agnificent Scene as the Big Vessels Salled Up the Hadson-The Spectacle Viewed by Thousands of People. Crowds Visit the Columbus Caravels. Thunderons Salutes Fired From Vessels and Forts,

NEW YORK, April 26.-The people of New York were today regaled with the first of the grand sights te be witnessed during the haval review.

At 9 o'clock this morning the entire fleet weighed unchor and steamed through the upper bay, up the Hudson river and anchored shortly after the noon hour with the heads of the columns off Eighty-ninth street, the rear off Thirty-fourth street.

Immense crowds of people flocked the water front, the plers along the entire line were crowded with people, while the tugs and other small craft were filled with spectators. The reserved channel through which the fleet sailed had been cleared of all vessels at anchor, and a patrol line of tugs, manned by marines from the navyyard, and each commanded by a naval officer, were busily engaged in keeping all other vessels out of the way.

STEAMING UP THE HARBOR. The vessels moved in two columns, the United States fleet of 15 yessels occupy the side of the river toward the New Jersey shore with Admiral Gherardi's flagship in the lead, while on the New York side were the visiting vessels led by Vice Admiral Sir John Hopkins' flagship Blake. The fleet was preceded and flanked by a great number of tugs and a small fleet of the noisy little craft brought up the rear. It was 11 o'clock when the great fleet came abreast of the Battery. The scene here was one of the most imposing ever witnessed in this port. The parapets of Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton were black with people, the high points along Staten Island and Liberty Island were occupied by crowds while the Battery was crowded with thousands.

The headquarters of the state board of managers will probably be transferred to the New York state building on the expo sition grounds the coming week. Mr. Thatcher says the state building will be in good condition for use by May 1, although not altogether completed.

Dishler's Trial Commenced.

UTICA, N. Y., April 26.- A jury was secured to try the case of David A. Dishler of this city, indicted for aiding the escape of Buncoer O'Brien in County Judge Dunmore's court at Rome. District Attorney Klock opened the case and the taking of testimony for the prosecution was begun. United States Senator Murphy, who is one of the witnesses, arrived in Rome laso night. Buck, the keeper, who had charge of O'Brien when he escaped, and who is serving a four years' sentence, is also present to testify. Nothing special was developed.

Can't See the Joke.

NEW YORK, April 26.-The majority of club men and Democratic politicians in Brooklyn are inclined to think that Chauncey M. Depew went a little too far in his attack on the city at the Montauk club dinner on Saturday night. They do not consider it the joke that Mr. Depew says he intended it to be, and they say that Mayor Boody could not have made any reply under the circumstances.

Hebrews Will Fight It.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., April 26.-The twenty-five Hebrew farmers of the Baron Hirsch settlement at Woodbine, who had received warrants of ejectment, will go into court here to fight the committee, which wants to put them out. The settlers, who are out of employment, are anxious for a decision, so that they can resume work.

In connection with the World's Coumbus Exposition and under its auspices a series of Congresses will be held for the purpose of considering and discussing every phase of human activity that might be calculated to "influence for good the prosperity, unity and happiness of the world."

The prominence which the temperance question has attained, both in this country and Europe, and the record nition which it has received from the political governments and religious bodies of every nature, make it one of the most conspicuous facts of our time. Hence it will necessarily receive a large amount of attention from the various Congresses, and will be viewed and discussed from religious, social and political standpoints.

Catholics have every reason to enter into the spirit of this discussion. From its inception the temperance movement has received its strongest support and warmest encouragement from the Catholic Church. She gave inspiration the "Apostle of Temperance," to Father Matthew, whose labors for the amelioration of the human race has become the admiration of the world. and she has raised up the thousands of selfsacrificing clergymen and earnest laymen, whose voice and pen are ever ac-

From the Battery to Thirty fourth street Narrows a tremendous booming of cannon commenced, each flagship firing a salute in honor of the United States which were answered by salutes from Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton.

For a few moments the whole squadron was obscured, then the smoke rolled away and the vessels sailed on in comparative quiet until they arrived opposite Gover-nor's Island when the salutes were repeated. All salutes were fired with big guns and the noise was deafening.

When the head of the line reached Eighty-ninth street the flagships leading the two columns dropped anchor and each vessel in turn came to a standstill and anchored in place.

As the last of the great warships came to anchor and traffic was once more permitted in the channel, there was a great rush of small craft of every description to-get a nearer view of the strangers. Pacific

"THE COLUMBUS" CARAVELS.

The Columbus caravels came in for a large share of attention and discussion. They are quaint looking little vessels, and are certainly the queerest craft that ever floated in New York bay.

The short bowsprit and masts, the high forward deck and bulging bows, the extravagantly high poopdeck and low waist, all gave them the antiquated appearance to be expected in these fifteenth century wanderers, and many old mariners gazed on them with critical eyes and united in their expressions of amazement that the June, 841/4c; July, 841/4c. wonderful voyage of Christopher Columbus had been made in such vessels.

Thousands of people viewed the ancient looking craft during the day and the striking contrast between the three queer looking midgets and the many magnificent and powerful modern warships anchored about called forth many remarks.

Russian Extradition Treaty Signed. WASHINGTON, April 22.-A cablegram received at the state department says the emperor of Russia has signed the extradition treaty between the United States and Russia and that ratifications have been exchanged between the United States minister and the Russian foreign office. The exchange of ratification leaves now only one more step to be taken to put the treaty into effect. This is the official proclamation by President Cieveland. This proclamation will be issued in a squadron passed along up through the B. Hayes, sentenced to state prison.
