IS IT AN A. P. A. SHEET?

It seems strange that within the city which has become famous as the home of one of America's greatest universities there should be found a newspaper with an editor so narrow, no bigoted and so ignorant as to furnish for his editorial page a paragraph like this:

It is not pleasant to learn that a papal delegate or nuncio is to establish himself at the American seat of government, as he is found near the throne of most monarchs.

Yet the above appeared word for word, in the Ithaca Daily Journal of December 3, 1893.

The ordinary journalist—a simple broad-minded, intelligent, sensible fellow—is not so quick to scent the danger to the American school as is this brilliant Ithacaan.

And now, how changed Bismarck is a chagrined, humiliated old man, pouring his spiteful complaints into every listening ear.

It is said, however, that the Bundesrath will refuse to endorse motion for the repeal of the anti-Jesuit law.

And now, how changed Bismarck is a chagrined, humiliated old man, pouring his spiteful complaints into every listening ear.

The measure adopted by the Reichstag is one of the latest acts of justice towards the Jesuits in Germany, begun when the present Emperor ascended the throne.

It is said, however, that the Bundesrath will refuse to endorse motion for the repeal of the anti-Jesuit law.

The American, undenominational, common school is good enough, approved of time and trial, and the corner stone of a well-cemented republic.

Infidelity, too, is one of the virtues of this gifted scribe, Common Americans, like Prof. Bascom, President Elliott and hundreds of their peers, admit there is good ground for dissenting from the opinion that schools from which all religion is banished are the best in which to train the rising generation of young Americans.

TRIUMPH OF THE JESUITS

Another was added to the long list of triumphs won by the noble followers of St. Ignatius Loyola when the bill allowing members of the order to return to Germany was passed by the Reichstag last Friday.

"Bismarck began his persecution of Jesuits in 1870," says the Catholic News "after the infidelity of the Pope had been declared. They were expelled in 1872. A year later this was followed by the May laws introduced by Dr. Falk, the Minister of Public Worship."

me by them; I read them for the word-paintings, which are entrancing, and for the style, which is unsurpassed. What nonsense this is. To adopt it would justify the indulgence in immoderate language between the sexes; would justify the publication of the immoral literature and the immoral pictures which is suppressed by the law of the land.

Her readers fancy that she writes the grace of a sylph with the winsome charm of a Sappho to her personality; the vision makes her publications the more alluring. It is better to disillusionize her worshippers. She is an ugly scrawny woman of fifty-seven.

Such is the woman who is twining the birdline of the devil on every branch that hangs over the path of youth.

THE GOSPELS

GOSPEL, St. Matthew 11: 2-10

At that time, When John had heard in prison the works of Christ, sending word to his disciples, he said to Him: Art thou He that art to come, or do we look for another?

And Jesus making answer said to them: Go and relate to John what you have heard and seen.

This Gospel teaches us to be always zealous followers and disciples of Jesus Christ, to cause His holy name to be praised, by laboring constantly in His service.

Literary Note

There has just been issued from the press of the Catholic Journal Co. a volume of short stories, the authors being a Catholic young lady living in this diocese—Miss Mary Crotter, of Brockport.

DOMESTIC READING

Life is a battle to be fought valiantly.

Intentions which die are pretensions which lie.

Sympathy is one of the greatest secrets of life.

Volubility of words is carelessness in action; words are the wings of action.

Blessed is that man who knows his own distaff and has found his own spindle.—J. G. Holland

All night and all over the world, bitter tears are dropping as regular as the dew, and cruel memories are haunting the pillow.

Blessings may appear under the shape of pains, losses, and disappointments, but let him have patience, and he will see them in their proper figure.—Addison

As it is the chief concern of wise men to retrench the evils of life by the reasonings of philosophy, it is the employment of fools to multiply them by the sentiments of superstition.

Worrying is one of the greatest drawbacks to happiness. Most of it can be avoided if we only determine not to let trifles annoy us; for the largest amount of worrying is caused by the smallest trifles.

As the trees in a district often show by the way they lean what is the prevailing direction of the wind, so everything in our life is to be bent toward the one point which is turning our energies and our hopes.
