Amusements

COOK OPERA HOUSE.

Hopkins Trans-Oceanic Star Specialty Company is the attraction at the Cook Opera House all of next week, and a better entertainment could not have been selected. The following is a list of the artists that go to make up the company: The Lars-Larson family, direct from Copenhagen, Denmark, consisting of one man and four handsome young ladies. Surrounding them are such clever European and American favorites as Kara, a young Bavarian juggler, who begins where others leave off; Melville and Stetson, topical vocalists and dialect imitators. The Brothers Dixon, England's famous musical clowns. Fulgura, Europe's greatest transfigurator. Will H. Fox, as Paddewhiski. The sisters Weston, song and dance artists. Prof. DeBereet, the lightning modeler in clay, Eddie and Josie Evans and their wonderful trained dog, Peggy, in a comedy sketch. Clayton and Jenkins, and their trained mule, Jasper, and a host of others too numerous to mention.

ACADEMY

Next week "The Midnight Alarm" will be the attraction at the Academy. Of this play the Pittsburgh Press says:

"If continued applause and enthusiasm to the point of embarrassment to those upon the stage constitutes a measure of merit, 'The Midnight Alarm,' presented in the Bijou Theatre last night for the first time in this city, and to be seen there the remainder of the week, is, with the present company, an excellent performance. At the conclusion of one act each member of the company was compelled to appear before the curtain, and at the conclusion of another act the audience became almost uproarious. The realistic feature introduced is highly effective, two spirited horses, to which is attached a magnificent and highly burnished engine, emitting flame and smoke, dashes by in answer to the midnight alarm just as the curtain is about to fall in the fourth act."

Robinson's Musee Theatre

A novel and interesting programme has been prepared by manager Robinson of the Musee for the coming week. Both in the Musee Hall and the theatre, a new and novel feature have been selected for the entertainment of his patrons. A most pleasing attraction will be an encampment of English Gypsies, genuine dusky wanderers from across the seas, who will be seen in their tents living in true gypsy style, making baskets, fanciful ornaments and telling fortunes according to the Gypsy oracles. A curiosity will be presented in Walter H. Stuart, the only man on earth born without hands or feet. Nature has produced invulnerable curiosities but none more remarkable than Walter H. Stuart. A most novel and interesting exhibition will be given by Marion Eils, known as the lightning sculptress who makes busts and statues in common brown laundry soap with remarkable quickness and dexterity. Of the vaudeville artists appearing the most notable are Heald and DeRossett in their realistic military assault-at-arms, with broadswords and bayoneted muskets. Miss DeRossett's performance is the first of its kind ever attempted by a woman. They come direct from Europe. Miss Stella Miller, the eminent and accomplished violin virtuoso, Tanner and Keon comedy sketch artists, Miss Katie Nelson, the artistic singer and dancer, Howe and Seymour in their new laughing absurdity "Decollette," and the Magnolia Quartette of Jubilee singers form the balance of this interesting entertainment.

GENTLEMEN:—Having been restored to good health by the use of your Sarsaparilla I feel it my duty to let others know the great benefit I have received.
