

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

The October devotions which were held at the Cathedral last month came to a close Monday evening.

South avenue cars are now running over the extension to Mt. Hope on a twelve-minute schedule. The line was well patronized.

Rev. Henry Egler formerly pastor of St. Mary's church, Danville, died at Denver, Colorado, Monday. He had resided in that state several years.

Richard James, infant son of Mayor Curran, died at family residence, 29 Reynolds street. The child had been ill for some little time. His age was fourteen weeks.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Ida Bird and Mr. J. Thomas Noonan at Corpus Christi Church Thursday, October 10th.

Cards are out for the marriage of Lillian A. Walzer to Frank L. Schner at the church of Our Lady of Victory, Thursday, Nov. 17.

Louis B. Savard and bride returned to the city Thursday evening last. They held a reception at the home of his mother, 54 Hudson street.

The funeral of Marie M. Drew took place Friday morning at 8:15 o'clock from the house, 13 Barton street, and at 9 o'clock from the Immaculate Conception Church.

The receipts of the Rochester Post-office for the month of October were $23,412.57. During the same period the amount received on deposit from the fourth class Postmasters was $13,650.68.

Martin Finson aged 65 years died at his home, 641 North Clinton St. The funeral took place Friday morning at 8 o'clock from the house and at 8:30 from the Holy Redeemer Church.

W. Foster Kelly, Rochester's architect returned Wednesday from his trip to Ireland. His stay was necessarily brief but to such an enthusiastic lover of the old land as Mr. Kelly, every hour spent in the Green Isle must have been appreciated.

Peter Mooney, aged 62 years, died last Tuesday at the family residence, 15 Magnolia street, after a lingering illness. Besides his wife three children survive. The funeral was Friday from the Immaculate Conception Church.

All Souls' Day was appropriately observed in all the city Catholic churches, Masses for the dead being said. At the Cathedral Rev. J. P. Kiernan was celebrant, with Rev. J. Hartley as deacon and Rev. E. J. Hanna sub-deacon.

Dr. J. A. Stapleton has been appointed by the State Board of Health as chief inspector of the third division of the northern border of this State on "preparations in anticipation of the entrance of cholera in this country next year."

The Columbian Literary Circle of the Immaculate Conception Church held a meeting Wednesday evening at which the following programme was rendered: Piano solo, Miss Connelley; Reading Miss O'Connor; Recitation, Miss White; Paper, Miss McMahon; Paper, Miss Clinch. The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 23rd.

Catharine Carter died Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Patrick Muller, 42 Backus avenue. Deceased was 80 years of age. She was born in county Leitrim Ireland. In 1845 she came to this country and four years later to Rochester. For thirty years she resided on South Ford street. Two daughters survive: Mrs. Patrick Muller and Mrs. D. McGlynn, both of this city. There are also seventeen grand children and five great grand children survive. The funeral took place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the house and at 9:30 from the Cathedral.

Bishop McQuaid's Work.

On Tuesday of last week our Rt. Rev. Bishop administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to a class of about fifty at Spencerport. On the 14th inst. he will visit Palmyra and confirm a class of children in that village. During the month he will preach at the dedication of a church in Yonkers, N. Y. Confirmation will shortly be administered in Danville and Mt. Morris.

Last Sunday the Bishop blessed the newly renovated church at Rushville. Father Dougherty and his parishioners have worked zealously to improve the church of that place and the congregation can now boast of a neat and attractive place of worship.

All Saints' Day Services.

Tuesday was All Saints' Day and special services were held in all the Catholic churches of the city. At the Cathedral and St. Joseph's church the services were most impressive being participated in by a large number of priests.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of Geo. Engert & Co., next column, in another column.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE CHESTER

Respectfully inscribed to Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Martin.

Back to his God who gave you your boy,
His beautiful spirit bathed in;
Back to his Maker, your pride and your joy,
Yet now even more truly your own.
More truly your own is the child of your love,
In the peace of the Saints at rest;
More truly your own, human ill far above,
Safe home from a perilous quest.
Then wish him not here in the battle, the strife,
(For who is here sure of the end?)
In the struggles, the turmoil, the passing life,
The winding ways, and the evil trend.
We wish you joy on his calling home,
In his childhood bright and fair
He but waits the day when his own will come
His endless joys to share.

All Saints' Day, '92.

FAIR NOTES.

Interesting Items Pertaining to the Grand Event.

St. Mary's colors will be pink and green.

The ladies of the Cathedral will have a "Columbian" table; very appropriate to this anniversary year.

The young men of the Cathedral met Sunday evening and the older parishioners on the evening following.

Lafe Heidell has kindly consented to do much of the decorating of the tables.

Near the entrance, will be a facsimile of Columbus boat, the Santa Marie, gotten up by the ladies of the Cathedral.

Miss Maggie Trant has been obliged to give up the charge of the young ladies' table of St. Mary's owing to the illness of her sister, Mrs. Brown. Miss Trant is an energetic worker and her presence will be missed considerably.

Crayon drawings of Fathers Stewart, Angelo and O'Hanlon have been donated to St. Mary's table, and will be disposed of in the way that will produce the best results. Numbers are already being sold upon them.

The ladies of the Sacred Heart have prepared a particularly handsome donation for the fair. It is a large painting representing lilies and other flowers, raised at least one inch from the level of the canvas. An elegant and deep gilt frame surrounds the whole.

