NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A SUMMARY OF THE WEEK'S IMPORTANT DOINGS.

The News Itself, Clipped, Culled, Condensed and Presented Without Padding or Flowers and with a Special Concern for the Convenience of the Busy Public in General.

The meeting of the Southwestern Railway and Steamship association, called for June 5 and later for June 12, has been postponed until June 19 at Chicago.

The Berliner Tageblatt has received a dispatch from Darmstadt stating that the betrothal of the Princess Alice Victoria Helen Louise Bontrick, youngest sister of the reigning grand duke of Hesse Darmstadt and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, will shortly be proclaimed.

An unknown man, poorly dressed and about 25 years of age, was struck and instantly killed by the Exposition flyer on the Central-Hudson in Utica, N. Y.

The Ulster convention, which is to be convened in July next, will probably be proclaimed illegal.

William J. Collins, a well known baseball player, died at Brooklyn of typhoid fever.

The funeral services over the body of the late Senator C. E. Walker were held at his home at Corning, N. Y.

Ex-Assemblyman Albert Badeau died at his home in New Rochelle, N. Y., in his 88th year.

At Riverhead, L. I., Lewis Gilderleeve, son of Judge Gilderleeve, has been declared guilty of manslaughter in killing Abe Frazier Oct. 1 last.

William Steinway, J. H. Inman, Samuel Spencer and Eugene Bushe have resigned from the New York rapid transit commission.

J. R. Spreckels says that according to advices received from Honolulu Queen Liliuokalani will be restored to power.

James Goss, a well known crook, has been arrested by New York detectives, who say he is implicated in a big robbery.

Smallpox continues to spread in Stockholm, Sweden. There have been 58 deaths from the disease in the last week.

A sailor from Rio Janeiro died of cholera on his ship in the harbor at Hamburg, Germany.

Kuhn, Doerflinger & Co., importers of diamonds and precious stones at 18 John street, New York city, have made an assignment to Frederick Beltz, a lawyer at 111 Broadway. The liabilities are not definitely known. The trade estimates them at $25,000, but Assignee Beltz says they will not exceed $150,000.

Emperor William will command in person the sixteenth army corps at the autumn maneuvers. A novelty in the maneuvers will be the appearance behind the cavalry of a corps of sharpshooters armed with the new small calibre rifles provided with smokeless powder and riding in steel-clad bullet-proof vehicles.

Riots have broken out in Corunna, Spain. The cause of the riots is the indignation aroused among the people against the taxation arising from military reforms.

Richard Hamilton, a fireman, shot and killed his wife on the street at Evansville, Ind. He suspected her of infidelity and finding her in the company of William Sims shot her. Sims was also shot, but not fatally. Hamilton escaped.

Patrick Fitzgerald, 23 years old, fell out of a boat into the Mohawk river at Little Falls, N. Y., and was drowned.

J. H. Hobbs & Sons' 5-story storage warehouse, corner of Water and Clinton streets, New York city, was destroyed by fire. The damage to the building and contents is estimated at $100,000.

A. A. Turner, prominent in the Northwestern grain trade and owner of a large number of elevators in Minnesota, died at Wadena of brain fever, caused by overwork.

While Archbishop Angerer was delivering the benediction in St. Stephen's cathedral, Vienna, a bookkeeper named Muzibeh, who was sitting near the middle of the building, shot himself in the head with a revolver. Muzibeh had lost heavily at the racetrack recently.

Striking miners in Fuenfkirchen, Germany, started a riot, but were dispersed by the military before they could do much damage. The soldiers fired one volley, which the strikers answered before fleeing. Several men on each side were wounded.

The Standard oil strike at Whiting, Ind., has been declared off. Four hundred workmen resumed work with a 9-hour day. All parties are satisfied.

Hobbs & Lucker, bankers, of Albany, Ga., have suspended. The deposits aggregate only $30,000.

The lockout of the lumberhovers at Tonawanda, N. Y., is slowly nearing an end. The men have conceded the demand of the employers that they withdraw from the national union and will retain only their local organization.

Judge Woods, in the United States circuit court, issued an order to E. V. Calhoun of the Cleveland railroad for constructing him to continue the road's lake service between Toledo, Buffalo and Cleveland.

Three Italian warships will sail from Italy for New York on June 22 to make a friendly demonstration. The new battleship, R. E. Humberto, will sail for New York in July.

BOOTH'S FINAL EXIT.

