THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

CURRENT EVENTS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Condensation from Day to Day of Important Happenings in Every Climate in the Most Convenient Form for the Busy Public—A Short Summary of the Week's News.

A Boston dispatch says: Augustus St. Gaudens of New York has been selected as the sculptor who will make the statue of Phillips Brooks, which will be of bronze. The details of the statue will be left largely to the judgment of Mr. St. Gaudens. The exact location of this statue has not been decided upon.

A Louisville dispatch says: A. R. Sutton of the wholesale whisky brokerage firm of A. R. Sutton & Co., who has been suspected all along of the recently exposed whisky forgery of warehouse receipts amounting to $225,000, has been arrested and placed in jail.

A San Francisco dispatch says: W. C. Rippey, the old man who shot John W. Mackay and then shot himself, has been indicted by the grand jury for an assault to commit murder. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

The city of Montreal was visited by another disastrous fire, the third within the past 80 days. Several large business firms were burned out. The total loss will reach $100,000.

The Vatican has announced that the pope will not grant audiences to any lay persons of the Roman Catholic faith, who come to Rome to attend the silver wedding of King Humbert and Queen Margaret. This decision will apply also to representatives of Catholic sovereigns. In cases of Protestant sovereigns, who attend the wedding, no such general rule has been made.

Sir George R. Dibbs, premier of New South Wales, who recently became bankrupt with liabilities estimated at $130,000 and assets estimated at $25,000, and who after giving up his estate to his creditors resigned his seat in parliament, has been re-elected to parliament without opposition by his constituents of Murrumbidgee.

Tony Delano, an Italian, has been arrested at Fonda, N. Y., charged with the shooting of Luvidico Almida in Amsterdam a few nights ago. The two men quarrelled over a game of cards. Almida drew a razor and Delano shot him in the shoulder inflicting a wound that may prove fatal.

Charles Spiegelsstein, a 10-year-old boy, complained in Essex Market court, New York, that while he was saying his prayers Jacob Schenck, who lived in the next apartment, reached through a hole in the chimney and with a table knife, slashed the praying boy's face. Schenck was held in $1,000 for examination.

A severe earthquake shook the villages situated in the vicinity of the volcano Mount Etna. The inhabitants fled from their homes to the open country and remained there awaiting what further may happen. The earthquake already felt was severe enough to cause much damage to property.

A Berlin dispatch says: The convict Dietrich escaped from the Silesian prison, went by night to his home in a small village near Bonn and murdered his wife and three children in their beds. He has not been captured.

A Manila dispatch says: A destructive fire has been raging in the suburbs of this city. Four thousand houses were swept by the flames, and it is feared that some lives have been lost. Those persons are known to have been injured while fighting the fire or endeavoring to save their belongings.

Michael T. Siney, murderer of Robert Lyons of New York, when informed at Sing Sing of the commutation of his sentence by the governor to life imprisonment showed no emotion and acted as though he did not realize the importance of the information. He was placed in a cell on the sixth gallery to await transfer to the state insane asylum at Matteawan.

A New York dispatch says: John Coffey, aged 11 years, brought suit in the superior court, through his father, Michael Coffey, to recover $50,000 damages from the Edison Electric Illuminating company of this city, for personal injuries received as a result of alleged carelessness on the part of the defendants' servants.

Emily Mitchell, the 17-year-old adopted daughter of Mrs. M. Mitchell, the janitress of the Alpine apartment house, No. 55 West Thirty-third street, New York, has disappeared, and it is believed she has eloped with an elevator boy employed in the building.

John Dorr, 20 years old, a waiter in the Rathskeller saloon and restaurant, at the corner of Market and Washington streets, in Newark, has fallen heir to $20,000 through the death of an uncle in Australia.

A New York dispatch says: John Miller of this city committed suicide in the cellar of his house by firing a cartridge from a revolver into his mouth. He was 68 years old and had been afflicted with rheumatism. The fact that he had been unable to find employment had rendered him melancholy.

The coroner's inquest in the case of Henry Crouse, who was murdered recently at Fort Plain, N. Y., was resumed. But one witness was examined, Chief of Police Mereness. The jury brought in a verdict that Crouse was murdered by an unknown assailant.

A Vienna dispatch says: Ninety houses in Klein-Poehlam on the Danube were burned to the ground. Fifteen dead bodies have been removed from the ruins and 12 more are known to be under the ashes. Ten persons, whose fate has not been ascertained, are missing.

