wednesday morning—that of Matthew O'Brien and Miss Rosa Murray, who were married by Rev. Dean Seymour at the Holy Family church at 8 o'clock that morning. John Murray, a brother of the bride, performed the office of best man and Miss Margaret O'Brien, a sister of the groom, that of bridesmaid. They were married with a nuptial mass. A wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock, occurred, at St. Alphonsus German church, the marriage of Miss Dorothy Lower, daughter of Martin Lower, of 31 Wall street, and Theodore Kosters, a popular mail-carrier of this city. A nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. John Van Ness, of Rochester, a cousin of the bride, who also performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Matilda Lower, sister of the bride, and Frank Kosters, brother of the groom, supported the couple at the altar.

Probably the largest wedding that has occurred in Auburn in some years took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's church, when Miss Mary A. Seales, daughter of Mrs. Julia Seales, of 109 Washington street, and John C. Driscoll, a rising young contractor of Ithaca, were united in the bands of wedlock. The bride was attended by Miss Anna T. Carlson, her cousin, and John Sigler, of Ithaca, acted as best man. A nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Mulheron, who also tied the nuptial knot.

All the newly-married couples received many handsome presents and the best wishes of hosts of friends.

A Novel Prize

As an incentive to the boys and girls of his school to sell as many tickets as they could for the entertainments given at St. Mary's hall last week, Father Stewart offered to take the two selling the most tickets for a trip to New York city. The lucky boys are Ody Thompson, who sold 444 tickets, netting $111; and Willie Carey, who sold 168 tickets, bringing $44. They will receive their reward during the coming vacation.

A few years ago Ody won a handsome ring offered by the Catholic Journal Company to the boy bringing in the largest list of new subscribers.

Tony Pastor is now making his 28th annual tour and will appear at the Academy for three nights and matinees, commencing Thursday, May 5th, with the following superb company: Maggie Cline, the topical songstress; Webber and Fields, German comedians; Monroe and Mack, negro comedians, and Sisters Flexmore, talented duettists; Herr Grais, great German juggler, the Phantos, Virtu, eccentric musical artist; Major Newell, novel skate dancer, and Prof. Thornbury, cartoonist and ventriloquist.

Robinson's Muske

Novelties and curiosities galore, as it were, are to be seen at this cosy amusement palace, week after week. Manager Robinson has succeeded thus far in fulfilling every desire of his patrons and to say that he will continue to do so will only be telling the truth. The attractions in the theater for next week are something out of the usual run. Heading the list is Lavender and Thompson, protean comedians; Van Goffe is a balancer who is a marvel—he does the greatest tooth-balancing act ever seen, and combine it with a new contortion feature; Willie Inman, the juvenile Irish comedian; Oradoc, who juggles Roman battle-axes, does an act that is truly marvellous; the Petrie children, Willie and Alf, in a comedy act. In the lecture hall will be seen Orsoza, the wire-haired marvel; Gallette's monkey and bird show—monkey acrobats will be seen in bicycle races, walking tight wire, drilling, and they will actually play a comedy entitled "The Crazy Barber"; Alf Young will show the various articles he makes entirely from wire. The Hungarian band will furnish nigh splendid music; which goes to make up one of the best week of attractions ever seen at this popular place.
