FADS AND FANCIES.

Amathysts and several other socalled precious stones have become so cheap that they are no longer sold by the karat, but by the ounce.

At certain New York balls the ladies are provided with toy guns loaded with bits of chalk. With this ammunition they fire at the gentleman with whom they will dance. As, however, each markswoman must dance with the man she stamps with her chalk bullet, the partners are not always the expected ones.

Some of the world's fair coins have been bought by a New York jeweler and made up into various articles. A few have been made to serve as lids to little purses of silver mesh. The coin is highly polished and turned obverse up. Purses thus fashioned cost from $10 to $15, and are used by extravagant young women for carrying gold and silver coins.

The unmarried young people of Mc-Donough, Ga., intend forming a "matrimonial alliance." The object of the club will be to secure suitable husbands and wives for its members. Each member will be required to pay an initiation fee of $10, which amount will be presented to the first member who secures a mate.

Contraries.

The truest pleasures always come through The jester ofttimes heaves the saddest sighs; The lips oft smile while tears bedim the eye; The brightest sunshine follows close the rain; The richest gems are hardest to obtain;

The purest pearls lie hid in deepest waves; The jewel liberty's most prized by slaves; The shallowest mind is ever the most vain. Our hopes are fulfilled through other's tears; Our losses ofttimes bring others gain, And friendship's but a passing breath. Thus runs the world throughout the gliding