A yacht carrying 18 persons capsized in the Crouch, a short distance from Burnham, England. Five persons were drowned. The rest clung to the yacht until they were rescued by a boatman, who put out from the shore when the accident occurred.

The bark H. J. Libby of Portland, Me., which arrived at Boston from Melbourne, reports that on Jan. 11 she experienced a severe shock of submarine earthquake. It lasted for fully 10 seconds and caused the vessel to tremble from stem to stern as if she were passing over rough bottom.

Advices from Buzzard's Bay state: The remains of Helen McGraw, the family cook of the Jeffersons, who perished in the fire have been found. They were burned beyond recognition and were placed in the care of an undertaker, who will prepare them for burial and forward them to New York.

At Three Rivers, Mich., four children of Fred Horn ate of the roots of water hemlock. The 10-year-old daughter died from effects of the poison. The other three children, from 4 to 13 years, are not expected to live.

BUSSEY'S DECISION.

Probably 200,000 Pension Claims Will Be Affected by It.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Assistant Secretary Bussey has rendered an important decision in the matter of the claim of Joseph P. Smith for an increase of pension on the ground of new disabilities, in which he overrules the action of the commission of pensioners in allowing an attorney's fee of $10. The claim for increase was made under the act of June 27, 1890, and the assistant secretary holds that all such claims should be treated as strictly increase claims whether new disabilities are claimed or not, for which a fee can only be allowed. It is said that probably 200,000 claims will be affected by this decision.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A terrific explosion resulting in the almost total destruction of the new six-story Cleveland building, 20 State street, occurred yesterday. The cause of the disaster was a leakage of natural gas. The fire department was called out, but luckily its services were not needed, except to prevent the wreckage from taking fire. The basement of the building, where the explosion occurred, is occupied by C. V. Mirault as a barber shop and bath establishment. The scene of destruction here is astonishing, and anyone viewing it is at loss to understand how the building still remains standing. Several surrounding buildings were slightly damaged. The total loss is estimated at from $15,000 to $20,000. Nobody was injured.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Six-Story Building Badly Demolished, But Nobody Injured.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Allan Hooker, son of Congressman Hooker of Mississippi, who was seriously injured by being struck by a cablecar, said that his father was resting quietly and was perfectly conscious. The attending surgeon, said Mr. Hooker, stated that he could not discover any fracture, nor were there any symptoms of internal injuries. With careful and quiet treatment the physician believed that Congressman Hooker would recover.

Congressman Hooker's Injuries.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Miss Nellie Vilas, daughter of United States Senator Vilas, died here of malignant quincy. An operation was performed but without result. The senator is in Florida.

Wedded to Her Coachman.

BOSTON, April 4.—The ceremony uniting Mrs. Francis Hillier and her former coachman, Mr. Henry Hillier, was performed here for the second time. The arrangements were very elaborate.

Nellie Vilas Dead.

MADISON, Wis., April 4.—Miss Nellie Vilas, daughter of United States Senator Vilas, died here of malignant quincy. An operation was performed but without result. The senator is in Florida.

Kearsarge at Port-au-Prince.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The navy department has been advised of the arrival of the Kearsarge at Port-au-Prince. Her commander makes no reference to the reported assault on one of his sailors at Kingston, and conveys no information concerning the alleged threatened revolution.

CAUSED BY A BLAST.

DETAILS OF THE MINE DISASTER AT HAZLETON, PA.

Ten of the Miners Fled to Places of Safety and Were Rescued—Three of Them Still in the Mine—Have Undoubtedly Perished—Some of the Rescued May Die From Their Injuries.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 4.—Another mine horror occurred just on the outskirts of this city. The mine is known as Laurel Hill, and is operated by Farley Bros. The accident was almost a repetition of the Jeannette disaster of two years ago when 18 men were drowned.

The report that the water standing in the Sugar Loaf mine had burst into the Laurel Hill, and that a cavein followed it was first circulated. About 800 men are employed in the mine. The effect produced by the report of the accident was electrifying. In less than five minutes 1,000 people were hurrying to the scene of the disaster.

Among the first to arrive was Frank Pardee, one of the operators. His intention of descending the ill-fated mine was barely announced when 20 miners stepped forward to accompany him. They were at once lowered into the pit and when the carriage returned Mine Superintendent Durkin, heading ten more rescuers boarded it and were immediately dropped into the fateful mine.

MOMENTS SEEMED LIKE HOURS.

