BLOODY BATTLE BETWEEN HUNGARIANS AND ITALIANS.

Two Men Killed, Two Others Missing and Many Badly Wounded—Continuation of a Bitter Race War—The Hungarians Come Off Victorious—Savage Encounter at Plymouth, Pa.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 17.—The trouble which has been brewing between the Hungarians and Italians of Milneville and vicinity for some time, terminated last night in a bloody battle. As a result two men are dead, two missing—supposed to be lying at the bottom of a mine, hole—and three others seriously injured.

About 10 o'clock last night a party of four Hungarians was coming into Hazleton. They had reached a point about half way down Fishers hill, when they were attacked by 11 Italians. The latter instantly opened fire.

The firing was a signal for a concerted attack on the part of the Italians, who seemed to swarm from the woods on every side. About 800 yards further down a half dozen other Hungarians were met at the schoolhouse, and on the Harleigh road near by other Hungarians were met.

The fight that ensued was terrific. The Hungarians fired a volley of bullets into the attacking Italians which served to check them for a moment. It was only for a moment, however, as the next instant they closed in upon their adversaries and a fierce hand-to-hand conflict ensued, the Italian stiletto playing havoc with the Hungarians.

ITALIANS COME OFF VICTORIOUS.

The latter were outnumbered largely and becoming dismayed, broke and fled precipitately.

The yelling and whoops of the victorious Italians attracted a large number of villagers to the scene. At each point of attack injured men were found lying on the ground, groaning from wounds.

Joseph Christie and Michael Morentzi were plucked up unconscious and taken to the hospital in this city. Christie was shot in the right shoulder. Morentzi's skull was fractured and he died in the hospital.

Mike Bortz was a shot in the mouth, the ball coming out of the back of his neck. He was taken to Hollywood, where he died shortly after. Another man who was engaged in the battle, known as "No. 408," is missing. His hat was found on the edge of a deep mine hole full of water. He is supposed to be at the bottom of the hole. Another Hungarian is also missing and he is supposed to have met the same fate. In the several boardinghouses in Harleigh, Latimer and Hollywood there are a number of wounded men, but it is impossible to obtain the exact result of their injuries or names.

YATES' FAILURE.

H. H. Warner Makes Some Emphatic Statements Concerning It.

NEW YORK, April 19.—H. H. Warner was seen at his office at 41 Broadway, in regard to the Yates failure at Rochester. He said: "I wish to deny three things most emphatically—that I had anything to do with Mr. Yates' failure; that I have been speculating in Wall street and that I expect or intend to make an assignment."

"I have not been in Wall street in years in a speculative sense, I have no connection with Mr. Yates' business in any way beyond indorsing some of his paper. I know nothing about his business or the causes of his failure. The amount of my indorsement for Mr. Yates is but a small percentage of the amount for which he is reported to have failed. It is true that he indorsed some of my paper, but not a great deal. I do not care to state the exact amount."

"I also deny that the payment of the paper to which I lent my name will embarrass me. The report that Mr. Yates was connected with me in my mining enterprises I brand as false. I expect to go to Rochester and after two or three days there I will be able to make a more concise statement regarding the condition of affairs than I can at present. Just now I do not care to say any more."

The aggregate receipts for March were $53,863.54 greater than for March, 1892.

DETAILS OF CONVICT JOHNSON'S DEADLY ONSLAUGHT.

Two of His Victims Dead and Others Badly Wounded—Started the Quarrel With One of His Own Race—Has Always Been Considered Dangerous. Will Pay the Penalty.

AUBURN, N. Y., April 18.—Never in the history of Auburn has a more bloody tragedy occurred than was enacted about five minutes after 8 o'clock yesterday morning in the broomshop at Auburn prison. John Johnson, colored, the notorious Wayne county robber and desperado who was the murderer and as the result of his terrible work two men, Charles Peck and Daniel Britton, fellow convicts in the prison broomshop, lie dead in the prison morgue.

Johnson had not been in the shop 15 minutes when he got into an altercation with a negro convict. No blows were struck. Shortly before 8 o'clock Johnson had some words with a convict named Chamberlain, also colored, who worked near him. Johnson finally struck Chamberlain and a rough and tumble fight ensued. Chamberlain defended himself well and pummeled Johnson severely.

The shop was in charge of Guards O'Connor and Bump. They made for the fighting convicts and separated them. Johnson showed a disposition to fight the guards, and was with difficulty dragged to the stairs leading to the entrance to the shop. They wanted to take him to a cell in the wing, but could not leave the shop unguarded, and so sent for assistance. Keeper Mitchell responded. While awaiting his arrival O'Connor and Bump downed Johnson on the stairs.

When Mitchell arrived Johnson was ordered to get up. "I can't; my foot is caught," he replied.

He was assisted out of his difficulty and as he rose to his feet he drew away from the keepers.

JOHNSON RUNS AMUCK.

Nearly all the convicts had left their benches and were looking at the scrimmage and when Johnson broke away from the keepers one of the stripedes shouted: "Look out; he's got a knife boys."

Johnson had a keen edged knife used in trimming broom corn which he had secreted somewhere about him. Making a dash towards Captain O'Connor he made a lunge at him with the knife but missed. Down into the crowd of convicts rushed Johnson brandishing his knife over his head and striking right and left. Only when surrounded by keepers and convicts, who had voluntarily armed themselves with broomhandles to effect his capture, was Johnson overpowered.

He was taken to the dungeon and then it was found that the following convicts had fallen victims to his knife: Charles Peck, a Sing transfer, stabbed in the breast; Daniel Britton, a transfer from the Elmira reformatory, his abdomen cut open; John Harris, stabbed twice in the back; John Harmon, the fingers of his left hand nearly severed; Matthew Black, stabbed in the breast.

The injured men were removed to the hospital and messengers dispatched for Coroner Tripp, District Attorney Rich and physicians. The response was quick, but before any of them arrived Peck had breathed his last. The knife had penetrated his heart.

Britton was rapidly sinking from the loss of blood when the doctors decided to perform the operation of laparotomy on him in an effort to save his life. He rallied, but only for a time and at 1:30 p. m. he expired.

The injuries of the other men were found not so serious, though Harris has a piece of the knife Johnson used in his back, the blade having been broken.

Johnson has been placed in solitary confinement in the dungeon where he will probably remain until placed in one of the condemned cells to pay the penalty of the crimes.

The Chilian Trouble Not Adjusted.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The trouble between Minister Egan and the Chilian authorities over the action of Mr. Egan in giving shelter and protection to two Chilian refugees has not been adjusted. Secretary Gresham refused to say what action he had taken in the matter. He stated that he expected additional information from Santiago by cable, but up to the hour of closing the department yesterday afternoon no such message had been received.

Mme. Romero Badly Scalded.

NEW YORK, April 17.—It was learned on the arrival of the steamship New York, that Mme. Romero, the wife of Geyvaldo Romero, Mexican consul at Paris, and sister-in-law of the Mexican minister at Washington, had been severely scalded on the steamer's outward trip by the bursting of a steam pipe in her room. When the steamer arrived at Southampton she was unable to walk and had to be transferred to a hospital, where she now is.
