HUNDREDS PERISHED

LATER DETAILS OF THE SINKING OF H. M. S. VICTORIA

Of a Total of 710 on Board the Ill-fated Vessel, 430 Were Doomed to a Watery Grave—Vice Admiral Tryon Among the Lost—How the Disaster Occurred. The Camperdown Slightly Damaged.

LONDON, June 24.—The British battleship Victoria was struck by the battleship Camperdown while maneuvering off Tripoli and went to the bottom carrying with her the greater part of her crew.

The Victoria, which flew the flag of Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, C. B., was run into off Tripoli by the British battleship Camperdown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron and under the command of Captain Charles Johnstone.

The Victoria had an enormous hole made in her side through which the water poured in torrents.

The immense hull of the Victoria at once began to settle and before those on board had time to cast loose her small boats she went to the bottom, carrying down with her nearly all on board.

Some of the officers and crew managed to get out of the suction caused by the sinking vessel and were rescued.

Among those lost is Vice Admiral Tryon.

The first report of the disaster stated that about 200 men had been drowned, but later dispatches show that the loss of life was far greater, not less than 400 of the officers and crew of the Victoria having gone down with their ship.

The Victoria was a twin-screw battleship of 10,470 tons and 14,000 horsepower. She mounted 15 guns.

The Camperdown is also a first-class twin-screw battleship. She is 10,600 tons and 11,000 horsepower and carries 10 guns.

A dispatch received from Beyroot said that the collision occurred at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon about seven miles west of Tripoli. The vessels were almost at right angles when the Victoria was struck.

Those on the Victoria's deck at the moment of the collision scrambled away and were rescued by boats from the Camperdown and several other vessels.

The men below had no time to reach the deck. The sudden heeling of the Victoria caused her to begin to fill immediately and no escape was possible. She went down in 80 fathoms of water. It is difficult to obtain the names of the rescued, as they are aboard several vessels, and so far all efforts have been devoted to recovering bodies.

Shortly after the collision five bodies were taken from the water, one of them the body of the chief paymaster. They were buried last evening with military honors at Tripoli.

The Camperdown was severely damaged forward in the collision. Temporary repairs will be made and she will then start for home.

It is said here that several times the Victoria had shown signs of weakness in her steering gear. One theory is that on account of this weakness she became unmanageable and could not get out of the Camperdown's way.

Mr. Gladstone said there were 611 officers, 56 men and boys and 107 marines on board the ship. It was feared of this total of 718 souls 480 had been lost.

Baldwin's suit against the New York Central railroad for the terrible injuries she received in the railway disaster at Hastings, Christmas evening, 1891, for $50,000 and that the sum will be paid to Mrs. Baldwin soon after July 1 next. Before the accident Mrs. Baldwin, who is 36 years old, was a beautiful woman. She emerged from the hospital with her face terribly scarred, her hair gone, her eyesight completely destroyed, one ear entirely missing and only part of the other remained, while one hand was amputated at the wrist and only the thumb remained on the other.