The mine is now working the sixth lift with the seventh in progress of sinking. The fifth lift is the point at which the accident occurred, and is over 600 yards below the surface. Although the engines were taxed to their greatest velocity, the movement of the mine cage to and from the fifth lift seemed like hours to the thousands of anxious friends and relatives, who were congregated about the outh of the slope.

Superintendent Durkin and his band of rescuers had barely reached the bottom when the signal to hoist was given. The cage had on board three grimy, excited miners. These three men had been caught by the tremendous rush of water and carried by it to the foot of the slope. The three sustained serious injuries by being knocked against timbers. They were speedily conveyed to their homes.

STORY OF THE FLOOD.

The first authentic information of the disaster was then made known and proved a source of great relief to the throng of people assembled. The story of the flood so far as can be ascertained at this writing is as follows: The east gangway of the fifth lift of Laurel Hill is driven on what is known as the Wharfedale vein. Another gangway from the same lift is driven on the Big Mammoth vein situated in No. 3 colliery. The fifth lift of the latter slope has been partly opened, with probably 100 yards of gangway leading off from the bottom.

It was about 9:30 o'clock in the morning when David Williams lit the fuse, preparatory to driving in No. 19. Immediately after the blast went off a terrible roar was heard and an immense body of water rushed down No. 19 breast, filling it to the roof. The rush of water into the gang changed the current of air and like a telegraphic signal warned all of their danger. The men fled to places of safety and nearly all were rescued and brought to the surface. Two men are still in the mine and have no doubt perished. They are Thomas and John Trembath. Some of those rescued may die from injuries sustained in being washed against the rocks.

LATER—It has been definitely ascertained that three men are in the mine. They are Thomas Hudson, W. L. Trembath and Richard Williams. The latter is dead beyond a doubt. There is a faint possibility that the other two may be rescued alive. Although several of the men rescued are suffering from broken arms, dislocated shoulders and minor bruises, the injuries of none are considered dangerous. The accident, it is believed, was due to a mistake in the surveys. The escape of the 40 men from the mine is regarded as miraculous. The search for the missing men is being pushed vigorously, and it is expected that they will be found soon.

Signed by the Governor.

ALBANY, April 4.—Governor Flower has signed these bills:
Mr. Wolff's bill, amending the code of civil procedure relative to the judicial settlements of accounts.
Fixing the salary for marshal of the Yonkers city court at $1,000 per annum.
Making Yonkers a single district for the raising of the school tax.
Providing for the plugging of abandoned wells.

Authorizing the Hartwick Theological seminary to confer honorary degrees in theology.
Mr. Banker's bill, regarding the appointment of supreme court stenographer.

Chief Arthur Declines to Talk.
CLEVELAND, April 4.—Grand Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers refused, when informed of the decision of the United States District court, to discuss the matter: "It's all right," he said, "the engineers will get through somehow. I don't care to say what we will do next, but I have not given the subject a moment's thought."

Not Very Consistent.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The action of anti-Semites in Vienna in protesting against the appointment of Max Judd to be United States consul general there is regarded at the state department as not entirely consistent in view of the fact that Julius Goldschmidt, the present consul general at Vienna, whom Mr. Judd, was nominated to succeed, is also a Jew.

More Than 100 Killed.

VIENNA, April 4.—A report has been received from Tiflis, Russia, that the Russian orthodox church at Gdudal was blown down during a terrific hurricane. Hundreds were more or less injured and more than 100 are known to have been killed. The work of recovering the bodies is going on rapidly.

Squire Abington's Will.

LONDON, April 4.—The new paper The Morning states that on the eve of his departure for America Abington Baird wrote to Mrs. Langtry: "Dear Lily—I made a will yesterday and left you everything. My estate is known to be a very large one. I estimated $200,000 to $250,000 a year and he inherited vast accumulations."

Seneca Building and Loan Association.

ALBANY, April 4.—Superintendent Preston of the state banking department has issued certificates of authorization to the Seneca Building and Loan association of Seneca Falls.

HOTEL-FIRE HORROR.

LIVES AND PROPERTY SWEEP AWAY AT BRADFORD, PA.

Bodies of Six Victims Recovered and More Reported Missing—Higgins' Hotel, a Depot, Freight House and Grocery Store Consumed—Many Persons Badly Injured—Loss Estimated at $100,000.

PITTSBURG, April 1.—A special from Bradford, Pa., says: Fire at 4 o'clock this morning destroyed the Higgins hotel, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg depot, the Higgins cigar factory and the grocery store and building of J. Leroy. At least six persons were burned to death and the list of injured numbers between 20 and 30. The bodies of six persons have already been taken from the ruins and are burned beyond recognition.

