Cathedral Hall was well filled Wednesday evening by the friends and pupils of this institution in which Rochester Catholics take so much pride. In front of the stage sat the Rt. Rev. Bishop with at least thirty of the priests of the diocese seated near him.

The first number of the programme was a pretty operetta, entitled "The Tyrolean Queen," the principal parts being taken by May R. Deas, Clara Seiner and Lena Harris. These three and the young ladies in the choruses of Tyroliens, Gypsies and Fairies acquitted themselves remarkably well.

The "Old Ladies' Gossip Pantomime and Minuet" was a pleasing feature and two little tots about four years old who took part, caused roars of laughter.

The address of Anna Madeleine Flanigan was meritorious and well delivered.

Essays were read by Miss Cora Angles Golden upon "Altar Flowers," and by Miss Catherine Louise Caring upon "Environment." The piano quartette, "Pest polonaise," op. 72, by Kuchner, was rendered by Misses Emma C. Koenig, Margaret D. Mayock, Clara N. Preston, and Mary Cecilia Burns. The overture from "Semiramide," by Rossini, was well performed by Misses Elizabeth J. McLeary, Laura B. Huebner, Katharine O. Clancy, Catharine R. McLeary, pianos; Misses Mary C. Byrnes, Lucy M. Kondolf, violins; Misses Celia M. Scanlin, Emma C. Koenig, organs.

The Third Annual Commencement exercises of the Dansville Union School were held in the Heckman Opera House Monday Evening. The programme was an instructive one. The essays were productions of much thought and were admirably rendered. Upon Miss Sophia Thompson, one of girls, was conferred the honor of valedictorian. An attraction recently arranged for is a series of exhibitions of tight rope walking to be given by the famous Prof. LeCoute, a disciple of Blondin, who does all the tricks of that renowned walker. His engagement will open July 4th and continue one week.

The Boston Ideal Opera Co., which appeared at the Glen last year, will open an engagement on July 18th, and remain one week.

Amusements.

ROBINSON'S MUSKE.

Beginning Monday, June 27th, the old plan of giving four performances a day will be resumed. This is done because of the conflict of the performance in the Curio Hall and the theatre. With the old plan the curtain will rise in the theatre at 2:30, 4:30, 8 and 9:30 p. m. sharp, thus giving ample time to witness all of the attractions in the Curio Hall and a chance to view the numerous other departments.

An attraction extraordinary in the person of Bryant B. Crandall, the Buffalo mystery will be seen next week.

Rogers Bros. two notable German Comedians, the three marvels, Emma Harrold, charming vocalist; Tiddewinks, a pocket edition of the late Pat Rooney, Maggie Clark, a pleasing vocalist; Prof. King, the Parisian prestidigitator. Thos. Haley, an everyday Irishman; and Madame King with her Oriental box mystery and spiritual cabinet combined. It should not be forgotten that the Musée Theatre with its innumerable electric fans in constant operation, is the coolest place of amusement in Rochester, and no matter how hot it is outdoors, within the mammoth resort you can enjoy perfect comfort while witnessing the big show.