Death at Last Rings Down the Curtain. The Funeral Services.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The funeral services over the remains of Edwin Booth were held this morning at the Church of the Transfiguration at 5 East Twenty-ninth street, or "The Little Church Around the Corner," as it is so well known.

The services were conducted by Bishop Potter, assisted by Rev. Dr. Houghton, rector of the church, and Rev. W. C. Bishop, a son of William Bishop, treasurer of the Players' club. The services were of an extremely brief and simple character, in compliance with the expressed wish of Mr. Booth.

The casket was a massive one of oak, with solid silver handles. A silver plate upon the top bore this inscription:

EDWIN BOOTH.
Born November 13, 1833.
Died June 7, 1893.

No flowers adorned the coffin as it reposed before the church except a wreath of laurel which was laid upon it by Mrs. Grossman.

Immediately following the services in the church here the funeral cortege proceeded to the Grand Central station, and there the casket was placed in a private car attached to the 11 o'clock train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad for Boston, where the interment occurred in Mount Auburn cemetery.

Nothing of a sensational character was developed during the day.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 9.—The principal witness in yesterday's proceedings was Miss Alice Russell. Her appearance had been awaited with the greatest interest. Her manner while testifying was at times very peculiar. When her eyes rested on the prisoner they blazed in a peculiar way, and at times during her testimony the same peculiarity was noticeable and for no apparent reason, while the calling of her name was sufficient to cause the face of the prisoner to become livid.

Nothing sensational was brought out in her examination; however, the same bloody details gone over time after time by the different witnesses were again rehearsed, but no very damaging evidence against the prisoner could be produced.

The strongest point against her so far is the burning of a dress she is supposed to have worn that morning, but it was not shown that any blood was on the dress, nor has it been proven conclusively that it was the dress worn the morning of the murder. Several other witnesses were examined, but nothing new was brought to light.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 10.—Assistant Marshal Fleet was recalled and cross examined yesterday, but nothing new was elicited.

Captain Philip Harrington of the Fall River police was then called. The most important point in his testimony was the finding of a roll of charred paper in the stove on the morning of the murder. At one point in his examination, Captain Harrington created a great deal of amusement in the courtroom by his description of the prisoner, who was by Lizzie Borden. The prisoner laughed heartily.

Something of a sensation was produced by Michael Mullaney, a Fall River policeman. He was being questioned concerning the finding of the hatchet with a broken handle when he made the announcement that something else had been found at that time which had not yet been mentioned; it was nothing else than the missing end of the handle. He said Fleet found it and took possession of both the hatchet and piece of handle.

Fleet was recalled and denied any knowledge of the broken piece and said he had not seen it at all.

Today's proceedings were of an uninteresting character and nothing of special importance was brought out.

Lizzie Borden's counsel and Charles J. Holmes searched the cellar of the Borden house last night where Mullaney testified to having seen it. The question as to the admissibility of Miss Borden's evidence will be argued.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 12.—An important point was gained by the defense today and one more prop is knocked out from beneath the prosecution.

The court have decided that the testimony already given by Lizzie since her arrest was given under coercion and is therefore not admissible in the trial.

The most important witness examined today was Dr. Dolan. He was looked on as one of the heavyweights of the prosecution.

He testified to examining the bodies and said in answer to questions that the wounds could have been made by one of the hatchets and that an ordinary woman could have inflicted the wounds with the weapon.

He also testified to finding hair on the hatchet, but wound up his remarks by stating that he now knew that it was not human hair.

The doctor illustrated his description of the wounds with a cast of Andrew Borden's head, and during his testimony the bloodstained bedclothing was exhibited. Lizzie Borden covered her face while these ghastly objects were being shown and did not look up even when addressed.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 14.—The prisoner left the courtroom shortly after the beginning of the court, not wishing to hear the medical testimony or to see skulls which were produced by the government.

Dr. Draper described the wounds and condition of the stomachs and blood to determine the priority of death, and from examination of the skulls swore that the instrument producing them was 3 1/4 inches long, the exact length of the handleless hatchet. Dr. Draper's examination concluded at 4 o'clock.

Dr. Chubb, a surgical expert, testified that the handleless hatchet could make all the blows on the bodies; that one blow on Mrs. Borden was made by a person facing her; and, on cross-examination, that the blood would naturally fall on the assailant. On conclusion of his testimony the court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

Death of a Famous Dog.
ALBANY, June 14.—Railroad Jack is no more. He has been around the Union depot for the past few weeks and has gradually grown weak. He died yesterday in the baggage room of the depot. The body will be shipped to a taxidermist. Jack was 13 years old and was famous for his tricks.