It was after 6 o'clock when the first body was found. It was an unrecognizable charred mass of flesh. The second was found soon afterward in a similar condition.

Inmates of the Higgins building were awakened from their sleep by a man who rushed through the hallways, kicking at the doors and calling fire. The men and women rushed from their rooms into the halls, which were already filled with smoke and flames, and the general cry was "Jump from the windows and save your lives."

Many did so, but the jump was a bad one to risk. From the upper story it was 30 feet on the west side with a plank roadway on which to land. On the east side was the creek, which made the jump 40 feet. Several persons made the leap for life into the stream and were rescued. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins escaped from the burning building. They were nearly suffocated by the smoke. Mrs. Higgins was badly injured.

The Higgins House has been transformed into a temporary hospital. In one room is Professor Neumeier of the Jamison orchestra. His left foot was crushed and he is seriously hurt internally. In another room J. W. Osborne lies with both legs broken and his back injured. In another department are men, hurt internally and badly bruised about their heads. There are two women in another burned about their faces and hands. One of the women has lost her baby and her agony is pitiful.

John Johnson, a boy, was found wandering through the streets with a 4-year-old baby in his arms. His face, arms and hands were burned and blistered.

The following persons are known to be dead: Thomas Cullen, painter, Bradford; F. S. Havelin, Sunbury, engineer Philadelphia and Reading railroad; George Perkins, machinist, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg shops, Bradford, and child of Mrs. E. Tucker. Several are missing.

List of injured: Hal Rhodes, ankle sprained; James Bryser, face, hands and feet badly cut; W. D. Drysdale, Johnsbury, injured internally; J. D. Cady, James-town, hurt about head; J. J. Campbell, Bellwood, Pa., arm broken and hip dislocated; Harry Jones, cut about head, face and hands; James Brisson, carpenter, head cut; W. J. Holliday, traveling salesman, ankle broken; Mrs. Weaver, burned about head and arms, her baby mrsing; Juby Hannon, glass blower, cut about hands and head, and injured internally; J. Cody, clerk, badly burned and injured from jumping; W. J. Osborne, Buffalo, injured about back, feared that his back is broken, considered fatal; Mrs. Higgins, hurt internally and badly burned about head, hands and body; Mr. Tucker was in building, but is missing; W. D. Driscoll, injured internally; Ted Burns, fireman, badly hurt by falling walls; Richard Higgins, hand broken and burned; J. Ploard, night clerk, leg broken, hurt internally; Cook McNabe, head and face cut; Mike Collins, hand and shoulder injured; W. J. Hasted, injured internally.

It is estimated the total loss will reach $100,000, with insurance of $50,000. The loss on Higgins hotel is $15,000, light insurance. The loss to the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad is about $50,000, insured.

Between 20 and 30 persons were badly injured, some probably fatally. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have caught from a gas stove.

TEN MINERS KILLED.

Explosion at Shamokin, Pa., Caused by a Miner's Lamp.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 1.—A miner's lamp caused an explosion in the Neilson shaft at 7 o'clock this morning. Many miners escaped, but 12 or 15 were still in the mine, with poor prospects of escape. A number of mules will perish from suffocation. Nick French, Pat and James Brennan and John Ryan are among the missing men. Owing to yesterday being a holiday, there were not as many men at work in the mine today as usual. The mine is operated by Langdon & Co.

The dead are: John Robie, James and Meadon Brennan, John Ryan, Frederick Gorter, John Burt, John Garry, Joe Borker, Nick Dolton and Frank Shupe. It is not known whether there are any more in the mine, which is burning fiercely, with imminent danger of an explosion. Despite this, a force of men and officials are bravely battling the flames and the gas. The dead were all found in the red ash vein, to which place the smoke found its way from the vein, 200 feet below. One thousand men are thrown out of employment.

AUBURN PRISON FIRE.

One of the Most Disastrous in the City's History.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 30.—Just before noon yesterday a fire started in the finishing room of Stickney & Simmonds' furniture works at the prison and resulted in the most disastrous conflagration in this city in years. The loss to the manufacturers and to the state will foot up $150,000. The fire started in old shoeshop No. 2, which was burned in 1885. The building was connected by a covered passage-way with shoeshop No. 1. Through this passage the flames spread with great rapidity. Within 15 minutes after the alarm was given the two large shops were burning fiercely and in 45 minutes nothing but the walls were left
