COOK'S OPERA HOUSE Walter Sanford's latest successful dramatic production, "The Power of Gold," will come to Cook's Opera House next week. The scene of the drama is laid in London, and unfolds a story of strange romantic and dramatic incident, depicting the virtues and vices of a vast community. The scenes portrayed include: The garret home of a London workman and roofs of adjacent buildings; Foundling Asylum in St. Hilda's Lane; one scene shows that labyrinth of streets and alleys which has earned for itself so unenviable a reputation through the murders committed there, and known to all the world as Whitechapel; then comes a setting entirely new to the stage, the Regent's Canal near Victoria Lock, with its sluice gates flooded by real water, while beyond the distant city is seen gem-

Memorial to Miss Mary Danihy,

I breathe a prayer with a tear, Mary, For your heart is cold and still. But never again shall life's weary pain Your gentle nature fill: And in my grief a holy joy Tells me God's will is best,

For he has taken you home, dear, To give you endless rest. So peace to thy gentle spirit, And with hope above earth's clay, We lay you to rest with a flower on your breast, While a little prayer we say; Eternal rest be thine above, With God's sweet angels dear, To dwell in peace and joy for aye, In the light of a brighter sphere.

CHARLES B. ERNST.

For Police Justice—Liked and Respected by Everybody.

If a change is to be made in the office of NOTES.

Police Justice at the coming election—and it is the opinion of citizens of both parties that such a change is advisable—no better man for the position can be found than the Democratic candidate—genial, wholesouled Charlie Ernst. Everyone likes him; and should he not be liked? Mr. Ernst's character is formed on a broad basis. There is nothing narrow or small in his make-up. He is inof 139, and Tobin, of 93, visited telligent; his naturally bright mind has been Brockport Sunday and were well en. cultivated by a good education; his wits have been sharpened by contact with men of all classes. He is merciful, large-hearted, and in to Branch 93, of this city, on Monday ranted penalties. Genial, good-natured man, though he be, it is a great mistake to imagine him lacking in firmness. When duty demands Bro. Crowley says our Brockport it, Charles B, Ernst can be as immovable as flattered into deserting a principle which he believes is right. His retention of the office of City Attorney a few years ago, despite the threats of his opponents, is a good illustration of that firmness in his make up. Justice, firmness and mercy are indispensable qualities in a judge. Such qualities Charles B. Ernst possesses in happy combination. His election will be a public benefit.

A REMARKABLE CASE

Demonstrating that Dr. Freeman Can. Cure Consumption.

Dr. Freeman does not claim to perform mira-cles, but by confining himself to the treatment of a few chronic diseases he is enabled to bring his system up to such a standard of excellence that he system up to such a standard of excellence that he cures where scores of other doctors have failed. The following testimonial from Miss Sarah H. Case, Auburn, N. Y., conclusively proves this feet. Her letter: "Four years ago I contracted pneumonia, the result of a severe cold, which left my lungs in an exceedingly weak condition. Two years later I was again prostrated by the grippe. My brother was niso stricken with the same disease at the same time. Our cases rapidly now. My brother was also stricken with the same disease at the same time. Our cases rapidly progressed to consumption, from which my brother died in a few months. The attending physicians said I also could not live. I had no appetite, and felt sick at stomach, had pains in shoulders, chills and fevers and nightsweats, breathed with extremedifficulty, coughed almost constantly, and raised immense quantities of thick, yellowish putrid matter and had frequent hemorrhages upon the slightest exertion. These were my symptoms when I consulted you on November 10th inst. I improved from the very first treatment, and now after having been under your care only Ten Weeks. affer having been under your care only Ten Weeks,
