One of the largest forests in the world stands on ice. It is situated between Ural and the Obotsk sea. A well was recently dug in this region, when it was found that at a depth of 340 feet the ground was still frozen.

In a speech to the students at Yale the other day, Chancellor M. Depew made the characteristic remark: "What made the class of '53 so famous is that half its members went into journalism and the other half."

Off the Newfoundland coast is a species of cuttle fish with arms, sometimes thirty feet long, so as to be sixty feet from tip to tip. Amongst animals the giraffe attains a height of twenty feet and the crocodile a length of over twenty feet.

Last year sixty-one maple sugar makers took out licenses in Michigan, although but forty-two showed up for bounty. The number of trees tapped was 42,482, and the total product 50,564 pounds. Some of it failed to come up to the required standard, and but $727 was paid in bounties.

BEYOND THE SEAS.

A laundry in England, owned by women and employing only females, earned $25,000 last year.

The Hong Kong papers say that the few Englishmen in the service of China are being replaced by Germans, Belgians and Americans.

Cats are being extensively used in New Zealand for the destruction of rabbits. The owners of one estate are so pleased with the efficacy of the new "cure" that they have just given an order for 500 cats. In a few months we shall hear that the cats are becoming a nuisance.

Several lots in Cornhill, London, in the immediate neighborhood of the bank of England, were sold several days ago at a price that averaged $50 per foot, or something over $2,000,000 an acre. Several neighboring lots of equal size were offered for sale some weeks ago, and were bought in by the owner at a price considerably higher.

The experiment of electrically lighting omnibuses in London has proved so generally satisfactory that all the vehicles of the two leading companies are to be so lighted. Two lamps are used in each omnibus, the power being supplied from a new storage battery. Portable electric lamps for the use of the ticket inspectors are also in successful use.

For a prisoner to attempt to force an entrance into jail is quite a rare occurrence, but this happened lately at a jail near Berlin, where at night a person scaled the prison wall and safely landed in the jail yard. He was arrested and it was found upon his being examined that he was a former prisoner come to visit a friend he had made during his involuntary visit.

A novel and remarkable point touching the international ethics in times of war is raised by a demand made on the Italian government by the municipal council of Venice for the restitution of some 6,000 pictures, which the council declares were stolen from Venice during the Napoleonic wars and scattered over Europe. The national government is asked to resort to diplomatic measures, and to request foreign powers who now possess the art booty to disgorge.

BY WAY OF PASTIME.

Loftus—What sort of a dog is that you have—a pointer? Sporty—No; a disappointment.

Father—A hundred dollars for a suit of clothes! I never paid that for a suit in my life. Son—Well, you'll have to begin now, father; here's the bill.

Cutting—Hair's very thin sir. "It was thinner than that thirty years ago." "Indeed, sir! you surprise me. Why, you don't look more than thirty now, sir." "Thirty yesterday."

New Patient—Do you think you can help me, doctor? Doctor—Well, I ought to. I have had experience enough. I have been attending men with the same disease for the last twenty years.

Houston—Congratulations me, old man. I was married yesterday—Mrs. Morely.

Bleeker—Mrs. Morely! Why, her third husband has just died. Houston—Well, you don't suppose I would have married her if he hadn't died, do you?

Teacher—Now I have explained what "providential" means, and I want some of you to give me an illustration. Bright Boy—Please, ma'am, I can. "Very well. What is it?" "The holes in a porous plaster." "Hum! Why?" "When you pull th' plaster off th' holes don't hurt."

PLEASANTRIES.

"And the colonel shot him on sight?" "He did." "What was the trouble?" "Nothin'; just makin' a record!"

Immigrant Inspector—Your nationality, please. Immigrant—Oirish. Immigrant Inspector—What is your occupation? Immigrant—O'im a Frinch nurse.

Clergyman, examining a Sunday school class—Now, can any of you tell me what are sins of omission. Small Scholar—Please, sir, they're sins you ought to have committed and haven't.

Tenant—Our house is in a frightful condition, Mr. Quarterday. One of the walls has bulged out three or four inches. Landlord—Ha! Then the house is larger, and I shall have to raise your rent.

Husband—Let me have $3, my dear. I am going to Mueller's funeral. Wife—All right, but I don't see why you need spend so much money in grieving for a man whom you knew only very slightly.

First Little Girl—Oh, I've got just the loveliest doll you ever saw, and I'm so happy with it I don't know what to do. Second Little Girl—Is it big? First Little Girl—Big? It's so big it most breaks my back to carry it.

Col. Julep—That bird dog cost me $500, but I've got to get rid of him. Uncle Mose—What's the matter wid dat yer dog? Colonel Julep—He kills neighbor's chickens and brings them home. Uncle Mose—What yo' reckon yo' take fer dat yer purp, Master Colonel?

Little Bobby—I can't find my hat and coat. Father, rushing, I can't find mine, either. I don't see what your mother does with things. She's gone out, and there's nothing for us to do but hunt till we find 'em, or else stay in. Little Bobby, after long thought—Let's look on the hall rack.

CONDENSED CUTTINGS.

A few New York hotels and many in smaller cities have a standing rule that a call from a guest's room shall be answered by a bell boy bearing a pitcher of ice water. A New Yorker stopping with his wife and children at a Boston hotel, and forced to signal many times because of various wants, found his mantelpiece lined with nearly a dozen pitchers of ice water.

In the extreme Eastern edge of Arizona there is a great shallow salt lake in a bowl-like depression, the sink itself being some hundreds feet deep and three miles across. The basin, all the portion of it not taken up by the lake, is dazzling white, with millions upon millions of salt crystals. In the center of the lake rises what appears to be a cone-shaped volcanic peak. Should you take the trouble to ford the lake you will find a miniature lake in the middle of the peak clear as crystal.