An Aged Woman Killed.
SCRANTON, Pa., June 14.—Mrs. James Brooks, aged 63, gathering kindling wood on the Delaware and Hudson railroad at Gouldsboro, was struck by a freight train and instantly killed.

Freight Conductor Killed.
MECHANICVILLE, N. Y., June 14.—Isaac Halliday of Oneonta, a freight conductor on the Delaware and Hudson railroad, was killed in the freightyard here.

THE BORDEN TRIAL.

LIZZIE BORDEN UNDERGOES MANY TRYING ORDEALS.

The Crime in All Its Bloody Details Gone Over Again and Again—She Bears Up Well—The Broken Hatchet and Burned Dress Dwelled Upon at Great Length.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 8.—On opening the court yesterday the first witness called was William V. Morse, a brother of the first wife of Andrew Borden. He testified principally to the events following the murder and nothing of importance was elicited from him.

Bridget Sullivan, the hired girl of the Borden family, was the next witness called. She gave a detailed account of the actions of all members of the household from the night preceding the murder, and a minute description of her own actions upon the morning of the murder. She was washing windows on the outside of the house when the murders were supposed to have been committed, and her first intimation of the crime, she says, was when Lizzie called her and told her that Mr. Borden was killed; she was then sent for the doctor.

Nothing of a sensational character was developed during the day.

FARGO'S CONFLAGRATION.

Many Left Homeless but None Allowed to Suffer.

FARGO, N. D., June 9.—The sun rose yesterday morning upon a city half of which is in ashes. Three thousand people were made homeless by the great conflagration. The schoolhouses, churches and public buildings left standing were all utilized as places of shelter and it cannot be said one of the hundreds driven out by the flames suffered for want of shelter.

The good women of the town turned out in force and organized to feed the unfortunate ones. Early in the morning relief trains with meat, flour and other provisions began to arrive.

The fire was under control by 5 o'clock in the morning, though a number of fires were burning in different parts of the city.

The statement is given out that a meeting of insurance men estimated the loss of insured property at $2,500,000 and $500,000 more on residences in the outskirts uninsured.

SUNDAY OPENING.

Chief Justice Fuller Grants a Superseadeas in the Case.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Judges Woods and Jenkins of the federal bench ordered that an injunction be issued restraining the officials of the World's fair from opening the gates of Jackson park on Sunday.

Judge Grosscup dissented and in his finding recommended that the injunction be not granted.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Chief Justice Fuller this morning granted the superseadeas in the World's fair case asked by Edwin Walker and Commissioner St. Clair. This suspends the operations of the injunction pending the appeal. The hearing of the appeal was set for next Thursday morning.

The chief justice announced that Circuit Judge Allen of the Southern Illinois district and Judge Bunn of Wisconsin would sit with him on the case.

Has Corroire Confessed?

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 12.—The police refuse to deny or confirm the report that Corroire has confessed the murder of Bertha Manchester. The refusal of the authorities to affirm or deny is deemed by many to be sufficient proof that either the report is true or the prisoner has made certain admissions which equal a confession.

Rumors Concerning Dr. McGlynn.

ROME, June 12.—Strange rumors are current. It is said that Dr. Edward McGlynn, who was supposed to have sailed from New York, has refused to come at all this year. He will be chosen. It is also reported that Archbishop Satolli may shortly be summoned by cable to confer with the pope and propaganda.

Consul Judd's Exequatur.

VIENNA, June 12.—Max Judd, the new consul general of the United States, has been at the foreign office several times to make inquiries concerning his exequatur. The papers have been signed by Count Taaffe, Austrian premier, and will be delivered to Mr. Judd this week.

Mrs. Frank Leslie Free.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., June 12.—Mrs. Frank Leslie is free. Justice Brown has rendered his decree to that effect in the divorce suit which Mrs. Leslie brought against her husband, William C. K. Wilde of London, England.

Dynamometer Gilbert Sails.

LONDON, June 12.—James Gilbert, the dynamometer, recently released from Portland prison, because he was thought to be near death, sailed on the American liner Chester from Southampton.

The Pope's Scholastic Palley.

ROME, June 12.—The Vatican has sent three letters to Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and the American archbishops generally, copiously explaining the pope's scholastic policy.