The children of St. Patrick's school and the branch school have done wonderful work for the fair. Father Kiernan announced last Sunday that they turned over $37.70 as the result of their labors. Even the children have caught the enthusiasm of the occasion.

The French church table will be located near the door on the North side; St. Mary's will be next and then follows the Immaculate. The ladies in the latter parish are doing phenomenal work. Their table will be lighted by a system of electric lights to be arranged by Supt. Chas. F. Barnes.

There will be an exciting contest for a handsome gold shield between Charles McCormick and Chief Samuel Bemish of the fire department. Friends of these officials are already at work in their respective interests. There will also be a contest for a motor-man's uniform, for the most popular motorman. The contestants are motor men Ryan and Coffey, of the street railway.

Numbers are solicited on all manners of things. Among the lists are tons or coal, easy chairs, suits of clothes, gold and silver watches, jewelry, tables, pictures. The Orphan's Fair Journal a publication devoted to interests of the fair, will make its appearance to-day. It will be issued weekly for the two weeks previous, and daily during fair week. Rev. J. P. Stewart will be editor and manager, and James U. Connolly and Miss Anna Carey will be his assistants. The booths of the churches interested will be arranged along the sides and ends of the rink, leaving the centers free for promenaders. No soliciting will be allowed inside the rink, except from the respective booths.

Hagerty-Costello.

Monday morning, October 31, Nellie E. Hagerty and Mark E. Costello were married at the church of Our Lady of Sorrows, Greece, by Rev. J. M. Maurice. Benjamin Costello, brother of the groom, acted as best man and Susie A. Hagerty, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. After the ceremony a reception and breakfast was held at the residence of the bride's parents, Greece. Mr. Costello is a well known young business man of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Costello left on the 3:40 p.m. train for an extended winter tour.

Seminary Notes.

The work of decorating the chapel will probably not be done until spring. The last building began—that in which the sisters will be located—is rapidly approaching completion. The roof will soon be finished.

The People's Candidate.

There can be no more pleasant duty for the honest journalist than to have an opportunity of speaking kind words for Donald McNaughton. Most candidates for office can only look for sympathy from the members of a political party, but this honest Donald, known of all men for his plain sterling worth, is the favorite of all the citizens. The reason is because Mr. McNaughton carries his heart on his sleeve, and has the frank, Scotch way of doing things right from the heart and not from insincerity. He will never take advantage of an opponent and his keenest criticism of those whose methods he disapproves is "A man's a man for a' that."

It is seldom such an ideal candidate comes to the front as Donald McNaughton. The very soul of honor, with a heart in his bosom that beats for all humanity and warms in glowing fire of love towards the humble and poor toilers of God's earth.

It is at the fireside of the people that Donald has spent the most precious times of his life, and he is an ideal son of such an one as Robert Burns immortalized in his "Cottler's Saturday Night."

In speaking of the ordinary candidates for office it is customary to weigh the probabilities of defeat, but in Donald McNaughton's case the probabilities of defeat are so slim as to be beneath concern. When the ballots are cast and the Hon. Donald McNaughton stands forth as the representative of this district in Congress, it will not be the Democrats alone who will rejoice over the victory. It will be the Republicans and Prohibitionists, the Mugwumps and People's party men, and last but not least, the women's right element—in short, it will be the people. Donald McNaughton is the beau ideal of the people's candidate and he will go forward with the ease and rapidity of a cork floating on the tide of popular approval.

CATHOLIC JOURNAL CO.

HON. DONALD MCNAUGHTON.

An Article That Will Interest Citizens of Monroe County.

Senator McNaughton, while in the senate, introduced and secured the enactment into laws of more bills which were a local benefit to his district than any other member of the legislature. For the county of Monroe, one county in his district in 1888, he prepared, introduced and carried through the following measures: An act to amend the charter of the Rochester Orphan Asylum; an act authorizing the village of Brockport to borrow money to repair its streets; an act to incorporate the Rochester Horticultural society; an act to legalize the incorporation of the village of Spencerport; secured a special appropriation for the dormitory system, removal of bars, grating, etc., at state industrial school; an act to confirm the official acts of the commissioners of highway of Wheatland; to which should be added several acts making large appropriations for Orleans county. For Monroe county in 1889, he secured the following important measures: An act in the interest of the laboring men, changing the hour of opening the polls; an act amending and extending the powers of the Safe Deposit company of Rochester; a general act to incorporate hospitals and homes for invalids and indigent persons; an act making an appropriation of $13,500 for Caledonia avenue lift bridge; an act to authorize the Western New York Agricultural society to borrow money; an act to amend chapter 65 of laws of 1886, regarding street railroads, which extended the railroad facilities of Rochester—under a pledge to introduce system of transfer tickets, etc.; an act to amend charter of Holy Sepulchre cemetery; amending act to provide police pension fund; an act to provide for improvement and care of private parks in Rochester; an act to provide for insuring horses, mules, etc., an act appropriating $7,500 for removing causes of malaria in Genesee valley canal; an act authorizing state industrial school to grant right of way for street through its grounds; an act making appropriation to provide for changes and improvements in swing bridge at Brockport, and many other bills too numerous to mention. If he is chosen to a seat in congress his great record will be duplicated in the interest of the people he represents.
